KNOCK OUT DRY ACT: MORROW

EVEAL SECRET RITISH ORDER T 1921 PARLEY

Shows London Set to Wreck Meeting.

Rear Admiral Jones yesterday attacked and Admiral Pratt defended the naval treaty at senate committee hearings in Washington. (Full account on page 4.)

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 15.—The revelation of a "secret" government document by Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer, in tonight's debate in the house of commons on the London naval treaty, loosened a storm of protest and produced an exciting session. Mr. Churchill's speech was made following one by Prime Minister MacDonald hailing the naval treaty as the hope of future disarmament.

Mr. Churchill, criticizing the agreement reached by the powers at the recent naval conference, read to the house an extract from a cablegram of instruction to the late Lord Balfour when he was leader of the British delegation to the Washington naval conference in 1921. Members instantly protested on the ground that Mr. Churchill was making unauthorized use of government archives.

Threatened Life of Parley.

Mr. Churchill cited the telegram in order to reenforce his argument that the London treaty is not the natural successor to or genuine descendant of the Washington treaty limiting battleships, but differs fundamentally from it. The telegram was one which instructed the late earl that in the unlikely event of submarines not being abolished, Great Britain must retain freedom to build ships of less than 10,000 tons, even if the demand led to a breakup of the conference.

Challenged by Mr. MacDonald, Mr. Churchill maintained that the telegram was not a cabinet document, asserting that it was only "one of a great series of telegrams, many of which had been published," and sent on the authority of Lloyd George, who was then prime minister.

Lloyd George Also Protests.

Mr. Lloyd George was prominent in protesting against the quotation of a document without a consultation with the ministers concerned.

"It is one of the gravest things that has happened in this house," declared Mr. Lloyd George. "I have had an opportunity of studying the document. It was sent by the late marquis of Curzon to the late earl of Balfour and was marked 'Personal and secret.' I do not know whether Mr. Churchill fully realizes the consequences which may ensue unless this precedent is repudiated by all parties in the house immediately."

Mr. Lloyd George added that every government had left behind it secret memoranda, some very confidential and some of a very controversial character.

"Up to the present time every cabinet minister has honorably observed the precedent of these documents being secret," he said.

Calls Treaty "Fatal Blunder."

Mr. Churchill, however, insisted on maintaining that the point of principle he quoted had been public knowledge for ten years. He then proceeded vehemently to attack the treaty. He insisted that the agreement on naval parity with the United States was a fatal blunder; that instead of parity Great Britain had been committed to a position of definite inferiority by comparison with the American naval strength, and that Great Britain would be in this inferior position before 1936.

"We cannot invest this act of the government with national sanction," said Mr. Churchill. "We hold ourselves free to review the whole situation."

The house, however, refused to be alarmed at the prospect of America surpassing Great Britain, but was more sympathetic to Mr. Churchill's complaint that Britain, who had done most for disarmament, was required to still do more, and to his expression of doubt whether in a new agreement the nation might not make new difficulties over technicalities between the two countries which would work against the friendship every one is anxious to promote.

In his introductory explanation of the treaty earlier in the evening, Prime Minister MacDonald said:

"I came to the conclusion that the foundation of real and secure international understanding, relating to naval building, must be an agreement

CAMPAIGN FUND KEPT IN LIMIT, JURORS DECIDE

Courtroom Crowd Goes Wild.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Sheboygan, Wis., May 15.—[Special.]—Gov. Walter J. Kohler tonight was acquitted by a Sheboygan county jury of the charge of having violated the state corrupt practices act during his 1928 primary campaign.

The jury deliberated only an hour and a half, and was unanimous in answering "no" to each of the eight questions propounded by Judge Gustav Gehrz. Agreement of only ten would have been sufficient.

This was the first time in the United States that such a question was put before a jury. The impeachment process has been the only method in use before this in the effort to remove governors.

State Will Appeal.

The state within three days will file a new trial and other motions in the case and will go to the state Supreme court on appeal, but for purposes of practical vindication the governor and his friends are satisfied with the situation. It places him in a stronger political situation than ever before.

Judge Gehrz is expected to grant a motion of the defense to enter judgment in accordance with the jury verdict. This motion and the state's motions will be heard in Milwaukee.

There was an unusual courtroom demonstration when the verdict was returned. The governor was deeply affected and thanked the jurors in husky voice while the crowd in the court room yelled and applauded.

"I was fighting for vindication of my name and the name of my family, and friends," he told the jurors. "I am deeply grateful to you."

The judge sat back and smiled while the crowd yelled. Then jurors and citizens shook hands with the governor while he stood by his sister's side at the jury box.

Arguments Take Day.

The case was given to the jury at 4:52 o'clock after a day of argument. A few minutes before 6 o'clock the jurors went out to dinner and returned in an hour. At 7:15 they sent out word to summon the judge and the lawyers. The governor had gone home to Kohler but arrived with his sister, Miss Marie Kohler, who has been a daily attendant at the trial, twenty minutes later. The judge arrived at 7:45 and sent for the jury.

"I understand that you gentlemen have reached an agreement," he said as the jurors took their seats.

The twelve nodded.

"Let the foreman bring the verdict to the clerk," said the judge.

A white haired man in the back row, Otto Geussenhainer, a retired hardware merchant of Sheboygan, who had been making notes all through the case, came forward with the envelope that spelled the political future of Gov. Kohler.

Tells of Unanimity.

"Have the answers been reached by agreement of at least ten jurors?" asked the court.

"They have been reached unanimously," said the foreman.

There was suppressed applause in the courtroom as the judge opened the envelope. He had hardly reached the answer to the first question, "no," when the applause broke forth without restraint for a minute or so.

All the other questions were answered in the same way, meaning that the jurors had decided as follows:

That the governor did not authorize Attorney L. P. Chase to arrange with others for the services of the Kohler band during the campaign or for the serving of meals to visitors at Kohler.

That the services of the band and the hospitality offered in meals were not given with intent to influence voting at the primary.

These were the questions of fact which the court asked the jury to decide in a special verdict, a form of procedure which he declared to be "a scientific method of determining the truth."

All other charges against the governor were taken out of the case by previous court ruling during the hearing of the case, which has been in progress since April 22.

'SWEET TOOTH' COSTS JOHNNY TRIP TO EUROPE

New York, May 15.—[Special.]—Because he had a sweet tooth 10 year old Johnny Stanton of Fox Lake, Ill., missed a trip to Europe today.

After Johnny and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stanton, who arrived from Chicago this morning, were safely stowed aboard the French liner Ile de France tonight waiting for the "all ashore" bell, Johnny suddenly decided he wanted candy. And without notifying his parents he slipped down the gangplank and began a search for a candy shop.

A few hours after the Ile de France departed—8 p. m.—Johnny realized as he reached 39th street and 7th avenue that he could not find his way back to the ship. Patrolman Hood, to whom he confided his worry, escorted him to the police station and thence to the Children's society. His parents were notified by radio tonight.

Six Robbers Seize $800 in Raid on Downtown Office

Maude Adams to Act Again, Producer Says

New York, May 15.—[Special.]—Maude Adams, who retired from the stage in 1918 after twenty-one years as a leading dramatic star, will return to the theater in September, according to an announcement made today by the A. L. Erlanger Amusement Enterprises, Inc.

Her vehicle, according to the announcement, will be "a modern romantic comedy now in process of completion by a well known American playwright."

The New York opening is announced to follow a brief preliminary tour beginning about Sept. 15.

On Her Way West.

No personal confirmation could be obtained from Miss Adams tonight. She left three days ago for San Francisco, according to John D. Williams, who conducted the negotiations on behalf of the Erlanger office. Both Mr. Williams and Mitchell L. Erlanger, head of the Erlanger theatrical interests, declared Miss Adams has signed contracts guaranteeing her appearance in the play.

Neither he nor Mr. Erlanger would reveal further details concerning the play or its author. Mr. Williams said, however, that Miss Adams had approved the manuscript.

Retired 12 Years Ago.

Miss Adams' retirement twelve years ago followed her nation-wide tour in Sir James M. Barrie's "A Kiss for Cinderella." After an illness while in the south she went to Europe to convalesce, and upon her return to this country went into seclusion.

Reports have been circulated periodically that she would come back to the theater, but in each case have proved to be unfounded.

In December, 1928, it was announced by Charles L. Wagner that Miss Adams would appear under his management in a series of dramatic readings. Mr. Wagner said today that Miss Adams still has his offer guaranteeing her $250,000 for two seasons, beginning in 1931.

Studies Motion Pictures.

In recent years Miss Adams has been interested in technical experimentation in motion pictures and problems of lighting.

Miss Adams was born in Salt Lake City in 1872. At the age of 24 she achieved stardom when, under the management of Charles Frohman, she first appeared as Lady Babbie in Barrie's "The Little Minister," at the Empire theater. That play and Barrie's "Peter Pan," in the title rôle of which she first appeared at the Empire theater in November, 1905, became her two outstandingly successful vehicles.

WILLIAM J. LOCKE, FAMOUS BRITISH AUTHOR, IS DEAD

PARIS, May 15.—William John Locke, famous English novelist, author of "The Beloved Vagabond," died tonight following a long illness. He was 67 years old. His wife and daughter were at his bedside. The famous writer had been ill throughout the winter at his villa at Cannes, but was brought to Paris for examination by specialists.

Mr. Locke, a brilliant and popular novelist and dramatist, was born in Barbados in 1863. He was educated in Trinidad and at Cambridge. For some years he devoted his attention to architecture, holding memberships in many distinguished architectural societies in Europe. From this he turned to literature and in 1895 issued his first book, "At the Gate of Samaria."

He was also the author of several one act plays, and later he dramatized some of his novels. Among his works are "The Demagogue and the Lady Phayre," "A Study in Shadows," "Derelicts," "Idols," "The Usurper," "The Coming of Amos," "Simon the Jester," and "The Morals of Marcus Ordeyne."

Abed 40 Yrs. on Vow; Left $400,000 to Bible Society

Tipton, Ia., May 15.—(AP)—The entire $400,000 estate of Mrs. Mary Wickham, eccentric widow who through a vow remained in bed for 40 years before her death April 3, has been willed to the Watch Tower Bible and Tract society of Brooklyn, with instructions that the money be used to "proclaim the message of Our Lord's kingdom."

Police of India Block Poetess' Salt Pan Raid

[Copyright: 1930: by the New York Times.]

BOMBAY, May 15.—Mrs. Sairojini Naidu, the poetess, who has succeeded Mahatma Gandhi, sat all day today in an arm chair in the middle of a dusty road leading to the salt pans at Dharsana. Around her squatted 50 of her volunteers, while a few yards ahead on the road sat the police.

This was the climax to the much advertised attempt to capture the Dharsana salt depot, which Gandhi himself had intended to raid at the time he was arrested. But instead of arresting Mrs. Naidu and her followers today, the police decided to offer passive resistance to the passive resisters.

Beats Poetess at Own Game.

The procession of Mrs. Naidu's fifty volunteers began at daybreak. After a half hour's march the demonstrators were stopped by the superintendent of police with 60 men behind him, armed with nothing but sticks. Politely but firmly the superintendent told Mrs. Naidu she could not advance further.

"Well, I shall stay here," she replied quietly. "I am not going back."

The superintendent resolved to beat Mrs. Naidu at her own game.

"We are going to stay here and offer satyagraha (passive resistance) ourselves as long as you stay," he said.

Both Forces Take It Easy.

Then both forces sat down in utmost good humor and looked at each other.

Mrs. Naidu sent for a chair from a neighboring house and wrote letters, later turning to hand spinning to pass the time. The police did not interfere except to turn back volunteers who asked to pass the police line for a drink of water. Hour after hour the Gilbertian situation continued and at last reports all participants were said to be cheerfully determined to outdo the patience of their opponents.

All is quiet at Scholapur, where Maneckchand Shah, president of the municipality, was arrested for his part in the recent outbreaks. At a conference between representatives of Scholapur factories and Col. Page, commanding the troops, it was decided the mills should be reopened Saturday and worked in one shift daily, from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m., instead of usual two shifts with a midday break.

Order New Revolt Move.

LONDON, May 15.—(AP)—Dispatches from Allahabad to the Daily Mail today said that the all-India congress, in its secret three day meeting there, had passed a resolution calling on the peasants of Bengal and of Bihar to cease paying taxes for the maintenance of village watchmen.

Congress executives also summoned the people of the Gujerat district to refuse payment of land revenue. As village watchmen are government servants, both these measures are in open defiance of the government. The Daily Mail correspondent says that these decisions constitute one of the boldest flaunts at authority yet taken by the congress leaders.

Child Kidnaped by Woman Posing as Needy's Friend

Michael Moroney lives with his wife and two children at 5200 Wentworth avenue. He has no trade. Lately he has been distributing handbills. A woman giving the name of Julia Otis visited the home yesterday and said she wanted to help by buying some baby clothes. She took Agnes, 2 years old, for a walk to a neighborhood store. Moroney notified police last night that she had not returned and that no trace could be found of Agnes.

DEMANDS EACH STATE CONTROL ITS OWN RUM

Enters New Jersey Senate Race.

Newark, N. J., May 15.—(AP)—Dwight W. Morrow, opening his campaign tonight for the Republican nomination to the United States senate from New Jersey, declared himself in favor of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Devoting to the prohibition question almost all of his 3,000 word address, he asserted that if elected to the senate he would be prepared to vote for a resolution submitting to the states a constitutional amendment which would restore to them the power to determine their policy toward the liquor traffic.

Points Way Out of Trouble.

"I believe," Mr. Morrow said, "that the way out of the present difficulty is to recognize clearly the fundamental difference between the nature of the federal government and the state government. I believe this involves a repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the substitution therefor of an amendment which will restore to the states the power to determine their policy toward the liquor traffic and vest in the federal government power to give all possible protection and assistance to those states that desire complete prohibition against invasion from the states that do not."

As long as the eighteenth amendment is in the constitution, he said, he favored "generous appropriations" for enforcement of the statutes enacted under it, but he urged the use of such federal appropriations to keep liquor from coming into the United States and to prevent interstate traffic in it.

Speaking to an audience which included many of his friends and neighbors, Mr. Morrow pictured the prohibition issue as a problem in government and not as a question of prohibition's merits as a policy.

If His Party Is Wrong.

A candidate, he said, should depart from his party "only where his conscience compels him to, believe that his party is wrong."

Mr. Morrow looked forward "to the time when the old leaders in the temperance movement will appreciate that they have not reached a final solution of a world-old problem by the present 18th amendment."

"I look," he said, "to the time when the moral teachers of the country will realize that, in the battle for a great social reform, there was wisdom in the old system of experimenting in 48 laboratories rather than in one."

"The control of liquor," he said, "has for a long time been one of the difficult problems of all governments. There are people who believe that the prohibition of intoxicating liquors under any circumstances by any government is an infringment on the right of the individual to lead his own life in his own way.

Not a New Movement.

"I do not share that view. It has been generally recognized that all governments have the right to protect a man against his own propensities if the injury to the community is sufficient to warrant the interference with individual liberty. The prohibition movement is a recognition of this principle. It is not a new movement.

"The liquor business has been for centuries one of those businesses in the conduct of which the government has a direct interest which warrants it in putting restrictions upon the personal liberty of individuals. How much restriction it is wise to put on individual liberty is a question about which there has been and will be great difference of opinion.

"The habits and character of the people, the size of the community, the extent of the participation of the people in the exercise of their political rights are all important factors in the determination of how far a community can go in restricting individual liberty for human good.

Is Prohibition Practicable?

"It is not my purpose to discuss in general the merits of prohibition as a policy. That, as I conceive it, is not the issue. The issue is whether it is practicable and in the public interest to apply that policy to the United States as a whole through the agency of the federal government. It is a problem in government.

"The peculiar characteristic of the government of the United States is its federal form. Under that form of government we look to our several states to perform certain governmental functions, and to our federal government to perform other governmental functions.

"Prior to 1913 it was the state governments that bere the principal responsibility for dealing with the liquor question. National prohibition went into effect throughout the whole United States on July 1, 1919, by a special war time act of congress, and was continued after Jan. 17, 1920, under the power conferred on congress by the eighteenth amendment. We have now had ten years of experience by which to judge the new policy.

States Build Up Police Forces.

"Bear in mind that we had proceeded in this country for 130 years under the theory and the practice that the several states of the Union were the government which directly touched the lives of the people. It was the states which had such organization as existed for the administration of criminal law in general. It was the states that had built up police forces which made enforcement of local criminal law possible.

"With the coming into force of the prohibition amendment, however, a vast new criminal jurisdiction was assumed by the federal government. This involved not only an organization of a new police force but—what is even more important—it involved a new attitude of the people toward the federal government and of the federal government toward the people.

"The extremely delicate and sensitive problem of interference with the individual liberty of a man for the sake of the social good of the community was thereafter dealt with not in terms of small communities but in terms of a mighty nation of 125,000,000 people with great climatic, racial, and social divergences.

Must Have People's Support.

"In many states where it is in accord with prevailing popular sentiment, prohibition is generally believed to be successful. It is successful because of the active coöperation of the people and their officials. In other states, including those with the greatest populations, the system works badly because the people and their officials do not coöperate with the federal agents and the federal agents alone are not able to exercise effective control. In these states there exists resentment against the attempt to impose a control which the prevailing conscience of the people does not accept.

"Is it well that large portions of our people should conceive of the federal government as an alien and even a hostile power? Is it well to have as a result a lawless, unregulated liquor traffic, attended by a shocking corruption?

"It is not fair to assume that all resentment against national prohibition is due to a desire for unlimited license to be intemperate. There is no community in the United States which desires that. The resentment is due to the feeling that an unreasonable control is being imposed.

Problem in Human Living.

"There are many problems in human living that are not susceptible of a final solution. The attitude of the community toward the traffic in liquor is such a problem.

"I am aware that the second section of the eighteenth amendment gives the congress and the several states 'concurrent power' to enforce the amendment. I am aware that the states can, if they desire, enforce within their own jurisdictions, the prohibition which the federal constitution now prescribes as the policy for the whole United States.

"The fact remains, however, that the first section of the eighteenth amendment is operative in every hamlet in the land. It limits the power of all state legislative bodies and all state officials. It invalidates every legislative act which authorizes or sanctions what the section prohibits.

Government Is Overburdened.

"It has thus come to pass that states or subdivisions of states whose sympathy is not with the law feel themselves relieved of responsibility for enforcement. They leave to an overburdened federal government, with a wholly inadequate police force, the task of carrying out a great social reform which before 1920 all the communities of the land in one way or another were wrestling with.

"I bring you no panacea for this deplorable condition. I know of no magical solution. I cannot, however, stand before my friends and neighbors and ask for their suffrage without having them know my attitude toward the problem:

"First, I believe that the way out of the present difficulty is to recognize clearly the fundamental difference between the nature of the federal government and the state government. I believe this involves a repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the substitution therefore of an amendment which will restore to the states the power to determine their policy toward the liquor traffic, and vest in the federal government power to give all possible protection and assistance to those states that desire complete prohibition against invasion from the states that do not.

Pledges to Vote for Repeal.

"If I should be elected to the United States senate I should be prepared to vote for a resolution submitting to the several states an amendment to the constitution in any form that would accomplish the foregoing purpose. I do not believe that the fundamental difficulty can be reached by an amendment of the Volstead act.

"Second: The United States senate as one of the two branches of the national legislature has a part in determining the appropriations for federal law enforcement. So long as the eighteenth amendment and the statutes thereunder are the law of the land, I favor generous appropriations for their enforcement.

"I favor the use of such appropriations, in the first place for that portion of enforcement which is preeminently the duty of the federal government. This means that the federal government would first direct its efforts to keeping liquor from coming into the country and to keeping liquor from passing into interstate commerce. While there is no doubt of the power of the federal government under the eighteenth amendment to perform local police duty in the suppression of the liquor traffic, it should be remembered that it has a vast task in the purely federal field. Until it performs that task it might well leave all local police duty with the states who have concurrent power with the federal government in the local field. Such a method of enforcement would distribute responsibility where it belongs.

Opposes Return of Saloon.

"In the foregoing discussion I have tried to avoid the words 'wet' and 'dry.' It does not help much in a solution of a problem to label men. Men labeled wet may be as much opposed to the saloon as men labeled dry.

"The saloon must not come back. The people of the United States are rid of the saloon—and well rid of it. But in the process of ridding ourselves of the saloon a wholly unregulated liquor traffic has grown up in this country. One group blames it on disobedience to the law. It is not in such a spirit that a solution will be found.

"The solution will be found when we realize that the issue before us is a government problem. How can the control of the liquor traffic be divided between federal and state governments in a way that will recognize the habits and sentiments and moral principles of the people in different parts of the country? I see no way of settling that question satisfactorily without a further change in the constitution.

Not Impossible to Amend.

"We hear on all sides that it is impossible to amend the federal constitution. It is difficult, but not impossible. Four times within the last twenty years the constitution has been amended. It can be amended again. . . .

"I look forward to the time when the old leaders in the temperance movement—the churches and the schools and the social workers—will appreciate that they have not reached a final solution of a world-old problem by the present eighteenth amendment. I look forward to the time when the great moral teachers of the country will realize that in the battle for a great social reform, there was wisdom in the old system of experimenting in forty-eight laboratories rather than in one."

Woman Claims DivingDog; Police Stop Dragging River

Chicago police yesterday stopped dragging the river at Archer avenue and 22d street when Mrs. Charles Jacobs, 3106 South Halsted street, claimed the large German police dog that led the police to the river bank. Several times on Wednesday the dog jumped into the river and the police began dragging in the belief that the animal's owner had been drowned. Mrs. Jacobs could not explain the dog's actions.

GIFTS TO DRY LEAGUE DROP TO $265,000 IN '29

Kresge Tops List; Nothing from Rockefeller.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—Figures drawn from official records of the Anti-Saloon League of America and made public today by Senator T. H. Caraway [Dem., Ark.], chairman of the senate lobby committee, disclosed how the receipts of the dry organization, which once boasted of its $1,000,000 war chest, dwindled from $919,984 in 1919 to only $265,237 in 1929. Incomplete records in the hands of the committee indicate that the income of state subsidiaries of the league have slumped in the same proportion.

During the last eleven years, according to its own record, the national organizations received a total of $5,553,588.55. In 1920, following the big drive to "put prohibition over," the receipts fell from $919,984.65 in the previous year to $842,381.47.

Figures Tell Their Own Story.

In 1921 the income further slumped to $647,519.66 and thereafter as follows: 1922, $560,340.52; 1923, $568,158.40; 1924, $440,209.63; 1925, $370,220.37; 1926, $333,375.14; 1927, $267,361.55; 1928, $338,799.23, and 1929, $265,237.93.

Conspicuous because of its absence in a list of contributions of $1,000 or more to the national organization, made public at the same time over the protest of F. Scott McBride, its general superintendent, was the $500,000 gift promised the league in December, 1927, by Sebastian S. Kresge, chain store magnate, to finance a proposed new "educational" program under the direction of Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington. Conspicuous also for their absence were the names of John D. Rockefeller Sr. and John D. Rockefeller Jr., who until 1925, when they contributed a total of $20,000 were among the league's most substantial supporters.

Kresge Donations Lead.

The Kresge family, however, represented by the Kresge Foundation of Detroit, Mich., and Stanley Kresge, a son of Sebastian Kresge, were revealed as the largest contributors during the last four years—the foundation being credited with gifts aggregating $106,250 and Stanley Kresge with an individual contribution of $10,000 to the league's "1928 campaign fund."

Of $14,000 contributed in sums of $1,000 or more in 1927 Robert E. Nicholas, Oak Park, Ill., gave $1,000; Mr. and Mrs. John Hauberg, Rock Island, Ill., $2,000; C. F. Denkmann, Rock Island, Ill., $1,000; S. S. Davis, Rock Island, Ill., $2,000, and Hugh and Paul Strange, Menasha, Wis., $2,500.

Other contributors of $1,000 or more in Illinois and nearby states to date, according to the list were as follows:

1928—To the general work of the league—The Misses Catherine and Jessie Colvin, Lake Forest, Ill., $2,500; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hauberg, Rock Island, Ill., $1,000; Robert E. Nicholas, Oak Park, Ill., $1,000; Hugh and Paul Strange, Menasha, Wis., $1,500; J. W. Blodgett, Grand Rapids, Mich., $1,000; Kresge Foundation, Detroit, Mich., $50,000.

1928—To "the 1928 election campaign fund" of the league—C. B. Van Dusen, Detroit, Mich., $1,250; Stanley Kresge, Detroit, Mich., $10,000; H. W. Austin, Oak Park, Ill., $1,000; J. W. Blodgett, Grand Rapids, Mich., 1,000.

For League's General Work.

1929—To the general work of the league—Kresge Foundation, Detroit, Mich., $37,500; Lee Mitchell and Gertrude E. Mighall, Aurora, Ill., $1,000; F. C. Denkmann, Rock Island, Ill., $1,000; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hauberg, Rock Island, Ill., $3,000; Robert E. Nicholas, Oak Park, Ill., $1,000; Ida Mighall, Oak Park, Ill., $1,000; B. S. Pearsall, Elgin, Ill., $2,500; John W. Blodgett, Grand Rapids, Mich., $1,000; the Misses Catherine and Jessie Colvin, Lake Forest, Ill., $3,000.

1930—To the general work of the league—Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hauberg, Rock Island, Ill., $1,500; the Misses Catherine and Jessie Colvin, Lake Forest, Ill., $1,500; Ellis H. Denny, treasurer of the First Congregational church of Oak Park, Ill., $1,000; Kresge Foundation, Detroit, Mich., $18,750.

U. S. CHICAGO JAIL PROPOSED, BUT IS NOT EXPECTED SOON

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—Construction of a federal jail in Chicago was said at the department of justice today to be only a remote possibility, suggested with a view to obtaining more favorable terms for the lodging of federal prisoners farmed out in the local jails.

The Chicago prison proposal was contained in a budget message, submitted to congress yesterday by President Hoover, asking for an allotment of $1,300,000 to build a customs building replacing the present building at 158 West Harrison street. The budget message stated that "it is proposed to remodel the present building at a future date for use as a federal jail."

"We now are forced to hold many federal prisoners in the county and city jails because of overcrowding in the federal penitentiaries," an official in Attorney General Mitchell's office explained. "Contracts for keeping these prisoners are renewed periodically and, with the threat of building our own jail, we expect to keep the charges down to a reasonable figure. The county and city are not going to overcharge us if they know we are preparing to handle the prisoners ourselves."

McBRIDE CALLS MORROW STAND "OUT, OUT WET"

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, said tonight Dwight W. Morrow had followed the program laid out by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment in basing his wet platform on state control of liquor.

"Ambassador Morrow has accepted the program of Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment," McBride said. "It is an out and out wet platform. The association was against state option until we got prohibition, and now they want it back again. Morrow has followed their suggestion in its entirety.

"As to what course the Anti-Saloon league will take in New Jersey, I shall leave that for Dr. Shields [New Jersey state superintendent] to announce."

The New Jersey branch of the Anti-Saloon league announced recently that it would place a dry candidate in the field should Morrow declare for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

SHOT SELF WHILE INSANE.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of temporary insanity in the case of Harry Nichols, 35 year old world war veteran of 6032 Eberhart avenue, who killed himself with a revolver Wednesday.

Roberts

—"the guarantee of Quality on Pork Products."

36 Years ago, a treasured family formula for the perfect processing of Pork Products, was brought to this country by the founders of the House of Roberts, under whose management it has continued without interruption, and their original policy of specializing in but this one line has been rigidly adhered to—"doing one thing and doing it well."

And so today, this distinguished line of pork products, headed by the ever-popular Sweetmeat Hams and Bacon, occupies an enviable position among the most discriminating buyers who insist on providing the very best obtainable for their tables.

Other equally delicious products embrace SWEETMEATS—"Boneless - No Waste" that dainty cut of tender young pork, sugar cured and hickory smoked; Liberty Pure Lard—the true Shortening, Country Maid Pure Pork old-fashioned Breakfast Sausage; Virginia Baked Ham and a full line of Roberts' Meat Delicacies "Ready-to-Serve."

Such products would not be possible — even with us, if it were not for the care we exercise in the selection of the raw material from which they are made. Only the top selection of this great live stock market, the choicest young porkers from the west's fertile corn belts, will make Roberts' products.

Insist on the name Roberts appearing on the pork products you order from your dealer—it is your only assurance of obtaining the genuine output of the makers of the best obtainable and providing your table with a menu agreeably different from any that you had ever before thought possible.

Now a New Bifocal Eyeglass

No Prismatic Displacement
Ends "seeing double" at edge of segments

THOUSANDS have wished for bifocals that would provide near and distant vision, like having two pair of glasses and without that disconcerting "jump" when changing from the close to the distant part of lenses.

That is what science now has accomplished. In the new Univis (Universal Vision Lenses) prismatic displacement is eliminated. Univis has none of the old disadvantages of bifocals. There is no seeing double at the edge of lenses. The close vision segments, of the invisible type, are so placed that normal distant vision is never interfered with. They give better vision, more comfort and safety.

In Chicago, they are sold only through Almer Coe & Company, and Almer Coe and Company guarantee them to give greater satisfaction than any bifocal you have known.

ALFRED I. DU PONT PENSIONS 1,100 OF DELAWARE'S NEEDY

Wilmington, Del., May 15.—[Special.]—There are 1,100 people in Delaware being pensioned monthly through the generosity of Alfred I. du Pont. These old and needy persons have been receiving an allowance since Nov. 1. There are 688 white and 412 colored persons on the list.

At the instigation of Mr. du Pont, a survey of those in the state over 65 years of age who were urgently in need of funds was made by Mrs. Laura C. Walls of Lincoln. This survey was completed last summer and since November Mr. du Pont has been making an allowance to these needy persons through Mrs. Walls.

Mr. du Pont will pay these pensions until the next legislature decides whether or not to establish an old age pension bill. He will not, however, ask or accept any reimbursement for what he has paid out.

Illinois Alumni Honor Kinley on Eve of His Retirement

Five hundred alumni of the University of Illinois crowded into the main ballroom of the Palmer house last night to bid farewell to President David Kinley as head of the institution. Dr. Kinley will soon retire from his post and pass on to younger hands the burdens of piloting the third largest University in America.

David Kinley is 79 years old. He has served the university for 37 years as faculty member, dean and president. Fully half the present alumni of Illinois have looked into his face at commencement and received their diplomas from his hands. But last night he resented the implication of the phrase, "retiring from active service," and the frequently repeated statement that he is "now able to take long needed rest."

"Rest?" he asked. "I have never told anybody I was going to take a rest. Throughout this imposing program I have been unable to decide whether it is a funeral, a wedding, or a wake."

Dean Frederic C. Woodward, vice president of the University of Chicago, was one of those who sang the praises of President Kinley last night. He attributed the spirit of neighborliness between the two universities to the gracious coöperation of the president of Illinois.

Robert F. Carr, president of the Dearborn Chemical company, and for many years a member of the university board of trustees, characterized President Kinley as a comrade of the student body and a stanch advocate of high salaries to obtain and to retain men of high caliber as teachers.

W. L. Abbott of Chicago, another former member of the board of trustees of the university, who introduced President Kinley, spoke of the "demon of doing," which kept the president actively interested in the affairs of the state university.

Dr. Kinley spoke of the spirit of kinship between the University of Chicago and his own institution.

"The University of Chicago," he said, "has proved a stimulus to the University of Illinois. The success of Chicago is the success of Illinois. We are closer together today than we have ever been before."

VETS OF FRANCE GREET U. S. WAR MOTHERS TODAY

CHEBROURG, France, May 15.—(AP)—A group of America's "gold star mothers" arriving here tomorrow to visit the graveyards where their sons lie after fighting on the battlefields of France will be greeted by the Star Spangled Banner entwined with the French tricolor.

French ex-service men, as a delicate attention to the mothers of American boys who died in France, will meet them at the maritime station, which they have decorated with the colors of their association and the shield of the French military medal.

Both station and town were beflagged tonight. The ceremonies tomorrow will be extremely brief in order not to unduly fatigue the American mothers. A delegation of widows and orphans of French soldiers and another of the war mutilated will greet them. Then a war orphan will present bouquets of flowers and the formalities will be over.

MATCH KING, ONCE JOB HUNTER HERE, TALKS FINANCES

Suggests Plans to Settle Nations' Debts.

Ivar Kreuger, who came to Chicago during the World's Fair in 1893 to look for a job, was back again yesterday. He was not looking for a job this time. Conditions have changed for Chicago; they have changed even more for Mr. Kreuger.

One of his tasks on his first visit was to sell a building lot to a reluctant buyer. Soon after he pocketed his commission of $50 he left the city.

Mr. Kreuger's outsanding activity of his present visit was to explain last evening at a dinner of the Industrial Club of Chicago in the Drake hotel how the problem of transfers of funds to settle international debts may be accomplished.

Swedish Match King.

Mr. Kreuger is an authority on such matters, who has had his experience in practical fields. He is head of the great Swedish Match company, its allies and subsidiaries, which furnish matches to 600,000,000 people. These companies hold monopolies in many European and South American countries. The monopolies were gained by loans made to the governments by the Kreuger interests.

The speaker gave the opinion that the difficulties of the transfer problem are at present greatly exaggerated, and that the simple solution for them is to have an adequate international [illegible] for long term obligations.

"Gold On a Standard."

He suggested that in international trade it is never intended that goods shall be finally paid for with gold, the gold being only a convenient standard of measurement for diverse products. The intention, he said, is always to pay for goods with the same thing more goods. Complications arrive, he continued, when creditor nations are unwilling to be paid back in this manner and demand gold.

The European creditor nations before the war, according to Mr. Kreuger, theoretically received two and a half billion dollars annually in dividends and interest, but actually were paid in their own countries but a half billion. The remainder was re-invested in the debtor countries. The match king advanced the theory that a country should be able to settle an annual deficit with other countries by selling long term obligations to their foreign creditors.

To accomplish this, he recommended that European and American financiers find forms of securities that are better adapted than those of the present to the needs of investors, particularly American investors. He added that Germany probably would be able to settle its obligations if too many restrictions were not placed on its export trade.

Mr. Kreuger, who is generally recognized as one of the leading financial and industrial leaders of Europe, is the guest of W. McCormick Blair. Since his first visit to Chicago he has been an engineer in Mexico, South America and the eastern part of the United States. His match trust, which has lent hundreds of millions of dollars to governments which grant it monopolies, was an outgrowth of the war and post war years.

IF JOHN D. TURNED SPENDTHRIFT HERE'S WHAT HE COULD DO

New York, May 15.—[Special.]—A new book on John D. Rockefeller and his stupendous fortune was published by the Institute of Public Service today. It was written by William H. Allen, director of the institute.

This is what Mr. Allen says Mr. Rockefeller could do if he were to go on a spending orgy, his calculation being based on a billion dollar fortune, whereas the Rockefeller family wealth is estimated at over two billion dollars:

"After giving away a dollar bill on fifteen corners every half minute for ten hours a day every day of the year he would have more money than he started with."

"Had $500 a day been credited to Adam in the Garden of Eden for every day of these 6,000 years his bank account today would be less than Rockefeller's."

"It would pay 20 million admissions a day for a whole year to the country's motion pictures. It is $2 a minute from Christ's birth."

"If the fortune Rockefeller has given away was laid end to end in $10 bills they would reach round the world nearly three times without using a cent of interest. With part of the interest added the line of bills would reach to the moon."

YALE SOCIETIES' TAPS REFUSED BY 10 JUNIORS

New Haven, Conn., May 15.—(AP)—Yale's four senior societies—Skull and Bones, Scroll and Key, Elihu club, and Wolf's Head—today elected fifteen juniors at the annual Tap day ceremonies.

Ten juniors refused elections, eight of these going to other societies.

The number who refused election to Skull and Bones came as a surprise. Donald Roderick McLennan Jr. of Lake Forest, Ill., and Thomas Truxton Hare Jr. of Radnor, Pa., football men, declined election to this society to accept Keys. Charles Scott Snead of Montclair, N. J., another football man and a member of the baseball team, also declined to be tapped by the society and went to Wolf's Head.

Francis Thomas Vincent of Torrington, Conn., captain elect of the 1930 football team was tapped by Skull and Bones.

Among other men elected to Skull and Bones was Gaylord Donnelly, Chicago.

INSURANCE MAN SURRENDERS.

Highland, Ill., May 15.—(AP)—Edward C. Appel, former secretary of three allied fire insurance companies of Highland, Ill., who disappeared April 29, after which officials reported a $13,50 shortage in his accounts, surrendered last night.

Mrs. Hoover Gives to New Quaker Church in Capital

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover has contributed for herself and the President toward the erection of a third Friends' meeting house in the capital. A committee has acquired a site at Florida avenue and Decatur place. The building will resemble the Quaker churches of colonial times, according to the plans, and will supplement the two Quaker churches in the city, the congregations of which have greatly increased since the inauguration of President Hoover.

ADMIRAL JONES ATTACKS NAVAL PACT AS UNFAIR

Admiral Pratt Declares It's Best Possible.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—The London naval treaty became a storm center of violent controversy today as one gray haired admiral assailed the pact as unfair to the United States before one senate committee while another admiral defended the agreement as satisfactory from a national defense view before another group of senators.

Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, retired, an outstanding officer with half a century of distinguished service and a veteran of every important naval limitation conference participated in by the United States during the last decade, left a sick bed to tell the senate foreign relations committee that the treaty did not provide fully for American defense needs and represented a surrender of this country's traditional position on naval limitation.

Scores Limitation.

The rear admiral advised Chairman William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] and other committee members that if this treaty is ratified Great Britain will retain her supremacy on the high seas. He scored the 6 inch gun cruisers allotted the United States by the pact as unfitted for American needs and added that the increased ratios in cruisers, submarines and destroyers granted Japan by the pact gave Japan better than a 5-5 ratio in the western Pacific and handicaped American operations in the orient.

Before the senate naval affairs committee Admiral William V. Pratt, commander in chief of the United States fleet and the chief naval adviser to the American delegation at London, vigorously defended the terms of the treaty from the attacks directed on the pact by Chairman Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.], Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] and other senators. Admiral Pratt said the treaty was the best the delegation could obtain in view of the failure of the United States to build warships as fast as Great Britain and Japan since the Washington treaty.

Favors Air Bombing Ban.

Admiral Pratt surprised committee members when he stated that the expansion in strength and importance of the airplane as a coast defense weapon in recent years had caused a change in naval policy on the part of the United States which made it possible to reduce submarines at London. The air arm, he said, takes the place of the coast defense submarine and makes this class unnecessary. The admiral gave the committee another mild sensation when he asserted with heat that he would like to see the adoption of an international agreement banning bombing by airplanes as inhumane warfare.

A third witness today was Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams. Appearing before the foreign relations committee, he stated that he had fought for twenty-one 8 inch gun cruisers instead of the eighteen finally allotted the United States at London, and in addition had opposed an increased ratio for Japan. He said he finally gave in on both points when he found it impossible to get what he wanted.

The two admirals differed sharply on the question of the advisability of American construction of 6 inch gun cruisers. Rear Admiral Jones asserted that a preponderance of naval opinion favored construction of the 8 inch gun cruisers for American needs. He said that he could not understand Admiral Pratt's position in favor of an equal division of the two types in the American fleet.

Both Officers Advisers.

Both admirals were naval advisers to the American delegation at London. Rear Admiral Jones was forced to return before the conference ended because of illness and he looked far from well as he sat at one end of the foreign relations committee table today.

In response to questions, Rear Admiral Jones said the United States at Geneva in 1927 and up to the London conference had firmly upheld a policy of naval limitation by tonnages, which allowed each nation complete freedom to build whatever types it pleased within the tonnage limit of each class of ship.

"This attitude is abandoned in the London treaty," Admiral Jones said. "This treaty divides cruisers into two subcategories and limits us to the construction of sixteen 8 inch gun ships during the life of the treaty and eighteen in all. It sets up a 6 inch gun cruiser category, and we must build that type or none at all. At all conferences we have attended we have consistently fought such a step.

"The British effort has always been to hold us down as low as possible in building the types we needed and to force us to build types of little use to us but valuable to her."

Criticizes Japanese Ratio.

Rear Admiral Jones picked out sections of the treaty for specific attack, criticizing the increased ratio given Japan over the 5-3 adopted at Washington, the limitations placed on 8 inch gun cruiser construction, the inclusion of a new, fast unlimited class of 2,000 ton twenty knot ships, and the battleship section which allows France and Italy to build flying decks and hangars on their new battleships during a period when Great Britain, Japan, and the United States were having a battleship building holiday.

Rear Admiral Jones expressed the opinion that, had the United States asked for the right to complete a larger number of her 8 inch gun cruisers by 1936, the conference would have granted it. He referred to the restriction which holds the United States down to completing sixteen cruisers with 8 inch guns by 1936.

The treaty, Rear Admiral Jones asserted, indicates clearly that Japan intends to ask for a still larger ratio over that granted her at Washington in 1922 and in London this year when the five powers meet again in 1935 for another conference.

More Bases Impracticable.

The rear admiral told the committee that it did not appear practical for the United States to attempt to counterbalance Britain's advantage in having naval bases on all trade routes and a great preponderance of submarines.

"What ships do you think we should build?" asked Senator Swanson, "the 6 inch gun vessel or the 8 inch gun ship?"

"Before deciding such a question we must consider that the United States will have to operate over the seven seas in protecting trade routes," the rear admiral answered. "These routes must be protected as many of them are vital to our physical and economic life.

Offensive Power Needed.

"I believe firmly for our purposes we need units with not only long radius of action but also the greatest possible power of survival in case of trouble. These cruisers should have offensive power to keep other ships away or to meet them with equality as well as the ability to defend themselves through their armor. These elements are found to a much greater degree in the 8 inch gun cruiser than in the 6."

Admiral Pratt, in response to questions, said that the failure of the United States to build ships after the Washington treaty put this country in a disadvantageous position at London. We were lucky, he said, under the circumstances, to get the ratio we did with Japan. In response to questions, he said that a nation which has lots of warships built is at an advantage at a naval conference if it wants limitation or reduction.

Admirals Differ Radically.

Admiral Pratt differed radically from Rear Admiral Jones on almost every issue that came up. Both yesterday and today Admiral Pratt insisted that he would rather have the cruisers furnished by the treaty than the program of construction favored by the general board of the navy which calls for building at least twenty-three 8 inch gun vessels. He asserted that the program advanced by the general board for cruisers was not so good as the one the American delegation had arrived at after going to London.

"The general board finally," he said, "suggested building five 7,000 ton cruisers in addition to the ten we have."

"They were forced to that decision," asserted Senator Hale. "They would not have done that of their own accord. The administration forced them to change their attitude."

For Aircraft Limitation.

In response to questions, Admiral Pratt expressed regret that the treaty had not limited aircraft.

"Some European naval authorities consider that the object of war is to strike fear into the hearts of women and children," he said. "If I had my way all bombing from the air would be stopped."

"I should judge from your testimony," Senator David I. Walsh [Dem., Mass.] said, "that the way to effect naval reduction is to build up until you have more ships than the other fellow. Then you can get him to agree to limit his armament."

"That's about right," replied Admiral Pratt. "I would like to see the United States build up."

Reveal Secret British Order

between America and ourselves, such as we were able to effect at the naval conference. That piece of work has been done. Whatever achievements the conference may have made—however small—they were only possible by very great forbearance, helpfulness, and good will on the part of the delegates from all countries represented."

He insisted that the conference was not merely a naval conference, but that it aimed at making a substantial contribution to the problem of general disarmament. The prime minister declared that since the failure of the conference at Geneva in 1927, a great deterioration in peace spirit has taken place.

"The nations have undoubtedly fallen back into their old mentality," he said. "Old fears and superstitions regarding security are returning, and exactly the same kind of argument which was so familiar before 1914 is coming up unblushing and unashamed in 1930."

The prime minister than outlined the details of the treaty, declaring that the agreement between America, Britain, and Japan to end competition in building fleets, and the declaration by the other two powers, Italy and France, to consider future construction, was "a very great achievement."

Mr. MacDonald defended the 91,000 tons limitation on cruiser building, declaring that, taking the life of cruisers as 20 years, this total was sufficient to provide for all replacements, leaving a margin of 11,820 tons. He insisted that the conference was a successful beginning of a gigantic task, and something had been contributed to the cause of peace.

Toward the end of the debate, in which criticisms of Winston Churchill's action were still continuing, it was stated that the instructions cited were in fact written by Mr. Churchill himself, and sent by the marquis of Curzon, then foreign minister, to the earl of Balfour.

Mr. Lloyd George, before his criticism of Mr. Churchill's disclosure, congratulated the government upon the success gained at the conference.

"I think that the greatest achievement was the understanding arrived at with America and Japan. That is worth more than a hundred cruisers," he declared.

KILLS INFANT, WOUNDS 3 IN DEBT FRENZY

Father Escapes After Attack on Family.

William Schliemann, 32 years old, war veteran and father of four children, flew into a frenzy last evening and shot his wife and three small sons in their bungalow at 113 West 113th street. Then, apparently lacking the nerve for suicide, he fled.

The youngest, 14 months old, William Jr., shot in the head and heart as he lay in his crib, was killed instantly. The wife, Amy, 28 years old, and the other aboys, Harold, 7, and Richard, 3, were each wounded in the head and body. Their recovery is doubtful, according to physicians at the Roseland Community hospital.

Dorothy, 8 years old, was playing in a neighbor's yard when the father began shooting and thus escaped. Returning home for supper at 5:30 p. m. she discovered the tragedy and ran to her mother, who was still conscious. "Go tell Aunt Alice," the mother whispered.

Finds Aunt at Store.

Dorothy ran to the People's department store, 112th street and Michigan avenue. Crying, she found her aunt, Miss Alice Stern, a sister of her mother, who is a clerk at the store and lives with the Schliemann family.

"Mamma is shot and Harold and Richard and the baby and daddy has run away," she said breathlessly. Miss Stern hastened home. She fainted and it was Dorothy who alarmed the neighbors. They notified Kensington police.

Father Buys Gun.

Capt. Michael Grady learned that Schliemann, a sober and industrious worker, had left his job at a Riverdale steel mill an hour early yesterday afternoon, drew his weekly pay envelope containing $31 and gone home. At that time he was carrying the .22 caliber target pistol he had purchased the day before and was probably meditating the death of his family and himself, Capt. Grady believes.

He seemed melancholy when he entered the house, the wife said afterward at the hospital, and spent an hour reading and rereading a letter threatening garnishment of his wages. Schliemann had borrowed $100 in March to purchase his wife a gas range to replace a kerosene stove. Wearied of his complaints, she told him at 5 o'clock to go for groceries.

Mrs. Schliemann heard a door close. Two minutes later she heard a footstep and a shot, after which she lost consciousness. The boys were hit as they tried to flee, Harold falling on the kitchen threshold and Robert at the edge of a bed. Apparently the baby was shot last, for the pistol was found under his crib.

Three hours after the shooting, while police were still seeking clews in the bungalow, the telephone rang. Miss Stern picked up the receiver and heard a man's excited voice asking: "Are they all dead?" Surmising the caller was Schliemann, Capt. Grady snatched the telephone, but the man was gone and the call could not be traced.

STRIKE OF PHOTO ENGRAVERS FOR 40 HR. WEEK OFF

San Francisco, Cal., May 15.—(AP)—A thirteen month fight for a forty hour week and increased wages was abandoned today by San Francisco's Photo Engravers' union when a strike called April 23, 1929, was unconditionally called off.

The deadlock was broken in Chicago when the executive council of the international union last May 2 approved the local's action in ending the strike. The San Francisco Industrial association and the Photo Engravers' local No. 8 were advised of the action by telegram today.

With the exception of two commercial plants that signed an agreement with the union on a new working basis in 1929 all local engraving companies have been operating on the so-called American plan.

CHURCH TRIAL FOR CANNON IS HELD ASSURED

Stock Charges Aired Before Committee.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Dallas, Tex., May 15.—[Special.]—Bishop Cannon is expected to go to trial next week before an ecclesiastical court of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, on charges alleging bucket shop gambling. Practical assurance of this fact was given tonight by leaders of the episcopacy committee and prominent members of the conference, although the committee's deliberations are secret.

The "leak" revealing that Bishop Cannon faces an ecclesiastical trial has brought turmoil in general conference circles. The Rev. Frank P. Culver, chairman of the episcopacy committee, confirmed corridor gossip at the conference headquarters by saying that "publication of the secrets of our committee will not hurt Bishop Cannon here."

Charge Tammany Influence.

It is now rumored that inasmuch as the accepted decision of the episcopacy committee has not come to a vote, there may be a change in that decision before the resolution comes to a ballot in the committee Friday afternoon. Charges of Tammany influence are flying thick and fast among Cannon groups."

Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist university, is a member of the episcopacy committee. John T. Scott, Houston banker, who yesterday applied by telegraph to become a member of the Fitzhugh-Daniels group attacking Bishop Cannon, virtually had concluded arrangements to give the Dallas Methodist university a new library, according to generally accepted opinion in Dallas.

Presides at Conference Today.

The findings of the committee, held to be adverse to Bishop Cannon last night, were postponed for final vote until Friday's committee session, it is rumored, because Bishop Cannon presides over the general conference session tomorrow. Had the decision been reached last night the conference might face the embarrassment of the possibility of Bishop Cannon as presiding bishop naming the personnel of his trial court.

Josephus Daniels, Raleigh, N. C.; Judge G. T. Fitzhugh, Memphis, Tenn., and former Congressman James P. Wood, Roanoke, Va., who represented a committee of leading churchmen in filing the bucketshop charges, stated that no ministers were included in their group "because it would disqualify them from sitting as members of the trial court."

By setting aside last night the complaint of the Rev. Rembert Smith, Washington, Ga., charging Bishop Cannon and four of his episcopal colleagues with unbecoming political operations in recent elections, all jeopardy of embarrassing the prohibition cause of the church was removed should the church convict Cannon on the cleancut citation of stock market gambling.

"Serve and obey" were deleted as a part of the bride's vow from the Methodist Episcopal marriage ceremony this morning.

CAPTURED BOAT AND RUM CARGO SAFELY IN PORT

Coast Guard Holds Ship with 4,000 Cases.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., May 15.—[Special.]—Checked on her mission to assuage Chicago's thirst, the tramp steamer 18, loaded with 4,000 cases of whisky and Canadian ale, steamed into this port this afternoon in charge of the coast guard. Her bootlegger crew of six manned the vessel until the tie lines were attached, whereupon they were jailed.

Boarded on a ruse yesterday by Capt. Matt Jacobson and four armed members of his coast guard crew as she was sliding past Whale's Back shoal, in Green Bay waters, the rum boat, sought since Tuesday, was prevented from completing its record recent voyage to Green Bay with a rich cargo aboard. The booze was to have been trucked to Chicago, the coast guard asserted.

Vessel of British Registry.

The 18 is of British registry and her owner is given as John S. McQueen of Amherstburg, Ont. She is 86 feet long. Pending completion of unloading the value of the cargo could not be accurately placed.

Some whisky was known to be aboard, but it was packed far down in the holds, under great piles of ale cases and sacks of beer.

The Canadian, without divulging the landing place in the United States, was quoted as saying that on its previous trip it had taken four trucks two hours to unload the cargo at an American port.

Vessel's Crew Fooled.

Slipping into Green Bay from Lake Michigan last night, the 18, its crew admitted, was completely fooled by the appearance near dusk of the coast guard cutter.

"We thought it was a fishing boat when it came so close to us," one deckhand said.

ASKS SUPPORT IN SENATE FOR BILL TO AID VETERANS

State Commander N. O. Isaacson of the Illinois department of disabled war veterans yesterday telegraphed Senators Deneen and Glenn, urging them to support the Rankin and Connery amendments to the Johnson veterans' relief bill, opposed by administration leaders.

"These amendments will directly benefit 18,000 tubercular veterans and 23,000 mental cases, none of whom receives compensation at present," Commander Isaacson said.

"Certain administration leaders charge that the expenditure of $108,000,000 provided in this bill would wreck the treasury. They evidently forget that congress has recently passed a $120,000,000 rivers and harbors bill, a $300,000,000 bill for construction of new buildings in the capital, and another bill returning $160,000,000 to taxpayers on 1929 taxes."

Policeman Is Injured in Test for Promotion

MOTORIST DIES, THREE INJURED IN COLLISION

In an automobile collision at Ashland avenue and Harrison street early this morning Raymond Foley, 30 years old, 152 South Kostner avenue, riding alone in his own car, suffered injuries resulting in his death an hour later in the county hospital. The other motorist, Thomas Sejud, 23 years old, living in the vicinity of Paulina and Cullerton streets, suffered a probable skull fracture. His passengers, Lucille Kuzmarek, 23, of 1628 West Cullerton street, and Stephene Rzepcarnski, 23, of 1723 West 18th street, were less seriously hurt.

Foley's death increased the county motor toll this year to 321.

Byron Card, 24, polo team trainer at the Onwentsia club, sustained two fractured ribs and internal injuries last night in Waukegan when run down in the business section by a speeding automobile, which did not stop. He was taken to the Victory Memorial hospital.

CANADA PASSES BUDGET DESIGNED TO HIT U. S. TRADE

Liberal Party Wins Fight for Tariff Barrier.

BY GEORGE SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., May 15.—The Dunning budget, which, in its tariff increases against the United States hits at $225,000,000 American trade with Canada, was carried in the house of commons tonight by a vote of 114 to 86.

Three Conservative bolters supported the budget. They were MacDonald of Cape Breton South, Johnston of Cape Breton North, and Simpson of Algoma—all three representatives of ridings in which the Canadian iron and steel industry is prominent, and therefore compelled to approve because of the tariff increases against American iron and steel products provided for in the budget.

Debate Becomes Heated.

Turbulent house scenes preceded the vote on the main motion. Maritime members on either side of the house verbally fought over the degree of credit to be given the government for recent maritime economic sessions. And there were inferential invitations to have the debate continued "outside."

Storms of Liberal applause swept the commons as the vote on the budget, which is the Liberal party's election platform, was announced. The majority of 28 was more than the government had hoped for.

Cabinet Wins Confidence Vote.

The Progressive amendment, demanding legislation for labor and agriculture, was supported by all the Progressives and Laborites, but opposed by United Liberal and Conservative parties and defeated by 177 to 19 votes. The Conservative amendment, expressing "no confidence" in the government, was opposed by United Liberal and Progressive parties and beaten by 124 to 64 votes.

Added interest was given today's budget divisions because the stand taken by the parties is that upon which they will face the Canadian electorate two months hence in a general election. The government party, in retaliation for American tariff increases against Canada, is seeking to divert from the United States Canadian purchases estimated at $100,000,000 annually, and through extension of tariff preferences throw that trade to the British Empire.

Girl Awarded $7,750 for Injuries in Auto Accident

Marion, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—A jury in Williamson county Circuit court here today awarded damages of $7,750 to Gaynel Hoyle, 13 year old Johnson City schoolgirl, in her suit against Amos Wood, Benton merchant and operator of grocery stores, for injuries sustained when she was run over by Wood's automobile. It is the largest verdict ever assessed in this county in a personal injury case.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—President Hoover today requested congress to make available immediately $3,194,000 to permit the navy department to initiate work under the $10,057,000 public works program recently authorized by congress.

The house expenditures committee instructed a subcommittee, headed by Representative Colton [Rep., Utah] to draft a resolution for investigation into the postoffice department's policy with regard to postoffice leases.

President Hoover signed the interior department appropriation bill for 1931 carrying $318,000,000.

PETERSON GIVES SECOND SALARY TO AID CHILDREN

The fact that City Treasurer Charles W. Peterson receives two salaries is proving a benefaction for the wards of the Juvenile court, who since the middle of last December have been enjoying the proceeds of his work as a county commissioner. His salary checks for that office have been indorsed over to Judge Mary Bartelme for disposal in the care of the Juvenile court wards since Dec. 15. Some months ago the two salaries were the subject of criticism.

Judge Bartelme recently expressed in a letter to Mr. Peterson the gratitude of the court attaches, and stated that the funds came at an auspicious time, due to the county fund deficits. The checks are being applied, her letter indicated, on the expenses of placing wards of the court in temporary boarding homes, while arrangements for their permanent care are being conducted by social service workers. The county commissioner's salary is $7,500 annually.

Plan Park Along Banks of North Shore Channel

Permission to create a park out of land owned by the sanitary district was given to the River Park district yesterday at a meeting of the trustees of the sanitary district of Chicago. The land extends along the route of the north shore channel, from Peterson avenue to Argyle street. Trees and flowers will be planted to beautify the land and tennis courts and playgrounds will be constructed. The sanitary district reserves the right to use the land at any time desired for purposes of the district.

W. C. T. U. ASKS DEALERS TO QUIT RUM AID SALES

Hoosier Women Address Plea to Merchants.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 15.—[Special.]—The Indiana W. C. T. U. today demanded that all Indiana merchants discontinue sale of articles used in making alcoholic beverages.

A letter addressed to all Indiana merchants says:

"Fellow Citizens: In our common interests of respect for law and for the 'general welfare' especially of childhood and youth, present and future, in America and all lands, we appeal to your sense of citizenship responsibility, moral and financial, to observe section 18, title 2, of the national prohibition act, and section 29 of the Indiana prohibition code, and omit from sale all articles used only by law violators, such as hip flasks, decanters and liquor sets, and also all articles which with the use of malt invite to and presuppose the violation of law in the manufacture of 'home brew' and illegal beverages.

"Faithfully, your fellow citizens, Women's Christian Temperance Union of Indiana."

Women Are Commended.

A statement also was issued commending "the loyal, law abiding women of Indiana." It reads:

"We are encouraged by the loyalty of Indiana women to the 18th amendment. It is gratifying to note that Mrs. Mary Sales Moore, who recently made an effort to form an organization in Indiana known as the Woman's Organization for Prohibition Reform, which would be against the prohibition amendment in Indiana, reports that she secured the names of only 23 women in the entire state and was unable to find a single woman in the state who would serve as president of the organization. She therefore volunteered to act in that capacity from her home in New Jersey.

Gratified with Response.

"We are gratified with the splendid response on the part of the women of Indiana to rally to the cause of the dry movement, and the Indiana W. C. T. U. feels that much ground has been gained during the last weeks.

"The wets of the state are 'on the run,' and we propose to keep them running as long as we last. Already too much damage has been done by the malicious propaganda of the wets throughout the state, but we do not believe that the better element of Indiana will stand by and permit the forces which destroy childhood and good citizenship to run riot in Indiana."

SENTENCED FOR STRIPPING AUTO.

Harry Schubert, 39 years old, 3545 South Mozart street, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail yesterday by Judge Samuel Heller in the Stockyards court. Sergt. Joseph McDonough caught him stripping a parked automobile and captured him after shooting him in the right hand.

HOPES ARE SLIM FOR WICKERSHAM BOARD'S BILLS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—With only the prohibition bureau transfer bill passed by both houses, leaders in congress today all but abandoned hope that the other law enforcement measures recommended by President Hoover and the Wickersham commission would reach the White House at this session.

Pessimism over the outlook for the remainder of the Wickesham program grew deeper after the house judiciary committee, in an all day secret session, failed to arrive at an agreement upon the bills designed to relieve congestion in the federal courts. At the same time it was learned that the Wickersham bill to reorganize the border patrol is waterlogged in the house committee on interstate commerce.

Howard T. Jones, assistant to G. A. Youngquist, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition, is said to be one of those under consideration for appointment as the new director of prohibition. Mr. Jones, a Pennsylvanian, has been in the department of justice for many years. He was first assistant to Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition prosecutions.

STEAL AUTO AND $30.

Leonard S. Laystrom, secretary-treasurer of the Quality Hardware and Machine corporation, 5849 Ravenswood avenue, was held up by two highway men at Montrose and Ashland avenues early yesterday, compelled to drive to Montrose and Sacramento boulevard and three robbed of his car and $30.

Why You Should Never Cut a Corn

If you are troubled with corns or callouses, do not run the risk of blood poison by paring them. Statistics show that many deaths have occurred from this seemingly innocent practice of paring corns.

Simply go to your druggist and get a few cents worth of Ice-Mint, rub a little on any painful corn or callous. Immediately the pain will disappear and in a short time the corn or callous will loosen and lift off easily with the finger—root and all—leaving the surrounding skin in a healthy normal condition.

This, together with the fact that Ice-Mint overcomes such affections as sore, tired, aching, puffed or burning feet and makes them cool, easy and comfortable, is probably responsible for the hearty endorsement given it by druggists.

To rid one's feet of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes or painful callouses in such a pleasant and safe way, makes it seem the height of folly for anyone to pare a corn and people are warned to stop it.

CALL LA GRANGE OFFICIALS IN QUIZ ON CLEANER ROW

Face Inquiry on Charges by Abarbanell.

Officials of La Grange, including Chief of Police Harry McInnes and the president and members of the village board, will be called to the state's attorney's office next week in the investigation being conducted by Chief Investigator Pat Roche into charges made by Irving Abarbanell of the cleaning and dyeing concern of Abarbanell Bros. The concern operates in eight western suburbs, including La Grange.

Abarbanell did not come to the prosecutor's office on his own volition, but was sent for because of the stories told to Roche to the effect that officials of the Cleaners and Dyers' union apparently were intimidating employés and customers of the cleaners. Abarbanell told his story after he had been assured that if any of the officials molested him they would face prompt grand jury action.

Abarbanell Bros. have been in the cleaning and dyeing business for 20 years on an open shop basis. Recently efforts were made to unionize the plant and force a raise in prices, it is charged.

Tells of Meeting Officials.

Abarbanell told Roche that he was called before the village board and that after a two hour session he signed a letter in which he retracted charges he had made to the effect that the La Grange police interfered with him instead of with union pickets, who, he said, were driving away his employés and customers. The letter had been dictated some time before it was presented to Abarbanell to sign, he said. Referring to the letter his statement to Roche said:

Q.—The letter was already dictated?

A.—It was already written.

Q.—And they asked you to sign it?

A.—And it was a case of have to. I was there at least two hours.

Q.—Who was present at that meeting? A.—President Saunders and Trustee Rice, Trustee Galvinoh—they came in and out—and Chief of Police McInnes, and they felt pretty sore about it; and I saw fit to sign that letter for the protection of my being there. I asked them to let me have the letter and said I would consult my attorney. It was just like being in an investigation bureau, one amongst several, and I had to read between the lines.

Witnessed by Police, He Says.

Abarbanell told Roche how several of the La Grange police stood by while union delegates in six or seven automobiles surrounded his place. Three or four carloads of his employés were taken away by the union men, he said. The cleaner said the policemen were "cutting up" with the union delegates.

Abarbanell asserted that Chief McInnes was present when some of his employés were taken away and when customers were warned by union delegates that a strike was in progress and told "I wouldn't advise you to go in there." He said he protested to the chief that he did not think the union members had a right to do as they were doing and that the chief replied, "Don't tell me what they have a right to do or what they have not. I am a lawyer, and I know what they have a right to do."

ANTI-AIRCRAFT UNIT LEAVES VIRGINIA FOR FORT SHERIDAN, ILL.

Baltimore, Md., May 15.—(AP)—The 61st coast artillery, one of four anti-aircraft regiments within the continental limits of the country, has set out on an overland hike of 1,150 miles from Fortress Monroe, Va., to Fort Sheridan, Ill., the Third corps area headquarters announced today.

The regiment, comprising ten officers and 300 men, under the command of Maj. James H. Cunningham, left yesterday, taking a route through Richmond, Va., and Kentucky. Three officers and 87 men were scheduled to be detached at Jeffersonville, Ind., to be used to instruct a reserve officers' training corps.

Marching orders call for a column, extending nearly a mile in length and accompanied by 100 vehicles, to cover from 40 to 73 miles a day.

Action by Senate Today Will Decide Fate of Tariff Bill

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—The question whether the tariff bill will go to the White House or die in conference will be placed squarely before the senate tomorrow.

This critical stage of negotiations between the senate and house over the Hawley-Smoot measure was brought about by a decision of senate Democrats today to oppose an attempt by the Republican regulars to gain a free hand in working out an adjustment of the flexible provision and debenture plan over which the conferees are in deadlock.

The Republican independents said they would support the Democrats in their fight, but they were not as confident as their coalition friends that the move would be successful.

Leaders of the Republican regular forces were frankly worried, but are counting heavily on returning the bill to conference, so the final showdown will come on adoption or rejection of the complete conference agreement.

Smoot to Start Showdown.

Tomorrow Senator Smoot [Rep., Utah] will make a technical motion to insist, without instructions, on the senate's amendments which have been turned down by the house. This would get the bill back into conference on a negotiable basis. The house managers have refused to confer until the senate has given its conferees a free hand.

The senate Democrats will counter with a move to instruct the conferees not to abandon the debenture and flexible provision withdrawing presidential rate changing power.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, a leader of the Republican independents, who, with the Democrats, wrote the debenture and legislative flexible provision into the bill over the protest of President Hoover, said he would vote for the Democratic motion, but doubted if it would carry.

Compromise May Carry.

He based this prediction on the belief that many advocates of the senate's provisions would rather see a compromise worked out than to tie the hands of the senate managers and have no bill at all.

All agreed, however, that success in the Democratic attempt would in effect kill the measure. The bill would go back to conference, but the house conferees, backed by an overwhelming vote in the house against the senate provisions, would be expected to hold their ground.

Senator Harrison of Mississippi, one of the Democratic conferees, said the minority regarded the two provisions adopted by the senate as "vital to the welfare of the American people."

"We will not recede on them," he asserted.

ARMY ENGINEER OPPOSES LAKE DIVERSION LIMIT

Gen. Brown Comes to Aid of Illinois Waterway.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, today came to the aid of the Illinois waterway.

In a letter addressed to Senator Charles S. Deneen [Rep., Ill.], Gen. Brown opposed the fixing of a maximum limit for water diversion at Chicago in the paragraph of the rivers and harbors bill authorizing federal completion of the Illinois state waterway project.

The Brown letter was presented by Senator Deneen at a hearing of the senate commerce committee. Gen. Brown will appear before the committee tomorrow.

Carlstrom Opposes Limitation.

Attorney General Carlstrom of Illinois, one of today's witnesses, argued against the proposal of the lake states hostile to Illinois that the pending bill carry a clause limiting the ultimate diversion of water from Lake Michigan to 1,500 cubic feet per second, which is the figure contained in the recent Supreme court decree, based on present navigation needs in the port of Chicago. Mr. Carlstrom and Senator Deneen pointed out that the Supreme court in its decision recognized the power of congress to increase the diversion to meet navigation requirements.

The waterway diversion question was put forward as the chief issue affecting the Illinois waterway by Senator A. H. Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], who offered objections to the language of the bill as passed by the house on behalf of the attorneys general of the lake states.

Senator Vandenburg explained that while they asked for a maximum of 1,000 feet they were willing to accept 1,500 cubic second feet in view of the fixing of that figure in the Supreme court decision.

Brown Points to Costs.

Gen. Brown, in his letter, said that while it would be possible through complete canalization to operate the waterway with a diversion of as little as 1,000 cubic feet per second, the costs would mount with the reduction of the flow.

"It is my impression that satisfactory navigation can be secured in the Illinois waterway between Lockport and Utica with a flow of 1,000 cubic feet per second," said Gen. Brown.

"This flow would adequately provide for such lockage as the probable traffic will require. The waterway, however, has been designed as an eight foot channel with a flow of not less than 4,167 cubic feet per second and it is probable that additional locks might be required if the diversion from Lake Michigan be materially lessened. With the present diversion, 8,500 cubic feet per second, a nine foot channel is practicable.

Amount of Diversion Important.

"In the lower reach of the Illinois river the character of the improvement differs from that in the waterway section. This section will not be canalized, and the depth of water available in this section is to a great degree dependent upon the amount of diversion from Lake Michigan. Should the entire diversion be reduced to 1,000 cubic feet per second canalization will be necessary and control works with accompanying costs are necessary in inverse ratio to the quantity of diversion.

"I am not at all sure that the decree of the Supreme court recently handed down in the suit concerning diversion between the lake states and the Chicago sanitary district, in which the ultimate diversion was placed at 1,500 cubic feet per second, had anything whatever to do with the requirements of navigation. My opinion is that the decree of the Supreme court was a limitation on the diversion as a means of sewage disposal and was aimed at the authorities of the sanitary district of Chicago and not at the interests of navigation or the powers of congress in relation thereto.

"I am of the opinion that at this time no definite figure on the amount of diversion necessary for navigation should be stated and that future study of the completed waterway should be made to ascertain the quantity of water necessary for navigation. It is therefore recommended that any specific diversion be omitted from any authorizing legislation."

Discusses Effect on Lakes.

Gen. Brown commented on lake level conditions:

"The diversion at Chicago appears to have had no effect on lakes navigation since the latter part of the season of 1928 and none is anticipated during the season of 1930," he said.

"A fair estimate of the loss to commerce occasioned by the deficiency in depth between 1923 and 1927, due to the diversion at Chicago would be a very intricate and complicated problem. A diversion of 2,000 cubic feet per second will lower the level of Lakes Michigan and Huron approximately 1-10 of a foot and Lakes St. Clair and Erie .08 and .09 feet respectively. Such reduction in level would have slight effect, if any, upon the navigable capacity of the lakes."

GIRL, 17, IS CURED OF COMMUNISM BY 3 DAYS IN PRISON

New York, May 15.—(AP)—Charges of anarchy and disorderly conduct against May Miller, 17, were dismissed today after the girl had announced in court that three days in jail had "cured" her of communism. She was arrested while distributing to sailors, pamphlets exhorting the blue jackets to protest against their allegedly hard lot.

STATE O.K. ASKED FOR 120 MILLION SANITARY BONDS

Would Avoid Vote on Funds for Sewage Disposal.

Gov. Emmerson was urged to authorize the legislature in its special session to grant the sanitary district of Chicago the right to issue 120 million dollars in bonds in the next six years, in a resolution adopted by the board of trustees of the district yesterday. The vote on the resolution was unanimous.

Sewage disposal plants to be built with proceeds from the sale of such bonds have been ordered by the United States Supreme court as a condition upon which the diversion of water from Lake Michigan is allowed, the resolution pointed out.

This situation lifts the project from that of ordinary public construction, and consequently, it is stated in the resolution, the law requiring that sanitary district bonds should be approved in referenda by the voters should be suspended, and the bonds authorized to be issued and sold without referenda.

Nine Years for Completion.

Edward J. Kelly, chief engineer for the sanitary district, declared that an entire year of the nine years allowed by the Supreme court for the program to be completed would be wasted unless the legislature in the present special session allows the issuance of more bonds.

"We are prevented from letting the larger contracts for new plants," Mr. Kelly said, "because our present bonding power would be insufficient to complete payment on the contracts, and the law does not permit us to enter into contracts which we have not the financial ability to put through."

Trustee Ross Woodhull, chairman of the finance committee, said there was no longer any question of public policy in the program of the sanitary district.

"The Supreme court has spoken," he said, "and it has charted out the work which has to be done. Every minute of the nine years allowed should be usefully employed, so that maximum efficiency and economy may be attained.

Promptness Is Necessary.

"At present we have authority to sell $16,500,000 in bonds, and it may be argued we should dispose of these before asking more. But we have planned contractural obligations in excess of that amount which we cannot assume until we have legal authority to pay them."

Howard W. Elmore, president of the district, explaining his support of the resolution, said it was urgent that the work be done promptly.

"There is the further incentive we should consider in that at present money is cheap and employment conditions are bad. If the sanitary district program goes ahead promptly and actively we shall be providing employment for workmen, in accordance with the plans of President Hoover to relieve unemployment by the building of public works."

In order to comply with the requirements laid down by the Supreme court, the board's resolution stated, it will be necessary to issue and to sell bonds at the average rate of $20,000,000 annually for six years.

The city will be broke again on June 1, it was announced yesterday by C. S. Peterson, acting city controller.

FOREST PRESERVE BOARD CUTS 1930 BUDGET $3,767,366

The forest preserve board of county commissioners yesterday passed the 1930 forest preserve budget. The budget appropriates $10,776,634, which is $3,767,366 less than the 1929 budget of $14,544,000. The reduction was made in keeping with an economy program observed because of the financial press.

"We have cut the number of positions on the preserve staff, we are not observing automatic salary increases, and will not purchase as much land as we have in the past," President Cermak said. "I wish to call attention to the fact that the district, which is a separate tax levying body, is one of the only governments to show a surplus since the financial predicament hit Cook county. This is due to rigid economy and the fact that it operates on a cash basis."

REAL ESTATE DEALER CHARGED WITH SWINDLE

Warrants charging operation of a confidence game were issued yesterday by Judge John Sbarbaro in the Felony court for the arrest of Clyde L. Worthington, 554 Cherry street, Winnetka, a real estate dealer. He is charged in complaints made to Assistant State's Attorney William Rittenhouse with having swindled women by inducing them to invest with him on the pretense of paying large interest.

A warrant was also issued against Mrs. E. H. Freiburger, 2318 Ridgewood avenue, Highland Park, who, it is charged, persuaded one of the women to invest with Worthington. Mrs. Mary Thomas, 6132 North Paulina street, who, although 64 years old, now is compelled to work in a department store as a duster at $12 a week, is the heaviest loser, prosecutors said. She said she turned over her $12,500 home and $14,000 in bonds, according to authorities. Mrs. Freiburger, her cousin, persuaded her to make the investment, she charges.

Another loser, prosecutors say, is Mrs. H. Beringer, 5940 Mulligan avenue, who invested $16,000. Most of the investors are widows, it is reported.

New Kind of Salts Takes Country by Storm

They Revitalize the System—Induce Youthful Activity —Keep Body in Splendid Condition— Free From Fat

It doesn't take long for Americans to wake up to a good thing—only a few months ago Kruschen Salts were introduced into this country and the welcome news of their superior goodness and swift rejuvenating power traveled so fast that at one time the supply was many carloads behind the demand.

All of which goes to prove that Americans know good salts when they take them and want their friends to benefit also.

Kruschen Salts are taken for their health building value all over the world—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain today.

Kruschen Salts are different from other salts—Kruschen is six salts in one—the very same six salts that nature put into the human body at the beginning of creation and demands you keep them there or your health won't be as good as it should be.

Unlike most salts Kruschen isn't simply a laxative—if that's all you want any old kind of salts with any kind of label will do—but is that all you want?

When you take Kruschen Salts you not only stimulate your bowels, liver and kidneys to function naturally and perfectly, but you supply every internal organ, gland, nerve and fibre in the body with nature's own revitalizing and rejuvenating minerals.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85c at any drug store in America—take one half a teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—in just a few days indolence changes to activity and life grows brighter.

Before the bottle is empty you'll feel years younger—eyes will brighten—step grow sprightlier—nerves steadier—you'll sleep sound, enjoy your meals and after a hard day's work you'll be ready for some recreation—one million Americans know all this—ask your druggist.

PLEA FOR DIME UNVEILS ANCIENT POLICE MYSTERY

Bum Tells How Woman Freed Notorious Thug.

An 18 year old police mystery that developed from the $272,000 safe blowing job at the Bank of Montreal branch at New Westminster, B. C., and involving the former Lieut. Bernard J. Burns of the Maxwell street station, was partly solved yesterday in unexpected fashion.

Burns, now dead, had assigned himself to capture singlehanded two members of the gang reported to be in Chicago with $150,000 of the loot. For weeks in his off hours, disguised as a railroad conductor, he had been loafing in places which it was believed they would frequent. One of these was the saloon of James Sidias, 1149 South Wabash avenue. Sidias had told his attorney they had given him $10,000.

Burns Finds Big Charley.

Collaborating with Burns was his station commander, Capt. John J. Malloney. The latter received information that on a certain night one Big Charley would be at Sidias' bar. He relayed it to Burns, but said nothing to John McWeeney, then chief, or to Herman F. Schuettler, assistant chief. Big Charley, for whom a reward of $7,500 had been posted, was there when Burns walked in. It is what happened then that constitutes the mystery.

Burns' story was that there were two of them; that before he could draw his gun, they had overpowered him, pummeling and kicking him insensible. They escaped. Burns and Malloney were tried by the civil service commission on charges of inefficiency and neglect and discharged.

Sergeant Meets a Bum.

At 7 o'clock yesterday morning Sergt. Thomas Connolly of the detective bureau, leaving his home at 2737 Kenmac avenue to go to work, was accosted by an aged, weather beaten bum, thus:

"Got a dime for a cup of coffee, buddy?"

He took him to the bureau. He was not remained of the once internationally notorious Big Charley; alias John W. Harris, the holdup; alias J. P. Montague, the burglar and safecracker; alias W. M. St. Clair, suspected of a dozen major bank jobs.

Learns Burns Is Dead.

"I've not eaten for two days," said Big Charley, now calling himself Joe Burgess, when he and Connolly arrived at the bureau. They got him a meal. After he had eaten Chief of Detectives John Egan and others questioned him. He would not discuss the incident in Sidias' saloon until he learned Burns was dead.

"Here's the truth," he said. "There weren't two men in the place. There was only me—and my girl, 'Pretty Kitty Kelley.'

"Well Burns put the rod on me when he entered the rear room to sit down for a glass of beer. I stuck up my hands. Burns was getting ready to put the bracelets on me when Pretty Kitty—he hadn't paid any attention to her—beaned him with a piano stool. He dropped and she let him have it a couple more times before I could stop her. I reckon Burns framed that story of his because if it had got out a woman had bested him he would have been the laughing stock of the town."

"Just an Old Ham Now."

"And how about the New Westminster job?" asked Capt. Egan.

"I don't know nothing about it," grinned Big Charley.

U. S. LINES CONSIDER PLANS FOR AIRPLANE DECKS ON BIG LINERS

Buffalo, N. Y., May 15.—(AP)—Plans for trans-Atlantic liners equipped with airplane landing decks and launching catapults are being discussed by the United States lines, M. B. Rodgers, vice president of the organization, told the second national airport conference of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America tonight. Speaking at a banquet, Mr. Rodgers said:

"The United States lines consider the coördination of air and ocean service of vital importance, and we expect to reduce the time for transportation of important mails from the United States to Europe by from one to two days."

CAR LINES BALK OUTER DRIVE JOB, WRIGHT CHARGES

A charge that the construction of the $10,000,000 outer drive and link bridge project is destined for a serious setback because of the attitude of the Chicago Surface Lines was made last night by Warren Wright, president of the Lincoln park board. The surface lines, he said, are presenting an obstacle to the construction work by their refusal to remove the double line of tracks running parallel to and just east of Lake Shore drive between Chicago avenue and Navy pier.

The tracks occupy the park space illegally, according to Mr. Wright. Demands have been made upon officials of the company to remove them, he said, but they have refused, and insisted that the company is within its legal rights, disclaiming knowledge of any agreement made in 1920 to remove the tracks after the Pageant of Progress.

Rehearing Asked in Petition.

A petition calling for an order for the track removal was pressed by the park board before the Illinois commerce commission recently, but dismissed, he said. There is now pending before the commission a petition for a rehearing, which has been set for argument on May 27.

"The attitude of the street car company," said Mr. Wright, "is certainly not in accord with public sentiment and the program of the Lincoln park board and the Chicago plan commission for beautifying Chicago.

"The public has waited long and patiently for this outer drive improvement, which is not only expected to facilitate the movement of through traffic between the north and south sides but is intended to beautify our shore line as well. It may now be necessary to delay this important work because of the obstacles placed in our way by the surface lines.

Sees Menace to Autoists.

"The presence of these tracks paralleling the outer drive will not only detract from this great improvement but will naturally result in congestion of traffic at this point, thereby causing a menace to the safety of many thousands of motorists."

A bottle neck will be created by the presence of the tracks, according to Mr. Wright, by reducing the width of Lake Shore drive from 100 feet to about 70 feet between Chicago avenue and Huron street.

The tracks in question were laid under an ordinance passed by the city council in 1920 in order to provide transportation to Navy pier during the Pageant of Progress. Members of the park board at that time verbally acquiesced in the council action, William H. Beckman, attorney for the park board, said, but he added that there was a gentlemen's agreement that the grant was of a temporary nature and that the tracks were to be removed by the traction company at the end of the pageant.

14 Yale Men Suspended; 16 More Are Disciplined

New Haven, Conn., May 15.—(AP)—Thirty undergraduates in Yale college today were disciplined by Dean Clarence W. Mendell for participating in the disturbance of last Thursday night, when hundreds of students clashed with police in the university section.

Fourteen students, of whom twelve are seniors, were suspended from recitations for the rest of the college year and sixteen were denied dormitory privileges for next year. The students' body will also have to pay for the damage done to police uniforms.

Franklin Motor Car Co. Head Is Injured in Crash

Springfield, O., May 15.—(AP)—H. H. Franklin of Syracuse, N. Y., president of the Franklin Motor Car company, suffered fractures of his jaw and nose in an automobile accident near South Charleston, Clark county, today. He was taken to a Columbus hospital.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION: HOW IT WORKS IN ILLINOIS.

A correspondent from Franklin county writes as follows:

"What are you afraid of? Do you think that if you don't get reapportionment we are going to make your income taxes pay all the bills of the state of Illinois? Well, even if we did you'd hardly know the difference. Remember that the state government takes only 7 per cent of the property taxes—real and personal, both—collected in the state. You can see from that that if we did our worst it wouldn't amount to a hill of beans."

And a correspondent from Chicago writes:

"I agree that we should have a reapportionment, but why can't it wait until after the tax amendment has been passed? The greater need, it seems to me, is for the tax amendment, which would lift some of the burden off owners of real estate. While real estate values are being deflated all around us real estate is bearing the major burden of the costs of government. We owners must have relief in a hurry, or we will be foreclosed."

The gentleman from Franklin county is dealing in half-truths. It is true that the state's share of the general property tax is only 7 per cent of the total property tax collection, but the property tax is only one of numerous sources of taxation which enrich the state treasury. There are also the taxes on corporations, on inheritances, on gasoline, and on motor cars, to mention only the more important items. The property tax brought to the state treasury in the last typical year, 1927, $34,400,000, which was only 40 per cent of the total revenue of the state of nearly $86,000,000.

The reason that as little as 7 per cent of the property tax revenue goes to the state government is that downstate has to pay a sizable share of that amount, though downstate's share is not proportionate to its population. In the absence of the new census figures reliance must be had upon the estimates for 1928 of the census bureau, which show Chicago with 42 per cent of the total population of Illinois. Chicago's share of the general property tax contribution to the state's revenues is 54 per cent. Chicagoans pay more than they should, but not as much more as the downstaters would like. Therefore new taxes have been devised which bear more heavily upon Cook county.

The tendency is plainly shown in the newer taxes for state purposes. In 1927 no less than 76 per cent of the $5,600,000 paid in inheritance taxes to the state treasury came from Cook county. In 1928 the proportion was almost exactly 70 per cent. If the inheritance tax payments from Lake county (where many wealthy Chicagoans have their legal residences) be added the figures for the two years are, respectively, 80 and 81 per cent.

The gasoline taxes furnish a somewhat similar picture. These taxes have been collected primarily for the benefit of downstate communities, which want good roads but don't want to pay for them. Because of the manner in which they are collected it is difficult and, indeed, impossible to estimate with any great accuracy how much of the money comes out of Cook county. It is assumed that Cook county pays the proportion of the tax which the number of automobiles in Cook county bears to the number in the state. Probably the consumption of gasoline in Cook county is considerably larger than this proportion would indicate, because of the heavy consumption by taxicabs, motor buses, and commercial trucking fleets. At any rate, Cook county is assumed to pay some 40 per cent of the total. In the past it has received in return something like 5 per cent of the roads, though the need for road building in the vicinity of the metropolis is greatest, and at last reports rather less than 10 per cent of the contracts for new construction which had been let this year were for roads in Cook county. Cook thus pays 40 per cent, and under an administration which is assumed to be benign in its attitude toward Chicago we have been given 10 per cent of the new roads. What is true of the gasoline taxes is true, of course, to the same degree, in the distribution of the motor license fees.

The financial reports of the state make it difficult to determine the proportions of the corporation taxes which are taken from Chicago. Some estimates run as high as 90 per cent. Perhaps this is excessive. Downstate legislators are invited to produce the precise figure if they care to. As it goes. Because Chicago is underrepresented in the legislature Chicagoans have been forced to accept taxation schemes which oppress the city mag and bear lightly upon the residents of the smaller communities and the farms. When the great need was for roads a means was found of making Chicago pay for them. If an income tax is adopted without a reapportionment of the legislature it is as certain as anything can be that the relatively slight burden of state expenses now borne by the population downstate will be further lightened.

The government's income tax records are enlightening in this connection. In 1927, the last year for which the facts are available, it appears that of the 378,000 individual income tax returns filed in Illinois no less than 77 per cent were the returns of residents of Cook county. This is the measure of the incidence of a state income tax.

"What are you afraid of?" our correspondent asks in reference to a state income tax. Two things. First, that we shall be called upon to bear an even more disproportionate share of the state's expenses if it is enacted, and, second, that, as the delightful fact that Chicago can be made to pay nearly all the costs of state government is learned downstate, the expenses of state government will be enhanced. We have seen how the money from the road funds is distributed. Why not tax Chicago more heavily to support schools downstate? Education is expensive. Why not saddle a larger share of that cost upon Chicago? Chicago has paid for much of the hard road construction throughout the state. Why should not Chicago pay for building strictly local roads as well? Why not, indeed. The income tax, without a reapportionment to protect Chicago from its misuse, is an invitation to downstate legislators to do their best, or their worst, depending upon the point of view. Any one who expects them to show reasonable restraint is trusting, indeed.

Which brings us back to the remarks of the Chicago correspondent who pleads for relief from real estate taxes first, before there has been a reapportionment. Without a reapportionment there is every reason to fear that Cook county will be given little, if any, relief in the property taxes and handed an income tax in the bargain. If this seems fanciful we recommend a rereading of the sections of this editorial dealing with the division of the costs of government between Cook county and the rest of the state as they stand now.

A VOTE ON THE ILLINOIS PROHIBITION LAW.

In his testimony before the senate committee investigating lobbies Mr. F. Scott McBride of the Anti-Saloon league said:

"There were 200,000 less wet votes in Chicago in 1926 than in 1922, showing that if we have a few more referendums in Illinois it will be unanimously dry even in Chicago."

Mr. McBride seems to want another referendum, and he ought to have it. He speaks for the organized drys. The wets, organized and unorganized, will welcome the opportunity to test their strength. The issue may well be the repeal of the state search and seizure act. All that is needed to bring about such a test is an act of the next legislature repealing the search and seizure law, subject to the approval of a majority of the voters of the state at a general election.

There could then be no question of the meaning of the vote in the referendum. The drys have maintained that they were defeated in previous tests because they counseled their supporters not to vote. They could afford to do so because nothing was at stake. The questions submitted were merely expression of opinion on public policy, with no change in the law of the state or the nation to flow from a victory for the wets. Opponents of prohibition have always contended that the dry interpretation is merely an alibi prepared for the event. The debate has continued intermittently for years. It is time the issue were settled as it can be only if the referendum is taken on a question of real importance, which will enlist the full strength of the opposing sides.

Does the majority in Illinois favor prohibition? If so, it will vote to sustain the state prohibition law. Is the majority opposed to prohibition? Then it will vote to repeal the law, as New York and other states have done. Citizens who hold one view or the other but do not vote will be aiding the opposition, and there can therefore be no question of an organized effort on either side to disregard the referendum.

This kind of test should be particularly welcome to the drys. They will have the votes not only of the confirmed prohibitionists but also of those who, though opposed to national prohibition, will favor the state law as long as the national law remains in force. The dry vote, accordingly, should be somewhat larger than it might otherwise be and the wet vote somewhat smaller. If Mr. McBride is sincere in his opinion that Illinois is predominantly dry, here is his chance to silence the opposition for years to come.

With more than half a million people by the new census, Milwaukee leaves the big little town as well as the little big town class to become one of the first dozen cities in America. This at least is the hope of Milwaukee statisticians.

The west and south shores of the lake are now encrusted with an urban growth across nearly two degrees of latitude. With the extension of Milwaukee toward Chicago this growth will be consolidated. The boulevard along the outer shore from Gary, Ind., through Chicago to Milwaukee, the hourly flying schedules and new stations will even more facilitate the growth of the northern town. Chicago and Milwaukee are competitors no longer. The growth of one brings more growth to the other.

Size no doubt means little in the real values of a great community. But size along with good government and wholesome living, which have made Milwaukee famous, is no mean achievement. Milwaukee is on the way to be a model town.

BOTTLES.

[Peoria Star.]

The Supreme court of the United States in effect says that if you have a bottle of a certain shape that it is your intention to put whisky in it and perhaps intend to sell that whisky. And this being true, it holds that it is unlawful to manufacture bottles. The public has come to designate certain small glasses as whisky glasses. Why not designate them as carbolic acid glasses or pepper glasses or water glasses? By what right does any one designate any sort of glass as designed to hold any particular liquid? By the same line of reasoning it would be possible to indict the farmer who grows corn which is made into corn sugar, indict the manufacturer who makes the corn sugar and the grocer who sells it because at some time and place some one has manufactured alcohol from corn sugar. If the authorities are to be allowed to impute anything they wish to any individual it will be possible to indict the whole nation and President Hoover's request for more jails will become pertinent to the nth degree. If we impute enough we can send everybody to jail, and then, and not until then, will we have complete and absolute prohibition.

Grew strong: "The Lord our God the Lord is One!"
An unextinguishable glory hid the sun
And Israel wept no more, for Israel heard.

LET BOIL BOIL OVER.

DR. LEONARD WILLIAMS thinks any man who lances a boil should be shot at sunrise. A man who cuts one out should be boiled in oil. This is the substance of his advice, though not his language, nor is it correct as to details.

A boil lances itself. The ferments produced by the cocci liquefy the tissues around them, forming liquid pus. Given time, they liquefy to the surface and thus open the boil spontaneously. Opening by knife is premature and does harm. The cut goes through uninfected tissue and opens blood and lymph vessels that they may spread the infection. This may not be true if the boil has come to a head and is about to break.

Another cardinal sin in treating boils is to poultice them. The hot, moist mush or meat spreads infection. Secondary boils around the primary fellow is the rule when treatment has been by poulticing.

A third sin, productive of equal or greater harm, is squeezing a boil. Squeezing forces the infection into healthy surrounding tissue. It may cause it to get into lymph vessels and blood vessels and to be widely disseminated.

Having bawled out three common practices, Dr. Williams tells how he treats boils. In the first place, he uses just as little local treatment as possible. He may apply a protective pad to spare the boil from being rubbed or otherwise injured. He may apply glycerin and ichthyol compress. When the boil has opened he promotes drainage, but without pressure. He believes in the use of vaccines against boils. If he has had any experience with the boil phage he does not menflon it. This phage is supplied by some health departments, and it is for sale in the drug stores that handle biologic products. He says he has had good results with diphtheria antitoxin given for boils, though he does not try to explain.

He advises persons with crops of boils to regulate their diet; to start with a short fast, followed by a period of dieting in which sugars and starches are limited. In his British experience, drinking champagne has been highly productive of boils. It is forbidden. The regular diet should be rich in vitamins.

MEDICINE WILL NOT CURE.

J. T. writes: My father, 64 years old, was operated for gall stones. They could not remove the gall bladder, hence they made a drainage. He is well since then, having a very good appetite, digesting very well, sleeping well. But his wound is distilling since fourteen months ago, my mother being compelled to make three or four large dressings a day for that bile. Whenever it stops he feels bad, having chills and sometimes vomiting. But nevertheless he is growing fat. Could you please tell me if it will ever stop draining? I am told there is medicine to cure this.

REPLY.

Why not let his gall bladder continue draining externally? He might be worse off.

This wound could be closed by operation. Taking medicine will not cure it. Why not let the drainage continue? Why jump from the frying pan into the fire?

SELDOM TAKES A LIFE.

E. G. writes: Can a person who has had Bright's disease for six or seven years be entirely cured?

If a person had been in bed for several months, would he be able to get up and resume his usual tasks without danger of a serious setback or serious injury to his health?

REPLY.

Chronic Bright's disease is a mild disorder with no great tendency to destroy life. That is the rule.

Whether the person you have in mind is an exception, I do not know.

AS GOOD AS ANY OTHER.

M. P. writes: Is sulphur and molasses as good to take as any of the other spring tonics? Is it advisable to take it without a physician's recommendation? Would you see a doctor and have him prescribe personally?

REPLY.

It is as good as some. Nobody thinks of getting a prescription for molasses and sulphur.

The really effective spring tonics are fresh spring vegetables and fruits. The home grown kind is the best of all.

NO HARM IN PROPER USE.

A. B. C. writes: What are the advantages and disadvantages of taking thyroid-ovarian tablets indefinitely, after the menopause?

REPLY.

Given properly no harm will be done. On the contrary, used properly, they are very serviceable.

IN CASE OF BENEFICIARY'S DEATH

Chicago, May 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In making a will, where bequests are made to certain relatives without mentioning heirs and assigns, what would happen if any such beneficiaries were to die before the testator? Would the bequests go to the heirs of such beneficiaries or would they become void? A. L.

In general the death of the main beneficiary causes the bequest to lapse and this would hold true even though the words "and his heirs" appear after the name. Such words would be regarded as merely descriptive of the nature of the estate that the named person would take.

NO MONEY TO MEET JUDGMENT.

Chicago, May 12.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A judgmept has been taken against me for one month's rent. I have failed to file schedule of my property. Can unpaid furniture be taken to pay for the judgment? I am not working so have no money to pay. J. M.

If there is a valid recorded chattel mortgage or if the furniture was sold on a conditional sale contract, then the right of the vender would be superior to that of the judgment creditor.

STUDY CLASS UNSATISFACTORY.

Chicago, May 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I enrolled and signed a contract for a literary study class for a period of three years; they to supply the books and a university teacher. They changed the class night, also the teacher was irregular in attending the classes. I sent the books back. They are now demanding full payment. Can they hold me for payment of the books, which they have not returned, and also for the class study? F. Q.

If you can prove that their changes and irregularity amounted to substantial breaches of the contract, you would be released. Much depends upon the wording of the contract. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 16, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—A new amnesty proclamation will be issued within a day or two by President Johnson. It will announce the final determination of the government as to who shall be released from accountability for participation in the rebellion and who will be held to answer for their crimes. It will come before the cabinet meeting tomorrow for final action.

THE NEWS.—Our dispatches give a very full synopsis of the evidence in the assassination conspiracy before the military commission at Washington. Much of this evidence was introduced to show the intimacy existing between Booth and the prisoners Arnold and O'Laughlin, both in Washington and Baltimore, and much of it is crushing against Spangler. In the meantime another of the prisoners, Jefferson Davis, is on his way from Georgia to Washington. As his name is included in the indictment he will probably take his place with the rest of the conspirators on trial. It is understood that he is coming on in petticoats, just as he was taken, in which event his place, of course, will be at the table with Mrs. Surratt, unless the latter should object to the presence of such a poltroon beside her.

NEW YORK.—Commenting on the capture of Jeff Davis, the Tribune hopes he will be tried for complicity in the murder of President Lincoln. The Times, World, Post, and Advertiser think he will be tried for treason, and hope it will be done in a civil court. The Times' Washington special says: "Instructions have been sent to Gen. Wilson to forward Davis, petticoats and all, to Savannah, and bring him thence by water to Washington."

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of the Interior Usher retired and Mr. Harland assumed the position.

NEW YORK.—The Nashville special to the Times says that the rebel governor of Georgia was brought there a prisoner, and left for Louisville.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY.

MAY 16, 1900.

LONDON.—All England is holding its breath for news from Mafeking, but late advices are extremely meager. The Boer reports tell of a fierce assault on the town on May 12, which started with artillery and wound up in a fight at close quarters. The result is not given, so it is believed the garrison is again able to hold its own. Gen. Buller continues to make progress in Natal. Yesterday he reported that he occupied Dundee, when the Boers, 2,500 strong, fell back to Glencoe and there entrained, going in the direction of Laing's Nek.

HELENA, Mont. — W. A. Clark, practically expelled from the seat given him in the United States senate by the Montana legislature, because members of that body were bribed in his support, will ask for membership in the upper house on the appointment of the lieutenant governor of Montana. Today Senator Clark announced in the senate that he had sent his resignation to the governor of his state. Tonight the coup developed when he was appointed by Acting Gov. Spriggs to fill the vacancy created by the resignation.

CHICAGO.—In a fire that destroyed the Hotel Helene, 110 53d street, early this morning, one woman guest received fatal injuries and four dining room girls, who are missing, are believed to have perished. The hotel, in a building formerly known as "Flood hall," and named after Dr. Ramsey Flood, was occupied by 100 guests. Many of the guests were injured by fire or by jumping from windows to escape.

CHICAGO.—Willie Collier, the actor, read the burial service over the body of Frederick Grosvenor Stanley, friend of actors and man about town, in Graceland cemetery, and conducted the full funeral rites usually enacted by an Episcopal rector. The layman became the clergyman because a request that he officiate at the burial failed to reach the Rev. Thaddeus A. Snively, rector of St. Chrysostom's church, and other Episcopalian ministers could not be found. After a two hour wait Mrs. Stanley asked that Mr. Collier conduct the services.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The railroads of the country have asked the interstate commerce commission to take over supervision of traffic in order to relieve the car shortage, which they admit is menacing, due to restricted building of equipment during the war. In a petition filed by the Association of Railway Executives the commission is urged to assume, under authority granted in the emergency section of the transportation act, control of the transportation of food, fuel, and other vital commodities by exercising the priority system. In reality this is a plea to pool the freight traffic of the country, as was done in wartime.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Knox peace resolution repealing the declaration of war against Germany and Austria was adopted by the senate by a vote of 43 to 38.

SOILED BUT NICE.

Chicago, May 10.—I agree heartily with the young lady that voiced her sentiments regarding the disgusting styles for women this spring. The article was captioned correctly "Nighties in the Daytime." With their shapelessness, ridiculous length, and belt to be tied directly under the bust, they resemble night robes more than street attire.

The styles the last winter were so absurd that I didn't buy one new garment; so I started out this week with high hopes of replenishing a depleted wardrobe. I had been encouraged by articles printed to the effect that the spring dresses would be simple, chic and a desirable length. I visited shops without number, all with the same result—ridiculous, overdone long dresses, all designed alike, for women of one hundred pounds or less, not a bit of individuality about any of them. I weigh one hundred and thirty-five pounds and am fairly tall and was told by the clerks that I was too heavy for the new spring gowns.

Finally a shopkeeper showed me a line of dresses left over from last spring and summer's stock and, while soiled, they were just what I wanted—plain, simple, cool, and a length just below the knee. I breathed a sigh of relief and purchased those he had in my size. After having them cleaned, thank heavens, I will be all set.

I am sure it doesn't help the sale of wearing apparel to have a lot of clothing on display that the average girl refuses to wear. "Disgusted" says—"go after the situation like you would prohibition." I say go after it stronger or we girls will be obliged to don barrels or bathing suits as we will not be decked out as in civil war days.

PRACTICAL GIRL.

IS ONE WEEK ENOUGH?

Chicago, May 11.—It is gratifying to hear a voice opening war upon the present styles in dress for women. They are monstrosities, and yet we accept them, perhaps because there is no other choice. They give the appearance of yards and yards of silk, lace, chiffon, or what have you, draped upon the person, regardless. A string tied about the waist gives the effect of a bundle of discarded clothes tied ready for the old clothes man. There isn't a line that suggests the intelligent thought of the day. Our motors, airplanes, homes, business, everything, in fact, is built for speed, grace, utility, eliminating every superfluous motion or weight. Woman's dress should express the same thoughtful intelligence while holding to beauty of material, color, line, and utility.

Ask any woman or man, and the answer will be very much the same. That the dresses are hideous.

Please devote this column for one week to an expression on this subject from Chicago women. O. M. M.

ANOTHER TELEPHONE BILL.

Chicago, May 13.—In view of Mrs. Robert Herring's letter which appeared in this column the other morning, I would like to put in a word of praise for the telephone company. Several weeks ago I was unable to pay a telephone bill which the collector left me due to the fact that my pay days were irregular. I expected that my service would be denied seven days from the date of the bill, but instead, one of the clerks called me on the seventh day and reminded me of the due date, which I thought was very considerate of the company. I explained that I was unable to make the payment at that time but that I would appreciate an extension of time until the next week. After consulting my past record the clerk politely informed me that it would be satisfactory to make the payment during the following week.

I think that this was mighty white of the telephone company and I'd like to know what there is to kick about with service like that. MARGARET HELEN.

TRANSFUSION RECOMMENDED.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 14.—In reading your editorial, "Mr. Stimson's Navy Treaty," I am recalling another [illegible] read several months ago which discussed the ancestry of most of our [illegible]ators. They all pointed with pride [illegible] the English blood in their veins. In view of the fact that Mr. Stimson [illegible] back with less than nothing I should think a little blood transfusion would do him any harm. Neither would it hurt our senators. C. W. LOEB.

MR. STIMSON'S NAVAL TREATY.

Chicago, May 14.—In your editorial today I see you fail to appreciate [illegible] that Mr. Stimson & Co. have done [illegible] this country while at the London naval conference. Don't you think America is lucky to be where she is today? Don't you think America is lucky to be even asked to join such a conference? Do you really think Great Britain worries over this country's progress? Don't you know that American power and prosperity is really just a flash in the pan?

My dear sir, you should not want America to be the first power in the world. America would not know how to handle such power. Mr. Stimson did what he was told while in London. He got all that was coming to America, therefore you should appreciate him.

There would never have needed to be conferences if the U. S. A. had entered the world war in 1914. She would have had no ships to bother about now. By seeing the war made this country a by robbing all the nations that fought for her, well, I guess Mr. Stimson's naval treaty is good enough for the U. S. A. So the treaty is not misnamed after all.

CONSTANT READER.

MEETING A CRISIS.

Chicago, May 12.—Why can't I have my malt and hops? I am a hard working man. I make near beer, the same contents as the brewery does. Still it was refused by all department stores they would not sell. I have no beer for I make near beer for me and my family. It is a beverage the same as real beer, ginger ale, etc., so what is the racket? Let the breweries get rich as the other soft drink concerns. Well, by gosh, I will not let any one of my family have ice cream, or candy, or any soda drink from now on. I also will fire the milk man. From now on, I will buy moonshine and make all the family drink it, and they said, "Yes, pa, we will drink moonshine with you; we will fight fire with fire, let the chips fall where they may." We haven't got long to live, anyway, and when the drys take our little refreshments away from honest, hard working people, then it is time to lie down and die. CLARENCE PAGE.

LOOK ON MY WORKS.

Chicago, May 12.—Your editorial on the billboard nuisance stirs memories of a great hubbub in London many years ago over the same subject, and the rumpus at that time and place goes to show that America does not take the cake in this regard. The bill poster row in dear old England was concerning the exploit of a London shoe blacking factory which had the audacity to advertise its product with a big poster on the pyramids of Egypt. After much agitation and public excitement the Hop Holborn factory abandoned its vaulting ambition and pulled its posters down.

JAMES CORWELL.

AMERICANS ABROAD.

Chicago, May 13.—Good for Frank Hurst in expressing the truth that many American tourists abroad are objectionable. She doesn't put it strongly enough. I spent three months in Europe in 1927 and recognized Americans half a block away, not necessarily by their dress, but certainly by their actions and voices.

We are loud, and really we do think we are so smart, but we are just plain common, and disappointing to the natives. H. STANTON.

FIRST 355 YEARS THE HARDEST FOR OLDEST U. S. CITY

St. Augustine Reports 92% Population Gain.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—The census taker's tally today revealed the modern status of three of America's most historic cities—St. Augustine, Fla., Plymouth, Mass., and Alexandria, Va.

St. Augustine and Alexandria showed marked increases, but Plymouth decreased .005 per cent.

A fourth city, Henry Ford's Dearborn, very new, but specializing in accumulating and reproducing ancient Americana, showed the second highest percentage of increase of any city of more than 10,000 population thus far reporting.

Dearborn, totaling 50,060, increased by 1,926.7 per cent over its 1920 population of 2,470, coming closest thus far to Beverly Hills' record of 2,485 per cent.

The first 355 years may have been hardest for St. Augustine, oldest city in the United States, for it almost doubled its population in the last ten years, with a 11,930 population to show in this year of its 365th birthday. Its gain was 5,738 persons—92.6 per cent.

Plymouth's 1930 population was 12,988, as compared to 13,045 in 1920.

30,883 ARE COUNTED AT BLOOMINGTON, ILL., BY CENSUS TAKERS

Bloomington, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—The population of Bloomington announced today as 30,883 against 28,725 in 1920. The suspension of the coal mine and loss of several other industries are reasons given for the small increase.

Mattoon Shows Increase.

Champaign, Ill., May 15.—(AP)—L. R. Zech, supervisor of the census in the 19th district, today announced figures for Mattoon and Charleston. Mattoon is credited with 15,620, an increase of 15 per cent, and Charleston's population was put at 8,004, a gain of 21 per cent over the 1920 count.

ELMWOOD PARK GAINS 9,769 IN CENSUS REPORT

Elmwood Park is in the front rank of Chicago suburbs showing rapid growth in population since the 1920 census, according to figures made public yesterday by J. R. Malmquist, census supervisor for the Fourth Illinois district.

His figures showed the suburb to have a population of 11,149, while the 1920 census tabulation gave the population as 1,138. This represents a gain of 9,769 in ten years. The village is bounded roughly by North avenue, Belmont avenue, the 8800 block on the west and the 7200 block on the east. There are several new subdivisions in the district.

Mr. Malmquist's figures showed Norwood township, which includes the state hospital, to have a population of 5,645. This includes the hospital's 3,889 patients. This district was not shown separately in the 1920 census, making comparison impossible.

GARNER WANTS TEXAS DIVIDED INTO 5 STATES

Would Give South Eight More Senators.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—Representative John Garner [Dem., Tex.], minority leader of the house, today evolved a scheme to increase the power of the south in the senate and in national elections. He proposed that the Texas legislature avail itself of its privilege of cutting up that state into five states, which would mean eight new senators and eight additional electoral votes. The right to divide the state into not to exceed five states, Mr. Garner pointed out, was reserved to the Texas legislature when congress annexed Texas.

"The Mason and Dixon line has for many years been, and will be for years to come, the line of political cleavage, due to economic and industrial conditions," said Representative Garner. "The North Atlantic area, by reason of the fact it is divided into a group of small states, has, year after year, held the senate balance of power.

Cites Tariff Pressure.

"No better criterion of the political power wielded by New England and Pennsylvania can be set out than the Hawley-Smoot and the Fordney-McCumber tariff bills, both of which could have been modified in favor of the south if the Democrats had eight additional votes in the senate."

"Texas, the largest state, has an area of 265,398 square miles, and is approximately 70 per cent larger than its nearest competitor, California, which has an area of 158,297 square miles," said Mr. Garner. "If the state were divided equally into five states, each would have an area of 53,175 square miles, or approximately the same as Arkansas.

Plenty of Population.

"With an estimated population of 5,600,000, Texas ranks fifth among the states, being exceeded by New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio. An equal division into five states would give each state a population of 1,200,000, and in this respect the Texas subdivisions would rank with such states as Maryland, Colorado, Florida, Nebraska, Washington, and West Virginia.

GUNMEN IN AUTO FIRE ON DRYS IN ROCKFORD RAID

Eight Chicago prohibition agents, led by Deputy Administrator C. Edson Smith, were fired upon with machine guns during a raid on a still at Rockford yesterday.

The drys were entering the house at 1209 Clover avenue, when an automobile carrying several men swept by. The occupants opened fire and seventeen bullet marks were found on the building afterwards. The agents scurried behind trees and returned the fire. No one was hit.

A 2,000 gallon alcohol still valued at $50,000 was found in the building. In three other raids during the day at Rockford the drys found a 500 gallon still at 715 Dickerman street, a small still at 1214 South Main street, and one of 300 gallons daily capacity at 1219 Morgan street. Only two prisoners were taken in the raids, these being seized at the Morgan street address.

CONTRACT LET FOR FIRST OF FAIR BUILDINGS

The contract for the erection of the first building for the Century of Progress exposition was awarded yesterday to the James B. French company. Charles S. Peterson, vice president of the 1933 fair organization, signed the agreement in the presence of Maj. L. R. Lour, manager of the fair, and Daniel H. Burnham, secretary and director, at a meeting in the exposition headquarters

Excavation for the structure, which will be used as an administration building and will cost over $200,000, will be started this morning, Mr. French said. The building is to be east of the outer drive and will face the plaza between the Field museum and Soldiers' field. It was indicated that at the end of the fair the building will be retained as an administration building for the south park board.

ALDERMEN WILL MAKE CHANGES IN CAR FRANCHISE

Amendments to Committee Monday Morning.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A meeting of the council local transportation committee will be held on Monday morning to make suggested changes in the proposed indeterminate transit franchise. The expected amendments are technical and will come from Joseph J. Sullivan and William Hapeman, special assessment lawyers, who desire to avoid conflict in this franchise with the local improvement act.

No other changes in the franchise are to be made. Four groups interested in extensions hope to have the improvements they desire placed in the ordinance. The South Chicago Chamber of Commerce desires that the southeastern extension be placed definitely in South Chicago avenue instead of being optional between that route and the Baltimore and Ohio right of way. A constituency in the vicinity of 79th and Halsted streets has asked that the Normal Park branch of the "L" be extended southward. Still another group has been working to obtain an extension to Roseland instead of stopping at 95th street. Various other requests have been made.

Bowler Asks More Extensions.

Ald. James B. Bowler, chairman of the council subcommittee on the transit ordinance, for three days has been asking the companies for more extensions.

"They decline to commit themselves to a larger expenditure than $200,000,000 in the first 10 years," explained Ald. Bowler yesterday. "They argue that that sum, on top of $260,000,000 now invested in the surface and elevated lines, is an enormous amount; and they refuse to make promises which they think may not be fulfilled.

"It seems impossible to please every one, but I heartily indorse the plan of not bunking the people. Some of those desiring more extensions than can be promised do not appreciate the extent to which the $200,000,000 will improve transportation."

Wants Surface Lines to Pay.

To date the aldermen have shown little opposition to the ordinance, although there are three or four who are said to want some changes in it. Among the critics is Ald. John S. Clark, who desires to make the surface lines pay for sweeping the streets.

"I hope Clark springs that at the council meeting Monday," commented one alderman yesterday. "Street cars do not litter the streets. Most of the refuse in the streets comes from trucks which scatter crushed stone, coal, and excavated refuse, cinders, and garbage on the pavements. Clark, as chairman of the finance committee, should have had a bill before the legislature which would put a penalty on such dirt scattering trucks. Then the city would not need so many street sweepers."

Amendments Are Expected.

Ald. Arthur F. Albert is expected to offer several amendments to the ordinance. Two other councilmen may criticize it, proponents of the ordinance believe.

City hall observers predict that the ordinance will be passed. The only difference of opinion relates to the number of votes it will receive. Ald. Maypole predicted yesterday it would receive 45 or 46 votes; Ald. Sloan estimated 43; Ald. J. B. Bowler forecast between 43 and 46; Ald. Seif said 42; Ald. Moran guessed "more than 40"; Ald. Wilson forecast 45 or 46; and Ald. Massen "around 44 to 46." The council has 50 members and it is expected there will be a perfect attendance for the vote on the ordinance on Monday if the members who are going to the Kentucky Derby return in time.

3 FAMILIES CLAIM DEAD MEXICAN AIR ACE AS CLOSEST KIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, May 15.—While the body of Col. Pablo L. Sidar, Mexican air ace, is on the way home by plane, three different families have come forward to claim direct relationship, each apparently impelled to act by the glory which has descended upon the dead aviator.

Consuelo Carttus, common law wife of Col. Sidar and the mother of his two children, declares the family of Col. Sidar resides in Burgos, Spain. The Larriva family, with whom Col. Sidar maintained the closest relations, declares Col. Sidar is a son of Frederico Larriva, who died recently, by his first marriage and that Col. Sidar took the name of his mother.

Simon del Bosque of Saltillo maintains that Col. Sidar is his son and was taken to war while still a boy by Gen. Zapatista and named Pablo L. Sidar by the general.

All Mexican states are raising funds for a pension foundation for Col. Sidar's heirs. The house of deputies has agreed that each deputy give one day's salary [about $16]. Plans are on foot for collecting one day's salary from several thousand government employes.

Charges Beating Marked Her Wedding Anniversary

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday enjoined Roy Knudson, a bookkeeper, from molesting his wife, Mrs. Adeline Knudson, 3048 Kolmar avenue, who is suing her husband for separate maintenance. She charged her husband celebrated their wedding anniversaries by getting drunk and punching her on the nose. They were married on May 2, 1925, and separated last Tuesday. Her request for alimony was continued until Monday. Mrs. Knudson was represented by Attorney Irving Eisenman.

Lake County Woman Is Arrested on Arson Charge

Mrs. Emma Nixon, 46 years old, of Lake Bluff, near Antioch, was arrested yesterday by the sheriff's office of Lake county on a charge of arson. Deputy State Fire Marshal George T. Schrivner charges that Mrs. Nixon set fire to a cottage at Bluff Lake on March 15 to collect $2,000 insurance. Mrs. Nixon denies the charge, contending that she was in Oak Park at the time of the fire.

Byrd Compares His Polar Party to Football Team

BY CHARLES KELLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA, May 15.—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and other members of the Antarctic expedition, who arrived here yesterday, started on their round of official receptions and entertainments today. The reception program will keep the Byrd party busy until Monday, when they plan an airplane trip to Bouquete, in the Chiriqui mountains, where Col. Lindbergh spent his vacation while on his good will trip in 1928.

Admiral Byrd said he plans this trip because it will afford a chance for a much needed rest. The cool mountain air, he believes, will aid in regaining the energy sapped by the tropic weather encountered on the voyage here. Admiral Byrd and members of the expedition show the effects of the long Antarctic winter, with only three months of sunshine. Admiral Byrd will remain at Bouquete for three or four days, but he said he would not participate in any game hunting.

Plans Hiking Trip.

"I plan to go walking most of the time," he said. "This will be the first real opportunity for that."

He then gave an interesting account of the forced exercise his men took while encamped in Little America.

"We walked once every 24 hours no matter what the weather was like," Admiral Byrd said. "When the weather was inclement we walked through the tunnels connecting our winter establishment, and we even walked around the 20 by 30 foot gymnosium. The men boxed and wrestled, too, to keep in condition."

In commenting upon the results of the expedition, Admiral Byrd admitted that a lot of work still awaits him. Much has been accomplished in the way of tabulating and clarifying scientific data, while en route here, but there is still much more to do and it will take at least four books to hold it all, he said. The volumes will probably be divided into the fields of geology, meterology, biology, and biography.

"Every Man Did His Part."

"I would like to say something about my men," Admiral Byrd said. "It is really my first chance to talk about them. The success of the expedition was due to the unusual enterprise of these men. They coöperated like the players of a well oiled football team, and every man did his part. It was magnificent the way they backed me up. That was what enabled us to come back without losing a man. I think that is the most amazing thing to me."

He was asked if the expedition had any whisky along to guard against the sub-zero blasts.

"Whisky?" he answered. "Yes, we had whisky, but it was medicinal whisky. We didn't use much of it because it was not much help. It only lends a false sense of warmth."

Admiral Byrd is looking forward most to his arrival in the United States and to meet his family. His plans, he said, are to locate in a secluded Massachusetts seacoast retreat, instead of returning to Boston.

BIDS ON 46 MILES OF ROAD WORK TO BE OPENED SOON

State Will Push Chicago Area Projects.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—Director of Public Works Cleaveland, after expressing disappointment at the state's progress in getting concrete mixers to work on metropolitan area roads this spring, called his chief engineer, Frank Sheets, into a conference today.

There followed an announcement that bids will be received early next month on 46 miles of widening and grade separations involving $2,164,000 for the highways serving Chicago. It was also announced that by Aug. 1 the state will have let metropolitan area contracts totaling $7,310,000, including 37 miles of widening, 16 miles of new 40 foot pavement, 45 miles of new 20 foot pavement, and a number of grade separations and bridges.

Radial Routes Come First.

Most of the work is to be done on the radial routes. Mr. Cleaveland said that his department has decided to concentrate on these arterial highways, believing that the motorists will be willing to suffer the temporary inconvenience of many detours this summer so as to get the urgently needed four lane pavements promptly.

The Chicago Motor club fought for the early widening of these radial routes for the relief of traffic congestion rather than the construction of new circumferential routes which were favored by the Chicago Regional Planning association and which will promote new subdivisions.

Priority List Reviewed.

At Mr. Cleaveland's request, Mr. Sheets reviewed the priority list in the $19,000,000 biennium program for the metropolitan area recommended by Gov. Emmerson's advisory committee, forecasting the beginning of construction and giving the state's explanation for delays. The report, project by project, was in substance as follows, using the sequence recommended by the advisory committee as the order for awarding contracts:

ROUTE 46, Mannheim road—The design for the $1,620,000 structure for bridging the Des Plaines river, the drainage canal, the Illinois and Michigan canal and the Santa Fe and the Chicago and Alton railroads is being changed by the state at the request of the Santa Fe, which wants to realign its tracks. Also, work on the specifications is being delayed awaiting word from the government on its requirements for clearance over the canals. The contract probably will be awarded late this summer.

ROUTE 64, St. Charles road—Bids were received on April 11 for widening from 25th avenue, to Mannheim road, and for two miles of new four lane pavement from Mannheim to the county line, and a mile and a half of widening in Elmhurst. The award of contracts was held up on the protest of Elmhurst residents on St. Charles road who, to save their shade trees and to remove through traffic from their front doors, wanted the state highway moved to Madison street. Contracts will be awarded in a few days for construction on the present route, but under modified specifications that will save the trees.

Wait on Niles and Railroad.

ROUTE 21, Milwaukee avenue—Contracts have been let for the widening from Touhy avenue to Dempster street and from the county line to Half Day. For the mile between Touhy and the Chicago city limits, the state is waiting for the village of Niles to complete the plans for its participation in a 56 foot pavement, the state paying for 40 feet. The contract for a grade separation with the Chicago and North Western is awaiting the railroad's reply to the state's proposal for a division of the costs.

ROUTE 6, Roosevelt road—Du Page county held up construction, seeking 120 feet right of way for two 20 foot pavements separated by an esplanade. The county has decided it cannot obtain this wide right of way. The state is changing its specifications to call for a 40 foot pavement and a contract will be let next month for the widening of 12 miles on existing right of way from York road to Winfield. From Winfield to Geneva, seven and a half miles, small pieces of additional right of way are required for moderation of curves with the widening. This contract will be let later this summer. The mile from 25th avenue to Mannheim road is under contract for 40 feet of new concrete.

Plans for a grade separation with the Indiana Harbor Belt tracks at Westchester were drawn to put the pavement in a subway, but a test pit dug by the Illinois geological survey showed that a subway could not be drained, so the highway engineers are now preparing an overhead for the pavement. The contract probably will be let later this summer. The proposal for a grade separation with the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin at Wheaton has been dropped for the time being because of the high cost due to the damage to abutting property.

Villages Fail to Clear Way.

ROUTE 57 and extension of route 22, the Skokie road—The village of Niles Center hasn't finished plans nor obtained right of way for the 40 feet of new concrete for the two and seven-tenths miles from Tessville to Wilmette. For the nine miles from the Cook county line to Lake Forest, the alignment was changed from its original location at the request of Highland Park and Lake Forest, and these villages have failed so far to deliver the new right of way. The state is negotiating with the Chicago and North Western and the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee on the division of costs for a grade separation with their tracks.

ROUTE 56, Butterfield road extension on Washington boulevard—The widening from Mannheim road to 25th avenue awaits the elevation of its tracks by the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad, which is to be started this summer. The paving of a mile west of Mannheim road has been delayed for two years by the failure of the village of Bellwood to obtain right of way for a grade separation with the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin and the Chicago and Great Western tracks.

Included in June Letting.

ROUTE 19, Northwest highway—The widening from Palatine to Des Plaines, nine and four-tenths miles, will be included in the June letting. Small parcels of additional right of way must be acquired by Cook county so that curves may be flattened in the six miles from Palatine to Barrington. The widening of a grade separation with the Chicago and North Western and the Soo Line at Des Plaines is under construction.

ROUTE 4, Joliet road.—Bids were received on May 7 for the widening of three and a half miles from Lawndale avenue to the Willow Springs road, and the contract will be awarded within a few days. However the village of McCook must enact set back lines or the four lane pavement will not be extended through its corporate limits. The village also has failed to obtain the right of way for a grade separation with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and the railroad for a month has delayed reporting on the state's proposal for a division of costs for the structure.

ROUTE 54, an unbuilt state bond issue route, running north and south in Du Page county, touching Hinsdale and Elmhurst.—The Chicago Motor club contended that traffic did not need this road as much as it needed the widening of the radials. It will probably not be built until next year. The state is preparing the plans, including specifications for five railroad grade separations and Du Page county is seeking a two hundred foot right of way.

Plats in County's Hands.

ROUTE 55, 22d street—The state on March 28 released plats to Du Page county for the extension of the two lane pavement for a mile and a half west of York road to route 54, but the right of way has not been acquired by the county.

ROUTE 53, 159th street from Lockport to Indiana line.—Design and specifications are complete, the state has just finished its right of way plats and as soon as Cook county can obtain the right of way work will start. Contracts probably will be awarded in July. Because it will form an important entrance to Chicago from the south and east the state will lay concrete at grade over six railroad crossings to secure during negotiations for grade separations.

ROUTE 53, an unbuilt state bond issue route, running north from the Joliet road to route 22 near Half Day, going through the center of Du Page county. Plans probably will be completed in November. The Chicago Regional Planning association advocated early construction of this road. The Chicago Motor club fought to have the radials widened first. The state is working on specifications for six grade separations on the route.

ROUTE 5, Lake street road. Contracts will be let next month for 13 miles of widening from the Cook county line to Ontarioville. Cook county has failed so far to obtain small parcels of rights of way for flattening curves in the widening between Ontarioville and Elgin. Plans have been completed for a grade separation with North avenue, but the state is still working to obtain right of way. The prospects are fair that this structure will be included in the June letting. Little progress has been made by the state in its negotiations with the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific for a grade separation at Ontarioville.

ROUTE 42, Sheridan road—Contracts will be let in June for building shore protection and paving around Calvary cemetery. Other proposed paving in Wilmette and Winnetka will probably wait another year.

ROUTE 59, unbuilt state route, extending north from Plainfield through West Chicago and Bartlett to route 63 cutoff leading into Barrington. The section from West Chicago to the North avenue road probably will be built this summer and the rest held over until next year. It is a road favored by realty developers and of secondary importance to traffic, according to the Chicago Motor club. Its early construction was favored by the Chicago Regional Planning association.

Bids Received May 7.

ROUTE 18, Ogden avenue—Bids were received on May 7 for the six miles of widening from Harlem avenue to the Cook county line. The contract will be awarded in a few days. Next month a contract will be let for 23 miles of widening from the Cook county line to Aurora.

ROUTE 49, Governor's highway—Contract will be let in August for new 40 foot pavement from 130th to 143d streets. The state has not completed its specifications nor has it released plats for the right of way. The state still is working on its plans for a grade separation with the Dixie highway at a new and more favorable location; negotiations are pending with the railroads for grade separations with the Baltimore and Ohio and the Indiana Harbor Belt, and lack of right of way and Chicago's inability to share the cost are holding up the bridge over the Little Calumet river at 133d street. A contract for the bridge at 140th street will be awarded in a few days.

ROUTE 58, Evanston-Elgin road—Niles Center is preparing plans for pavement from Evanston to Harms road and will not be finished with this preliminary work until Aug. 1. For the mile east of Elgin, no right of way is available, the city having delayed decision on the routing into town. The state is negotiationg with railroads for four grade separations.

Four Grade Separations Proposed.

ROUTE 52, Glenwood-Dyer extension—The state will release its right of way plats about June 1. Contracts will probably not be let until early next year. There are four railroad grade separations proposed for the road.

ROUTE 60, Rand road—Contract has been awarded for four miles of new 40 foot concrete from Des Plaines to Euclid avenue, Arlington Heights. The crossing of the Soo line at Des Plaines is to be paved at grade because the topography and drainage would make a separation cost more than it would be worth at this time, according to the highway engineers.

ROUTE 46, Mannheim road—The widening from St. Charles road to the Joliet road will be postponed until next year. The state officials agree with other traffic experts that the relief of congestion on this belt line depends upon the construction of grade separations with the radial highways more than upon widening. The governor's advisory committee recommended grade separations only for the Joliet road and for North avenue.

ROUTE 22, Lincoln highway—The state is forbidden by gas tax law to build paving and railroad grade separation in Chicago Heights with fuel funds.

ROUTE 63, Elgins road—Widening for three miles from Chicago limits to Mannheim road will be done next year. Construction is under way on grade separation with Elgin, Joliet, and Eastern railroad at Barrington Center.

ROUTE 51, Keane avenue—Work on grade separation with Archer avenue is postponed pending construction of the big structure on Mannheim road, when the route will become of more service.

"We are making every effort to put work under contract promptly," said Director Cleveland. "Most of the widening on the radial routes will be finished this year. With cooperation from local authorities, the department will be able to carry out Gov. Emmerson's plan to spend $19,000,000 in the metropolitan area in the biennium to relieve traffic congestion."

JAPAN MAPS HUGE BUILDING PROGRAM TO ASSIST JOBLESS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, May 15.—The ministry of the interior will submit a plan to the cabinet council tomorrow for the relief of unemployment through a nation-wide program of public works to be carried out by the prefectures and the municipalities.

Prefectures are to float loans for the construction of roads, bridges, dams, and irrigation enterprises. If Japanese materials and labor account for more than 50 per cent of the expense, or if labor accounts for 10 per cent, government subsidies of 25 per cent will be granted. Districts which have no unemployment, but supply work for the jobless will also be entitled to subsidies.

A meeting of the governors of the prefectures will be held in Tokio Tuesday, when Minister of the Interior Adachi will outline the manner in which he wants the prefectures to coöperate. The government figures place the total number of unemployed in Japan at 350,000, but some contend the number is probably double that.

Formal Opening TODAY!

TODAY is the day Trustees System formally opens its new national headquarters offices in the new Trustees System building at 201 N. Wells and dedicates its new industrial banking quarters to the people of Chicago. Everyone is invited to join us in our celebration and to see the beauty wrought for us by architect and builder.

Come, see the glory of ancient Rome in the rare, blood-red Numidian marble of the bank floor and grand stairway. See the history of industrial banking in the sculptured panels adorning the bank floor walls, the bronze symbols of "Thrift" and "Thriftlessness" that flank the marble stairs, the development of trade and commerce pictured in the carved stone that frames a marvelously delicate screen of leaded glass in the great entrance.

Come today and get acquainted with Chicago's finest industrial banking home.

Follow These Simple Rules

1—Every week-day for 48 consecutive days, (not including Sundays) the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a "Game of Counties" picture. Each picture will represent a County in one of these five States: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. You are invited to name the Counties.

2—The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named and neatest complete sets of pictures in accordance with these rules. See prize list at right.

NOTE—You do not necessarily have to guess each of the 48 pictures correctly to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest.

3—This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls, except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

4—Pictures are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each picture separately. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "Counties," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 48 has been printed.

5—Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Dept. Contestants may submit as many sets of pictures as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count.

6—You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the pictures and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

7—Judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

FUNERAL HONORS FOR J. ALTMEIER, GUNMEN'S VICTIM

Association of Commerce to Conduct Rites.

Four policemen who accompanied State's Attorney's Investigator Joseph Altmeier early Monday on an attempted coup against gunmen, which cost him his life, will carry his body to the grave today, following public services at the Chicago temple, Clark and Washington streets. Policemen Louis Caparelli, Leo M. Anderson, William Nihill and Louis Furst will be pallbearers, as will Chief Investigator Patrick Roche and Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks.

The Chicago Association of Commerce and the Employers' association, sponsors of the plan to bury Altmeier with public honors, announced yesterday that invitations have been sent to 10,000 business and professional men to attend the funeral. Altmeier was slain by gunmen who raided the beer flat of Jack Hayes, 3258 North Clark street, in a battle in which Hayes and two of the gunmen also were killed.

Body Lies in State.

His body will lie in state in the Chicago temple, with a military guard of honor, from 2 this afternoon until the time of the funeral one hour later.

Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce, was to have presided at the funeral, but will be detained in Washington until Saturday. In his place, Clifford W. Barnes, vice president, will have charge.

Eulogies to Altmeier will be delivered by three religious leaders; Rabbi Louis L. Mann, Sinai temple; Dr. John Thompson, minister of Chicago temple; and Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the University of Chicago chapel. State's Attorney Swanson also is to speak briefly on Altmeier's activities.

Following services, the body will be taken under police escort to Elmwood cemetery for private interment. The list of honorary pallbearers includes the names of many prominent Chicagoans.

Gapone Gangsters Freed.

Three Capone gangsters were freed by Judge Freeman L. Fairbank yesterday when police sailed to present charges of gun carrying against them. The three, Tony "Mops" Volpe, Frank Cavallato, and Frank Rio, the latter Capone's companion in a Pennsylvania prison, walked free when no evidence of speeding was presented. No mention of guns was made, and it was reported that the police had failed to fix ownership.

Striking, presumably, at Al Capone, the Miami city commission yesterday passed through first reading a special ordinance fixing the penalty for vagrancy at $500 and imprisonment up to sixty days. Capone has been arrested there twice recently and many attempts have been made to eject him from the city.

CAFE MAN FIRES ON BANDITS.

Four bandits held up the Cinderella cafe, 5618 West Madison street, early yesterday, took several hundred dollars from the cash register and the pockets of the proprietor, John Stephens, 2502 North Clark street, and escaped in a sedan, escaping bullets fired by Stephens.

2-GUN BAD HOMBRE OF WEST IS ROUTED WITH TEAR GAS BOMB

Ray, Ariz., May 15.—(AP)—Modern police tear gas bombs went up against the two-gun play of the old west near here today, and the tear gas bombs won when Edward Mitchell, "from all along the Colorado river," surrendered to a posse on a charge of cattle theft after he had had a good cry.

Mitchell, a black bearded giant of a man, was accused by Howard Parks of stealing cattle from the Parks ranch. When deputy sheriffs and riflemen started after Mitchell yesterday to serve a warrant, he barricaded himself in a stone walled cabin on the Parks ranch where he had been living. He had a rifle, a pistol, and plenty of ammunition. Each demand for his surrender was answered by a volley of bullets.

The possemen sent to Florence, Ariz., for tear gas bombs. When these arrived today they were used with almost immediate effect. Mitchell came out weeping and surrendered.

TEXAS U. GETS 13 MILLIONS IN OIL ROYALTIES

Austin, Tex., May 15.—(AP)—The University of Texas has received $13,109,707 from oil royalties and bonuses, said a report issued today by C. H. Cooke, cashier of the general land office. In addition to this amount the university has received $1,000,000 as the result of a suit to recover oil lands improperly prospected.

In 1929 the university received $1,835,582 in oil royalties, while since October, 1929, bonuses on the leasing of land totaled $679,866. The totals excluded the amounts received in rentals from the 2,000,000 acres of university land.

J. H. Walker, commissioner of the general land office, estimated that the fund probably would reach $200,000,000 within the next forty years.

KANE COUNTY OIL WELL FLOWS 3 BARRELS A DAY

Emmet Phillips, barbecue stand and filling station proprietor, whose oil strike in the basement of his home, two miles west of Geneva, set Kane county farmers agog, yesterday drilled 20 feet with a two inch drill and tapped a well that is flowing at the rate of three barrels a day.

Phillips says he has received several offers to sink wells on a royalty basis, but so far has accepted none. Geologists have expressed the opinion that his property lies on a natural oil field.

A hundred farmers in the vicinity have signed contracts with prospecting companies.

48 White House Police Now Secret Service Men

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—The entire White House police force of 48 men today was brought under the secret service. Under a bill signed by President Hoover, the uniformed guards who have controlled the grounds as a separate unit will have equal rank with the personal guards of the chief executive under the direct command of Richard L. Jervis.

SPECIAL GRAND JURY HEARS OF $1,062,000 PATH

CRIMINAL COURT.

Alfred Martin, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge D. J. Normoyle.

Birdus Wells, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Henry Butler, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Peter Schwaba.

John Raiko Jr., manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Mac Thomas, carrying concealed weapons, sentenced to 1 year in the county jail by Judge Phillip Finnegan.

A special grand jury, impanelled yesterday morning by Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the Criminal court, heard the story of the $1,062,000 cinder bridle path adjoining the north shore channel road, as the first evidence in the renewed Sanitary district investigation. First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup had his own auditors and investigators tell the jury the story of this path, which was paid for by many vouchers, each less than $500.

The prosecutors charge that the district had no authority to build this path, and if it had the cinders used should have been purchased by contract. It is charged that the use of the voucher system was one means of the old Timothy J. Crowe regime to evade the law requiring that all work exceeding $500 should be let by contract.

George W. Springer, 724 Forest avenue, Wilmette, vice president of H. O. Stone & Co., was chosen foreman of the jury. Prosecutor Northup is taking steps to keep everything about his investigation secret, even to smuggling witnesses before the jury.

Gary Township Trustee Is Sentenced to Prison

Convicted of filing false claims against a township poor relief fund, Eric Lund, trustee of North township in Gary, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to one to fourteen years in the Indiana penitentiary yesterday by Judge Martin J. Smith at Gary. Dr. Samuel Bell and Dr. William Nichols, Hammond physicians indicted with Lund, will be brought to trial soon. Lund announced he would appeal.

CIVIL SERVICE TESTS GIVEN TO 48,000 IN YEAR

4,100 Certified for Jobs, Ames Reveals.

During the last year the city civil service commission has conducted 178 examinations to fill positions previously held by temporary appointees, according to a survey completed yesterday by Maj. Carlos Ames, president of the commission. The examinations have been taken by 48,000 applicants, of whom 4,100 have been certified to jobs in the city hall, schools, library, and the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium during the period.

"Examinations are being held as often as possible," said Maj. Ames, "to carry out the policy of placing all city positions under civil service. These figures represent the largest number of examinations held and applicants examined by the commission in any like period. As a result there is a smaller number of temporary employés in the service than there has been in a number of years."

Ames' Answer to Complaints.

The figures were cited by Maj. Ames in answer to complaints regarding delays in posting the results of examinations and in certifying employés from the lists. The large amount of work made some delays unavoidable, Maj. Ames said.

"The magnitude of the work of the commission may be realized when we recollect that there are 32,500 employés in the city service, and, notwithstanding the continued pressure for a reduction in the interests of economy, the total number of employés will necessarily increase to keep pace with the city's growth. In its judicial capacity alone the commission has presided over 405 trials during the last year.

"A program of examinations to be called every other week has been outlined. The number of applicants who file applications to take these examinations is so large that it is necessary that the commission rent schoolrooms in which to hold them. This means that examinations that are set for a weekday must be postponed and held on a Saturday except during the vacation period."

Asks Aid of Outsiders.

In the marking of the examination papers the commission has asked the aid of civic and professional agencies which have a knowledge of the requirements to be fulfilled for various positions, according to Maj. Ames. A new examination for city movie censor is to be held, he said, so that women's clubs interested in movie censorship may be represented on the board which will mark the papers.

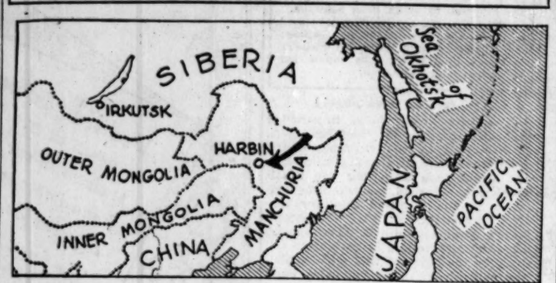
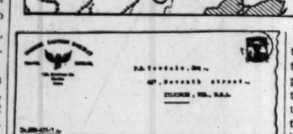
FROM HARBIN, CHINA





Letter received by P. S. Yewdale, 417 7th street, Milwaukee, Wis.

"This letter came from the general office of the Chinese Eastern railway at Harbin, Manchuria," Mr. Yewdale writes. The city, as well as the Chinese Eastern railway, figured prominently in the news columns during the last year in the dispute between Russia and China over the ownership and administration of the road.

The city is a junction point on the line, which joins with the trans-Siberian railway on the western border of Siberia, and rejoins it just beyond the eastern border of Manchuria. There is a branch of the Chinese Eastern extending south from Harbin to Changchung, where it connects with the Japanese owned South Manchuria railway, running from this point to Dairen anad Port Arthur.

The story of Harbin resembles that of an American mining or oil town become important overnight. For many years its place on the map was an insignificant one, but with the construction of the railroad in 1896 it became a flourishing city. Because of its strategic position Harbin became an important Russian military center during the Russo-Japanese war.

The portion of the town founded in 1896 is called Old Harbin, but the center has since shifted to New Harbin, where the chief public buildings and offices of administration are situated. The river port division of the town is the most important industrially. Here are railway workshops, factories, and mercantile establishments.

Harbin was the site of the concentration camp where the Chinese interned more than a thousand soviet prisoners last fall. The majority of these were members of the soviet unions employed at the various stations of the Chinese Eastern railways between Harbin and the Russian border, but they also included a number of soviet residents of the town and vicinity.

ROBS COUPLE IN THEIR GARAGE.

Samuel Glist, credit manager for the Storklines Furniture corporation, and Mrs. Glist were robbed of $825 worth of jewelry early yesterday by a bandit who followed them into the garage in the rear of their home at 1346 North St. Louis avenue.

EASTERN MONEY TO SLASH GALLANT FOX'S ODDS

Sydney Counted Out of Race.

Earl Confined to Bed

Lexington, Ky., May 15.—(AP)—The earl of Derby, who was forced to cancel his scheduled inspection trip to thoroughbred horse farms today because of illness, was reported tonight to be resting "very comfortably" at Elmendorf, the home of his host, Joseph E. Widener. Widener said Lord Derby's illness was not serious, but that he was suffering from a cold and a throat infection contracted during his visit in the east before coming to Kentucky.

Lord Derby was confined in bed today and was attended by a physician. Widener said the English nobleman plans to attend a luncheon tomorrow at the home of Senator J. N. Camden in Woodford county. After the luncheon, Lord Derby will motor to Louisville.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 15.—Thirteen starters and an odds on favorite was the way the fifty-sixth running of the Kentucky Derby on Saturday shaped up this afternoon. Gallant Fox is not likely to be better than even money in the Derby betting and may pay off at around 9 to 10 when huge commissions begin to arrive from New York.

"Those fellows in New York are ready to bet $300,000 on Gallant Fox to win the Derby," Bob McClugage who, with Emil Herz in years past has operated one of the biggest future books in the country, said tonight. "Twenty of them had me on the phone today. They wanted to bet all they could get down on Gallant Fox, but they didn't find much of a market. Most of their money will have to go into the mutuel machines, and if it does I don't see how Gallant Fox can be as good as even money."

The Fox Becomes Acquainted.

The Fox spent a quarter of an hour this afternoon becoming acquainted with his Churchill Downs surroundings. He was led into the paddock and loitered around there for more than five minutes. Then he was led out and down the path over which the Derby parade will pass. He pranced around for a few minutes at the head of the stretch where the Derby start is made. Then he strolled back down the stretch and took a look at the line of finish. Except for this little coming out party Gallant Fox spent the day quietly in his stall and was not asked to go in for anything but a short, easy gallop this morning.

While Gallant Fox was enjoying the Derby atmosphere and glancing over at the reviewing stands which the Earl of Derby and other notables will occupy, his most dangerous rival, Tannery, the Kentucky colt, was out on the track running as if his life depended on the outcome.

Tannery worked a mile and an eighth, and when he pulled up at the end of his drill in 1:58 4-5, his Kentucky backers began to take on courage. Some of them offered to wager the family jewels on him to trim Gallant Fox, but they wanted 5 to 1 for their money, and the best quotations they could find were about 5 to 2.

Here's Likely Field.

Barring eleventh hour changes in plans the thirteen in the Derby parade will be Dick O'Hara, Gallant Fox, Gallant Knight, Tannery, Breezing Thru, Buckeye Poet, Crack Brigade, Ned O., High Foot, Broadway Limited, Uncle Luther, Gone Away, and Longus.

There is a chance that the "unlucky thirteen" lineup will be broken with Kilkerry as the fourteenth starter This colt, reported to be on the brink of a breakdown, was worked a mile and a quarter while the track was heavy this morning in 2:18 breezing. He didn't show any signs of lameness when he pulled up, but Trainer Dick Vestal said he would have to wait until tomorrow before he could tell definitely if Kilkerry will be a Derby starter.

Crack Brigade also worked the Derby route. His time was 2:15 3-5, and he did his work handily. The track still was heavy.

A measure of surprise was evident this morning when Johnson N. Camden declared his colt Sydney out of the Derby. Sydney was a stake winner last year and always gave a good account of himself when he was running over a fast track. But the long gruelling Derby prep proved too much for him.

Track Dries Out.

The track was drying out despite the absence of sunshine, and the going was good before the final events were run off this afternoon. Cool weather prevailed, and the most noted Kentucky weather prophets wanted to wager even money that there will be no rain between now and the time the Derby is run at about 5:30 o'clock Chicago daylight saving time on Saturday afternoon.

U. S. Leads for Walker Cup; Glenna Collett Reaches Final

Jones, Willing Win by 8 and 7; Voigt, Von Elm Lose.

Meets Miss Fishwick for Title Today; Helen Hicks Beaten.

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANDWICH, England, May 15.—America's Walker cup team built up an advantage of three to one during the first day's play with the British in a renewal of the historic amateur event at St. George's golf course today, taking three of the four 36 hole foursomes and carrying the fourth to the last green.

Bobby Jones, the American captain, and Dr. O. F. Willing, the Portland dentist, defeated Rex Hartley and Tony Torrence by the widest margin of any United States pair, sending their opponents back to the clubhouse from the twenty-ninth green by a score of 8 and 7.

Moe and MacKenzie Win.

Donald Moe, Oregon university sophomore who is making his first appearance with the Walker cup team, paired with Roland MacKenzie, another initiate, to win their match, 2 and 1, from Sir Ernest Holderness and J. A. Stout.

Francis Ouimet, who took the American amateur title sixteen years ago, played with Harrison R. Johnston, the present champion. They disposed of William Campbell and Nelson Smith by a score of two and one.

George Voigt and George Von Elm were the two members of the American team who lost their match. They reached the thirty-fifth one down to R. H. Wethered, captain of the English team, and Cyril Tolley, holder of the British amateur championship, and then lost the last hole by 5 and 4.

Wales Gives Advice.

The day's golf drew a gallery of 10,000, who spread out over the rolling course, following first the golfers and then the celebrities who attended the matches. Among those watching the play was David Windsor, appearing in the private capacity of a golfing citizen rather than the prince of Wales.

The prince even gave advice to the Americans, including Jones, on one occasion, and chewed gum industriously throughout the matches. He also gave tips to golf tailors by wearing the only jacket on the course with pleats over the hips.

Jones and Willing had the best day of golf of the entire eight members of the American team. They were four up at the end of the first nine and five up at the completion of the morning round. At the end of the twenty-seventh they were seven up and had a lead of one hole more on the second green following.

Hartley's Hand Injured.

They won the first three holes during the morning, Hartley going to pieces and playing golf far below the level he had on Sunday in taking the St. George's gold vase from Willing. Hartley had received an injury to his left hand, a jagged glass giving him a slight cut in the base of the little finger Wednesday and this might have affected his game somewhat.

He and Torrence managed to win but one hole during the first nine, and that was by a stymie on the fourth. Each side reached the green in two and Hartley's attempt to sink a thirty footer brought him a foot away from the hole and dead ahead of Jones' lie. Bobby made a fine skip which over-

Yanks Take Lead

Don Moe and Roland Mackenzie defeated Sir Ernest Holderness and J. A. Stout, 2 and 1.

Harrison Johnston and Francis Ouimet defeated William Campbell and John Smith, 2 and 1.

Roger Wethered and Cyril Tolley defeated George Von Elm and George Voigt, 2 up.

FORMBY, England, May 15.—(AP)—Glenna Collett, playing an excellent brand of golf, today went into the final of the British women's golf championship, but only after two fierce battles with defending British girls who forced her to the 18th green, morning and afternoon, and several times threatened to send her home the loser.

She defeated Hilda Cameron of Scotland in the morning and Enid Wilson of England in the afternoon, each one up, and found neither opponent easy.

The hard hitting Helen Hicks went down, 5 up and 4 to play, before the harder hitting Enid Wilson in the morning play.

Diana Fishwick, who meets Miss Collett for the championship over a stretch of 36 holes tomorrow, won her way to the finals by defeating Daisy Ferguson of Ireland in the morning and Kathleen MacDonald in the afternoon.

While the betting odds favor the American, because of her greater experience, Miss Fishwick is generally conceded an excellent chance, especially if Miss Collett should be shy of her top form.

Glenna Has an 80.

Rain diminished the galleries in the quarter-finals, but 400 followed Miss Hicks and Miss Wilson and 2,000 persons saw most of the shots of the Collett-Wilson match. Miss Fishwick was followed by only a faithful few, as the other semi-final was looked on as the probable championship struggle.

However, the fact that Miss Fishwick went out in 37 strokes in the afternoon to 39 for Miss Collett gave the British some hope for a surprise finish tomorrow. Miss Collett's medal score against Miss Wilson was 80, a card that many male golfers envy at Formby.

Miss Hicks putted poorly and lapses on the green chiefly were responsible for the fact that she was five down at the tenth hole. Miss Collett found herself unable to get ahead of Miss Cameron on account of the Scotch girl's good putting. The most sensational play of the day was contributed by Miss Cameron, when she holed a 25 yard niblick shot from a trap.

The Cameron-Collett match was all square going to the 17th, but she won there, and her task of the morning was over when the 18th was halved.

Halve Three Holes.

Misses Collett and Wilson halved the first three holes in par figures, the gallery expressing polite amazement when the girls conceded each putts of over two feet.

Both hit long balls from the tee, but Miss Wilson had a slight advantage. On the 504 yard third she almost reached the green with her second. Miss Collett went one up by sinking an 18 foot putt for a birdie at the fourth, but the advantage was short-lived, for Miss Wilson won the fifth when her opponent sliced from the tee. Miss Collett won the sixth when Miss Wilson missed the green with her third and was short with her approach putt.

The next three holes were halved, although Glenna nearly holed a 15 foot putt at the seventh. The 494 yard tenth was won by the English girl with a birdie four, the American's long putt gimming the cup. Miss Collett won the eleventh, where Miss Wilson explored a trap. Another birdie four for the British entry at the twelfth made the match all square.

The thirteenth was halved but Glenna went one down at the fourteenth when Enid hit a long spoon nearly to the green, chipped up close and sent home a putt for a birdie four.

Glenna Squares Match.

The fifteenth was halved and Miss Wilson, apparently cracking under the strain, sent her tee shot into the woods, out of bounds. Miss Collett landed on the edge of a trap at the green, then hit her next and saw the ball roll into the sand. She blasted out with her third and holed a 12

RAIN HALTS SOX AND MACKS, 6-6, IN FIFTH INNING

Hose Tie Score in Time to Prevent 10th Defeat.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 15.—[Special.]—The last game of the disastrous road trip of our White Sox won't go down in the record books, for it was three putouts shy of being a legal contest. But, even so, the affair was inspiring, for the boys showed more stuff under discouraging circumstances than they've exhibited at any time this season.

The game was called on account of rain at the close of the first half of the fifth, with the score standing 6 to 6. The Sox had made three runs by hammering the great Lefty Grove in the first of the fifth, thus tying the score. If they hadn't done this the game would have counted as a legal contest in four and one-half innings, with the world champions victors by a score of 6 to 3.

After Reynolds had given some encouragement with a homer in the first inning, Ol' Red Faber crumpled up in the second inning, and before Dutch Henry could put out the fire the A's had made all their runs in the one session, making the count 6 to 1.

Before the game the Athletics raised the American league pennant with appropriate ceremonies.

Sox Take Lead.

The Sox had the extreme pleasure of ending the first inning ahead of the champs, this by virtue of that homer of Reynolds, a pretty smack which cleared the score board in right center by about 10 feet.

The Sox wasted a double by Autry with two out in the second, but the A's didn't waste much power in their end of the second, which was pretty awful from the Chicago point of view. Miller started it with a single to left and stole second. He went to third on Dyke's sacrifice fly to Harris, whence he scored on Boley's single to center.

Grove doubled off the score board, putting Boley across. Lefty went to third while Kamm was throwing out Bishop and scored on Haas' single to center. Cochrane singled to right and Haas went to third, then Simmons doubled to right, scoring Haas, Cochrane stopping at third. Henry relieved Faber and Foxx singled, scoring Cochrane and Simmons. Foxx went to second on one of the silly balk decisions and Miller walked. Dykes ended the inning with a fly to Reynolds.

Mr. Campbell Scores Again.

In the third inning the A's were victimized by one of the same silly series of balks. Hunnefield fouled to Cochrane. Moore walked and stopped at second on the second of Reynolds' hits. The pair then moved up when the eagle eyed Mr. Campbell detected what he and Mr. Owens, his confere, exclusively have discovered is a balk. Harris executed his first pressure strikeout, but Cissell grounded to Dykes, who overthrew first, Moore and Reynolds scoring and Cissell reaching third. Kamm tapped to Boley.

Only three A's faced Henry in the last of the third and only three batsmen went to bat on each side in the fourth, but in the first of the fifth our boys made merry with Mr. Grove. Hunnefield singled to left and stopped at second when Moore singled to center. Reynolds' third hit was a single to center, scoring Hunnefield and putting Moore on third. Reynolds stole second. Harris then fanned again, but Cissell singled to center, scoring Moore and Reynolds.

Foxx went to bat in the last of the fifth and walked, after which the game was suspended, and then called after an hour's wait.

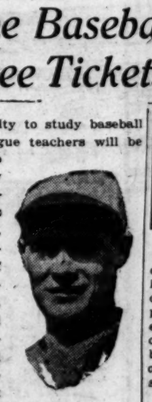
Tribune Baseball Class to Get 100 Free Tickets for Sox Game

Final opportunity to study baseball under major league teachers will be given Chicago boys tomorrow morning at Comiskey park. THE TRIBUNE school, the most complete course of diamond instruction ever offered, will be closed with a demonstration of infield play by Bill Cissell, White Sox second baseman. He will be assisted by Willie Kamm and other Sox players.



BILL CISSELL.

As a reward for attendance at the last class one hundred boys will be presented with free tickets to the game between the Sox and Detroit Tigers at Comiskey park a week from Saturday.

Every boy will have a chance to win. All you have to do is to write your name and address on the coupon appearing in tomorrow's TRIBUNE admitting you to the final lesson. These coupons will be placed in a basket and 100 pulled out by a TRIBUNE representative. The names of the "lucky 100" will be printed in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. The tickets will be mailed out by the White Sox early next week.

Class will be called at 9 o'clock, half an hour earlier than usual, on account of the double header between the Sox and Indians in the afternoon. Gates will be opened at 8 o'clock.

After Cissell shows the boys how to move around second base and shortstop to hold down a job in the big leagues there will be a contest for students. Ten will be picked to see how closely they can approach Cissell's skill. A fielder's glove will be awarded the lad who in Cissell's judgment handles grounders and throws to first base most accurately.

Bill Tells Boys How to Prepare for Double Plays

BY BILL CISSELL.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 15.—[Special.]—The double play has been the life saver for many a defensive team during the course of a rally or an impending rally. A skilled pitcher is entitled to the greatest amount of credit for most infield double plays, but there must be a close bond of cooperation between the pitcher, the shortstop, and the second baseman.

Aside from pitching the ball where the batter has to hit it on the ground, the next most important phase of a double play involving three infielders is the business of "handing" the ball to the middle man. First, of course, the ball must be fielded cleanly. Assuming the potential double play is "second baseman to shortstop to first baseman," the second baseman first must size up the situation and make sure he has a play to the second bag. The base runner may have had a running start and be so close to the second bag that there would be a risk of failing to retire either or the batsman.

In that event he should give up the idea of a double play and get the man with a throw to first. However, if the second baseman has a chance, he should make the throw to the shortstop in such a way that the shortstop will lose no time relaying the ball to the first baseman.

Among the most important functions of the second baseman and shortstop is the matter of relaying the ball after long hits to the outfield. A long hit naturally means there's trouble afoot and an urgent need to get the ball back into the infield at the earliest possible moment. The second baseman should run into the outfield for the relay on long hits to right field or right center and the shortstop does likewise on blows to left and left center.

This is one of the plays I'll demonstrate at our face to face session at Comiskey park Saturday morning.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Just as the Cubs were about to reach out for a victory yesterday Woody English fumbled. The blunder, committed with two out in the ninth, became three runs and let the lowly Braves nose out the champions by 10 to 8, after a heroic homer in the eighth by Rogers Hornsby had made it look as if the Burleigh Grimes jinx was about to be interred.

English's error was disastrous, but, at least, was in keeping with the defensive labors put forth by the title holders in eight previous rounds of patch quilt baseball. Their pitching was so wabbly that Boss McCarthy had to use five men, three of them regulars, before the argument was officially lost. And to add to the day's complications Clyde Beck kicked one in the fifth, thereby encouraging the Braves to get started after Lynn Nelson had stopped them cold for four innings.

Take Turns Holding Lead.

Before reaching the ninth the Braves already had enjoyed the thrill of taking the lead from the Cubs on two different occasions. The champs started stylishly with two runs off Grimes in round one. They lost this in the fifth, when, after Beck's error, Richbourg exploded a homer with the sacks loaded. The lead was back in the Cubs' hands in the sixth, by 5 to 4. It went back to the Braves, by 7 to 5, in the seventh, when it took Root only a few minutes to discover it wasn't his day. And then Hornsby, who had relieved Beck at second, almost saved it with his homer with two on base in the eighth.

During the rally in the eighth a pinch hitter served for Pat Malone, who had done nobly as Root's rescuer. This brought Blake to the mound for the ninth. He nailed the first man, a pinch batter for Grimes, on a fly ball. The next fellow rolled to Grimm. Maranville drew a pass that under the circumstances appeared harmless. It continued to look harmless even after Sisler had looped a single over short, putting the Rabbit on third.

English Charges In; Misses Ball.

Then English made his unexpected contribution. Randy Moore, once a wearer of white socks, poked a puny roller to short. English charged in to get it, but was overanxious. The ball squirted off his glove and Maranville raced in with the tying run. Welsh completed the havoc. He hoisted a fly that fell between Heathcote and Wilson for a single, sending Sisler and Moore home. Then Bob Smith took charge of the show by setting the Cubs down in their final half.

Having made prodigal use of his pitching talent yesterday, McCarthy may find trouble locating a suitable man for the opener at St. Louis today. Malone is the leading possibility. The Cards may rely on Bill Hallahan.

Pair of Doubles Wasted.

The revolt against Grimes in the first inning began as soon as English had been disposed of on a pop to Maranville. Heathcote clouted a two bagger to the screen in left center. A hopper to short put an end to Cuyler. Then Wilson drove a long fly toward the flagpole in right, and it came down against the fence for a double, Heathcote sauntering home. Grimm also doubled to right to shove Hack across the plate. Bell fanned to conclude the inning.

McCarthy's hopefuls stepped into the picture with two more doubles in the third, but the exhibition availed nothing in the way of runs. With one out Heathcote looped a fly out of reach of Moore in left, and it went for two bases. On the next pitch Cliff endeavored to burglarise his way to third, but he didn't beat Cronin's throw to Robertson. Cuyler then lined a double to right center and Wilson let the round die on a fly to Richbourg. There was another Cub double by Bell with one out in the fourth. This, too, was a loss.

A dinky, bounding hit by Robertson with one out started Nelson on a decline in the fifth. A pass to Maguire was next. Grimes aimed one of those slow hoppers at Beck, but the latter failed to come up with it. This mishap filled the bases. Nelson went to work on Richbourg and his efforts were successful until the count became 2 and 2. The next pitch brought disaster. Richbourg banged it into the right field seats and put the Braves ahead by 4 to 2. Moss immediately relieved Nelson.

Cuyler's second double set things in motion for the Cubs' three run splurge in the sixth. He drove the ball past Maranville. Wilson lost no time singling to right, Cuyler going home. Grimm walked, and Bell's sacrifice moved the two runners along. Stephenson was called forth to bat for Taylor, but he merely tapped to short and Wilson was run down close to the plate. Hornsby batted for Beck and walked, loading the corners. Then Hartnett, as pinch man for Moss, doubled to right, scoring Grimm and Stephenson, after which English lined out to center.

Root Doesn't Last Long.

Root's bad seventh inning was inaugurated with Maguire's line drive double over third. He stepped over to third on Grimes' roller to Hornsby. With the infield drawn in, Richbourg bounced a single over second, Maguire scoring. Maranville did his bit by punching a single to right. Then Sisler joined the party. He tripled to the fence in right center, sending Richbourg and Maranville across the counter. The blow also caused Root to vacate the premises in favor of Malone, who made short work of the rally and also kept the Braves in their place in the eighth.

Preparations for the champions' three run rally in the eighth were made by Grimm, and Blair, who batted for Malone. Both singled. In between there was a pop foul off Bell's bat. This brought up Hornsby, swinging at the bottom of the batting order. He missed his first strike, but the next pitch went sailing into the bleachers in right for the three runs that would have fetched victory if English hadn't bobbled behind Blake in the ninth.

Golf Novice Gets Distance in Practice

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Tom Milne really hit the ball yesterday during his fifth golf lesson in THE TRIBUNE'S novice golf contest. With Frank Williams, his tutor, keeping a watchful eye on his swing, young Tom poked out a dozen drives 175 yards with a smooth and quite effortless swing. He worked on several clubs, but Williams told him he was not to play until the last week, to prevent him from getting any bad habits.

Williams also went into a few of the other phases of golf, in addition to swing. One of his bits of advice was that "if you're hitting the ball well, don't waste energy in practice swings." And another, "When you drive into the rough, take a line on some one object and walk along that line to the ball. If some object, such as a tree, is near where the ball stops, so much the better."

"Look over the shot before you take a club and decide where you want the ball to stop," the professional told the boy. "Then take the right club and hit it. Don't swing wondering where the ball will end up. If you're shot is interrupted, walk away from the ball and start all over again. Standing up to the ball tends to make you fidget and worry."

Tom sliced one shot rather badly and Williams corrected him. "That shot sliced," he said, "because you loosened your wrists at the top of your swing, letting the clubhead drop. The clubhead got out of control, chiefly because you were hurrying the swing to make the clubhead catch up."

Then the teacher switched to a mashie and told the boy the proper lie of an iron club is with the lower edge of the face in line with the shaft. "Don't turn the face in or out," he said, "it will send the shot off line. Don't take too big a swing, not too far back, and don't make the mistake of trying for distance with a mashie. Its purpose is accuracy."

As Tom hit practice balls with the mashie Williams had him stand a little closer to the ball to develop a more upright swing than with the wooden clubs or long irons in order to get better direction.

The Great Shires Tells Ad Men How He Got That Way

Philadelphia, Pa., May 15.—(AP)—The Poor Richard club, an organization of advertising experts, learned about advertising today from Arthur Shires. And when he had finished an after luncheon talk a club official pinned the organization's "achievement" medal on the broad chest of the White Sox first baseman as evidence of his extraordinary advertising talent.

Last year the Great Shires was in the headlines so often that he became the most talked of player in the game.

"I'm not a great hitter like Foxx," Art said, "nor a great base runner like Cobb. I'm just a mediocre ball player. When I got into the big league I realized I had to build a reputation.

"I decided the thing to do was to advertise. When I came to the majors the boys kidded me and called me 'The Great' because I did smear it on some. I decided to play the idea big. I challenged Tunney and offered to fight him and Dempsey in the same ring. O, I did a lot of loud sounding stuff, but I got my name in the headlines.

"When it was all over I found I had made about $25,000 and a reputation. One man I failed to sell—my boss. I couldn't sell him, so I have changed my program. Now I have a name and don't need to advertise. I'm going to try to be a great ball player."

Landis Quizzes Stengel on Toledo-Milwaukee Riot

Casey Stengel, manager of the Toledo club of the American association, was haled before Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis yesterday to explain his behavior on the baseball field, particularly last month when he was blamed for inciting a near riot during the Toledo-Milwaukee game. The meeting was secret and all concerned referred questions to Commissioner Landis, who was silent. Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American association, and Umpire Joe Rue, the latest victim of Casey's vigorous protests, attended the secret conference.

OKLAHOMA ROLLS UP MAJORITY FOR PREP TOURNEYS

First Minnesota Returns Against Meets.

How They Vote

FOLLOWING is the vote to date from ten states in the poll of high school principals on invitational interscholastics:

	For.	Against.
Illinois	211	198
Wisconsin	82	90
Michigan	105	88
Indiana	42	54
Kentucky	247	51
Iowa	146	57
Kansas	39	27
Oklahoma	56	16
Ohio	74	193
Minnesota	5	22

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Oklahoma is voting nearly 4 to 1 in favor of invitational interscholastic competition, according to returns received yesterday. The vote is being conducted by the Daily Oklahoman of Oklahoma City.

Fifty-six principals have cast their ballots in favor of meets conducted by colleges and universities while 16 are against competition.

Iowa continues to pile up a majority for tournaments. The vote now stands: In favor, 146; against, 57.

The first returns from Minnesota, the tenth state to enter the poll, show five in favor of interscholastics and 22 against.

Ohio United Against Meets.

Ohio continues to vote against invitational meets. The vote now is: For tournaments, 74; against, 193. State meets also are losing in Ohio, 140 to 126.

C. W. Whitten, manager of the Illinois High School Athletic association, announced the first returns from his poll yesterday. Mr. Whitten asked the opinions of the principals on three questions.

On the proposition of national and interstate basketball tournaments, including the meet held by the University of Chicago, Mr. Whitten reports 432 principals against. One hundred and twenty-six voted in favor.

Vote Against Track Meet.

The second question: "Do you believe the national interscholastic track and field meet heretofore conducted by the University of Chicago should be abandoned?" has 402 votes against the meet with 151 principals favoring its continuance.

Four hundred and six principals have voted to support the resolution of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools which would bar all invitational interscholastics, Mr. Whitten reports. There are 151 votes against the resolution.

VAN RYN LEADS AS RAIN HALTS DAVIS CUP PLAY

Philadelphia, Pa., May 15.—(AP)—Johnny Van Ryn stood just two points from victory over Dr. Jack Wright of Montreal in the opening match of the Davis cup play between the United States and Canada today when a thundershower forced postponement of play until tomorrow.

The youthful East Orange, N. J., player had held match point a moment before, but lost it when his drive went outside the base line. Losing this point, Van Ryn led at 6-2, 6-2, 3-6, 5-2, and deuce, and then the weather man intervened with a sudden downpour.

Acting Referee Samuel H. Collom of Philadelphia waited more than an hour before postponing the rest of the match and the second singles contest between George Lott of Chicago and Marcel Rainville of Montreal until tomorrow afternoon.

Jack Dempsey Scratches Off Outdoor Plans

Jack Dempsey will not promote any outdoor boxing shows in Chicago this summer. This was announced yesterday by Leonard Sacks, Dempsey's representative.

Dempsey's decision was based on his ill health and the impossibility of securing attractive cards, Sacks stated.

"When I was in Rochester, Minn., Jack and I discussed our promotion plans," Sacks said. "We had tried to get Kid Chocolate and Earl Mastro, but the Cuban is tied up in New York. Tuffy Griffith and Otto Von Porat was another possibility, but Griffith's manager passed up the Norwegian.

All Attractions Cornered.

"Jimmy McLarnin and Jackie Fields might have been secured, but Jack Thompson stepped in and took the welterweight title from Fields. Al Singer and Sammy Mandell are signed in New York with the winner meeting Derg, so the lightweight division offers no attractive bout for Chicago.

"Jack needs a rest after he leaves the hospital. The doctors have told him he cannot do any training until late in the summer. While Dempsey would consider a bout with Max Schmeling if the German defeats Jack Sharkey, Jack's condition probably means he cannot fight this year. And, too, Jack has been out of the ring for three years."

Estimates Dempsey's Loss.

Sacks also estimated Dempsey's financial loss in the eight fights he has promoted at the Coliseum between $25,000 and $30,000.

Jack Gagnon was matched yesterday by the Chicago Stadium to meet Otto von Porat May 28. Gagnon was given the match after Griffith refused it. Griffith won a ten round decision over Gagnon at the Stadium April 30. Gagnon stopped Griffith in six rounds in a previous fight.

Rockne Will Officiate at Big Ten Track Meet

Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, has accepted an invitation to serve as head finish judge at the Big Ten track and field meet at Dyche stadium, Northwestern university, May 23 and 24. This will be Rockne's first appearance in Chicago since the football season last fall.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

FEED BOX DOPE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 15.—"Cheer up, Tanny; it won't be long now," we saluted E. F. Prichard's Tannery, son of Ballot, as we picked our way among the barns at Churchill Downs in our morning rounds. "You look like a picture of Old Col. R. E. Morse himself."

"Good morning, Harve," Tannery responded. "It's all right for you to be facetious, because all you have to do is to stand up there on the roof near the press box with your field glasses and then write a story lauding the winner and criticizing the bozos who can't keep up with the pace.

"Now I'm shouldering a great responsibility. Many critics have been kind enough to call me the most logical western hope against Gallant Fox and the east. For more than two weeks I haven't crooked an elbow or rolled a pill, so as to get in good condition. I'm chary with the feed bag, too, and have eliminated all starches and sweets."

"O, I see, trying to keep your girlish figure," we interpolated.

"I wish you'd be serious," Tannery remonstrated. "This means a whole lot to me. You see, I've not been one of these get-rich-quick fellows winning $50,000 stakes as a 2 year old. I've been an honest, hard working chap, taking my modest pay home every Saturday night. I started eight times last year, winning five and twice out of the money. My cash earnings were $11,390.

"They say that last furlong will stop me," continued Tannery. "I don't see where they get that theory. It's true I prefer a front position and there should be plenty of pace, for this field looks like a bunch of sprinters rather than stayers. Dry or wet is all the same to me. I'm by Ballot, you know, and I won twice in heavy going last year.

"I'm not worried personally by the distance, but I am a little afraid of the early pace. That's not because I'm afraid of dropping back, for I ran six furlongs at Latonia in 1:12, but keeping up might take too much out of me. If some one tries to run us dizzy, I'll prefer to stay well up in the bunch and depend on the stretch run for mine. I'd like to entertain you Saturday night, but until then I'm on the water wagon. Much obliged for calling, Harve."

Interviewing Gallant Knight next, we found the son of Bright Knight-Ethel Gray indignant rather than serious. "How is it," he inquired, "that every one is counting me out of it? I won seven of eighteen starts last year and was only five times outside the money. My owner took down $29,604 for my efforts.

"True, I was pretty far back in the Belmont Futurity, in which Whichone, Hi-Jack, and Gallant Fox placed, but you know those 2 year old scrambles. Unless you get off you haven't a chance to get through, and I was away poorly. Don't bet unless you want to, but just put your glass on me Saturday. I'll be the horse that's in front or pressing the winner in the final furlong."

This Wake Is Conducted by Harvey T. Woodruff. Help! Help!

Beg Your Pardon.

Somewhere along the line, perhaps in transmission, Wake statements have suffered somewhat. Of course, Lord Derby does not own Light Brigade, sire of Crack Brigade. He bred and raced this horse before selling him to Senator Camden. Nor is Bubbling Over sire of Breezing Thru. Both were by North Star III., which stands at the Idle Hour farm.

Betting Wise Crack.

Century note wagering has been conspicuously meager so far this season. The $100 pay-off window yesterday bore a sign "Previous day," which meant winning tickets of the previous day, not already cashed, would be paid there, whereupon a wag wise cracked, "Doesn't that mean previous years?"

Do You Remember Way Back When: The first Kentucky Derby, won by Aristides in 1875, paid $2,850 to the winner?

GEORGE SIMPSON IN FINAL MEET AT OHIO STATE

Columbus, O., May 15.—[Special.]—George Simpson, Ohio State sprinter, will close his home track career at the Ohio stadium Saturday, as the annual quadrangular meet brings together the track and field stars of Northwestern, Chicago, Wisconsin, and Ohio State.

Joining Simpson in his final home appearance is Richard Rockaway, Ohio hurdler. Five other Big Ten champions will compete in the quadrangular meet.

Yankees Lead in Walker Cup Matches, 3 to 1

ran the cup, but it was a hopeless shot, and Willing downed the fifth.

On the next hole, which is a dog leg, Jones and Willing took a birdie three to regain the lead of three, however. Jones outdrove Torrence by 50 yards and Willing's spoon was dead on the pin. Jones holed out with a 40 foot putt to take it, after Hartley, trying to play Torrence's drive with a No. 2 iron, had sent the ball into a hill top.

The American pair gained another hole on the ninth, when Dr. Willing pitched a perfect iron from an equal lie on a hillside, while Hartley's shot went off to the left. Jones missed the putt, but Willing was still down for a four.

The afternoon cards:

Jones and Willing—
Out	544	442	534—35
In	64		10—45
Hartley and Torrence—
Out	553	543	435—37

The Americans' morning round was even fours and the afternoon match was one over.

Tolley's vicious putting took the match from Von Elm and Voigt. The Americans were two up at the finish of the morning round and increased this to three on the twentieth. Then they lost the twenty-third, the twenty-fourth and the twenty-sixth by two, three and two. Tolley sank two putts of 14 yards each. They were square at the turn of the afternoon play, but the British went one up on the twenty-eighth when Tolley sank another long one and finally took the match on the thirty-sixth green with a birdie four.

Ouimet and Johnston were three up at the end of the morning's game, but were even at the twenty-fourth and again at the turn in the afternoon play.

The order of tomorrow's play follows: Johnston against Tolley; Jones against Wethered; Von Elm against Hartley, Voigt and Holderness, Willing and Smith, Ouimet and Torrence, Moe and Stout, and MacKenzie and Campbell, in that order.

Begin Work of Completing Purdue Athletic Stadium

Lafayette, Ind., May 15.—[Special.]—A. E. Kemmer, Lafayette contractor, started work this afternoon to complete the Ross-Ade football stadium at Purdue university. Kemmer's contract calls for concreting the uncompleted north bend of the stadium, giving an added seating capacity of 10,000, bringing the total capacity of the stadium to 23,300.

Indians Outhit Senators, but Lose, 4 to 2

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—Sam West's extra base hitting gave Washington a 4 to 2 victory today over the third place Cleveland Indians. The Indians scored ten hits to the Nationals' nine, but could not make them count.

Rice, Washington's leading hitter, kept up his performance by obtaining a double. It was the 25th consecutive game in which he connected.

MORSUN OUTRUNS IRISH TO WIN HIS FIFTH STRAIGHT

Small Crowd Sees Races on Aurora Track.

Morsun did it again. The son of Morvich made his score of victories five in a row when he sped home a winner in the fourth race at Aurora yesterday. He beat Irish by a neck in a driving finish, while Big Sweep was third, several lengths back.

The small crowd in attendance yesterday wagered on Morsun with confidence. He was greeted with cheers as he returned to the weighing-out station and his supporters seemed to think that the $3.34 he paid was a good price.

Irish Close Second.

Morsun did not have things all his own way and was forced to give his best. He had the most early speed and soon opened up a two length lead, but Irish was coming fast in the stretch, and Jockey Willie Moran was compelled to use whip and spurs to keep his charge in front.

The race was a claiming affair and although Owner Irwin lost his star when Lewis & Kemp deposited $5,000 in the claiming box, he was more than satisfied with his investment. Morsun originally cost the big cowboy $3,500, and has won nine races for him in the last few months.

Mulrooney Comes Back.

Jockey Mulrooney, who rode an ordinary race on Battle Ax Wednesday, came back with a perfect exhibition to land Tanist winner of the fifth event yesterday. It was a five horse affair, and Tanist began in last place, but when the others went wide at the first turn Mulrooney was alert and went to the front, never to be headed. Alto and Jack Alexander finished second and third respectively.

Michigan's Tag System Keeps Track of Trout

BY BOB BECKER.

Should you at any time be fishing for trout, either rainbows, brooks or browns, somewhere in the great lakes region and you hook a fish that has a little bronze tag attached to its caudal fin or gill cover, don't throw away this little decoration. Record the number and inscription on it and report the catch to the conservation department of the state, because the "style" for trout these days decrees tags in order that the conservation department can learn how many fish migrate.

The state of Michigan has tagged thousands of trout which now are roaming around the lakes and in the streams adjacent to the great lakes. Many of these were fingerlings, branded before they were released. Others, mainly rainbows, were tagged during the spawning seasons, when the adult fish leave Lake Michigan and run up small streams.

The idea behind the fish tagging business is this: When a state releases browns, brooks, and rainbows in a stream which flows into the great lakes, do those fish stay in the stream to furnish sport for the anglers of the state which produced them, or do they set sail for new country? In other words, when Michigan releases 1,000 rainbows in one of its streams, will these fish migrate and perhaps turn up in a Wisconsin stream?

Tagging the finny tribes is answering these questions. So far these fundamental facts have been established. Brown trout "stay put" because they are practically non-migratory; brooks are just "conservative migrants," but rainbows are regular globe trotters. In fact they are migratory to the point where they are essentially open water fish.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Commerce

FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1930.

DULL MARKET IS REFLECTED BY DROP IN LOANS

Brokers' Total Off 67 Millions.

BY O. A. MATHER.

It didn't require much acumen to predict another decrease in brokers' loans in the last week, what with quiet stock markets and sagging prices. So when the federal reserve board's weekly report came out late yesterday and showed a decline of $67,000,000 nobody in Wall and La Salle streets was surprised or greatly interested.

At that the decline might have been larger but for the considerable volume of new financing in the last week. It was chiefly interesting, however, because it was the second successive decrease and followed a drop of $200,000,000 in the preceding week. The current decline brought the total down to $4,007,000,000, which also is $1,558,000,000 below a year ago.

Some interest also attached to the detail of the report. While the New York banks increased their own loans by $7,000,000, the interior banks and other lenders, including corporations, withdrew $54,000,000 and $21,000,000 respectively. It would seem that the New York banks are more friendly to the stock market and more willing to accept around 3 per cent interest than are the other classes of lenders.

Interior Banks Cut Loans.

The New York banks now are lending $758,000,000 more than a year ago, while the interior banks have reduced their loans by $656,000,000 and other lenders have made a sheer reduction of $1,659,000,000. The banks of the country are in much better control of speculative credit than a year ago, as shown by the fact that the banks now are furnishing about 67 per cent of total brokers' loans, compared with 46 per cent a year ago; whereas other lenders now are furnishing only 33 per cent, compared with 54 per cent a year ago. The banks as a whole are lending $102,000,000 more than a year ago, but this is entirely attributable to the loan expansion by the New York banks.

Neither the New York Federal Reserve bank nor the Bank of England changed their 3 per cent discount rates yesterday. But here, again, no changes had been expected. It was general comment that the speculative markets appear to be less influenced by money rates than by economic developments. And the same appears to be true of trade and industry. Therefore it is held doubtful if still lower rediscount rates would have much tonic effect.

The dull demand for commercial credit again was reflected in the weekly statement of the federal reserve system, issued last night. Borrowings of the member banks declined $26,962,000 to a total of $210,486,000, and the city banks in both New York and Chicago were not borrowing a dollar from their respective reserve institutions. The reserve system's holdings of bankers' acceptances also receded $4,168,000, while their holdings of government obligations remained practically unchanged.

Deposits Increase.

Gold and total reserves increased $5,913,000 and $6,135,000, respectively, and the ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 83.6 per cent, compared with 83 per cent a week ago. Deposits increased $7,821,000, but note circulation dropped $28,097,000.

The report of the New York reserve bank showed a decline of $26,881,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total down to $30,304,000. Bankers' acceptances receded $1,704,000. Deposits expanded $17,906,000. Reserves increased $49,661,000 and the reserve ratio rose to 86.8 per cent, compared with 83.4 per cent a week ago.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank showed a decline of $3,933,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total to $17,967,000. Bankers' acceptances increased $3,021,000. Deposits moved up $4,942,000. Reserves declined $1,963,000, but the reserve ratio rose to 88.4 per cent, compared with 88.1 per cent last week.

RAILWAYS MAKE PREPARATION FOR GRAIN SHIPMENTS

Plans for handling the seasonal crops of the nation—due to start in a month—were discussed yesterday at the Stevens hotel at the regular spring meeting of the American Railway association. R. H. Aishton, president of the association, presided at the meeting, which was attended by prominent railway officials from all parts of the nation.

Equipment of the railways was reported as being in the best physical condition noted in years, and, unless unforeseen difficulties arise, the movement of grain cars is expected to proceed with facility.

"Preliminary forecasts of winter wheat production in 1930," said the report submitted by M. J. Gormley, chairman of the car service division of the association, "indicate a crop 5 per cent less than the last two years and about equal to the five year average, 1924-1928. Growing conditions the last sixty days in the areas of principal production have been relatively unfavorable."

Radio Industry's Plight Recalls Auto Patent Pooling

BY SCRUTATOR.

The radio industry today is in a condition that in many respects parallels the one in which automobile manufacturers found themselves fifteen to twenty years ago. Then there was so much uncertainty about patent rights and royalties that it was dangerous to be a maker of motor cars; any one of them might well fear he would lose all his annual profits in suits for infringement.

C. C. HANCH.

That danger has not existed since Jan. 1, 1915. A cross licensing agreement, signed by all but two of the member companies making up the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and observed by all of them and also by Ford, the one great manufacturer not a member, settled it.

Some bits of almost forgotten history concerning this agreement were recalled yesterday by C. C. Hanch of Chicago, general manager of the National Association of Finance Companies, who is generally regarded as having been the principal mover in its formation and acceptance.

Began Thirty Years Ago.

Patent litigation on motors began in 1900 when George B. Selden presented claims for royalties on all engines. It was carried on by a company which held his licensing rights. From 1903 until 1911 a stern battle to dispute Selden's claims was waged by the manufacturers and Ford finally proved in court that his motor, and incidentally most of the others, were not infringements of Selden patents.

During the court battles the idea of cooperation grew. Mr. Hanch, then with the Marmon company, tried as early as 1909 to have a pooling of all patents owned by all automobile companies. The idea did not go over until 1915, when it was adopted for ten years. It was renewed in 1925 and again this year for five year periods.

What this licensing agreement has meant is substantially this: all of the 1,700 patents owned by all members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce are available without charge, to everybody. The difference between the patent situation in the automobile industry and the radio industry today is that the auto patent owners only ask that all share freely in improvements discovered, while the radio patents are closely held and charged for at good rates.

No Royalties Charge.

"The buyer pays no more for patent royalties on a $5,000 car," said Mr. Hanch, "than he does on an electric light globe, so far as manufacturers' rights are concerned."

There are certain provisions that would enable an automobile maker to hold and charge for his discoveries. But any device withheld from general free distribution would have to be so startling that there has not been a case that was valid in the last decade and a half.

The importance of the cross licensing automobile agreement is so great that Secretary of Commerce Lamont only two weeks ago presented the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce with a trophy, voted to them unanimously by 400 trade association executives for the "most original and outstanding service to the public" ever rendered by an association.

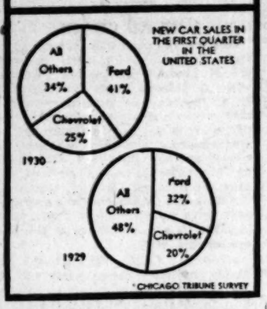
An effort was made a little more than two years ago by radio manufacturers to form a cross licensing agreement that would have done away with litigation and high royalties. Mr. Hanch was employed to draw it. The one he presented was the one which had had twelve years of trouble-free trial in the automobile industry, changed only in technical details. No agreement could be reached by the holders of radio patents, however.

Public Benefits.

There can be no question that the public, and the motor car makers as well, have benefited immensely from the free interchange of all improvements in their industry.

Competition has been fostered rather than hindered. New companies may start making cars without royalty and a year's successful operation places them on exactly the same footing as the older concerns. It is at least interesting to speculate what the radio industry would become with a similar agreement.

Ford and Chevrolet Are Getting a Larger Share of Automobile Sales Than Last Year



NATIONAL BANK OF THE REPUBLIC VOTES STOCK RIGHTS MELON

The National Bank of the Republic, one of Chicago's big downtown institutions, will cut another juicy melon in the form of stock purchase rights for its stockholders. It will amount to more than $2,633,000, figured on the basis of yesterday's market price for the stock.

The directors late yesterday voted to increase the capital stock from $10,500,000 to $11,000,000, or from 525,000 to 550,000 shares of $20 par value. The additional 25,000 shares will be offered to stockholders in two installments. Stockholders of record June 20 may buy one new share at $40 for each 42 shares held, while stockholders of record Sept. 20 may buy one additional share for $40 for each 43 shares held.

On the basis of a market price of 149 for the present stock the value of the rights on the first installment would be worth $2.53 and the total value of the rights would be $1,328,250; while the value of the rights on the later offerings would be $2.43 and their total value would be $1,305,125. The regular 4 per cent quarterly dividend will be maintained.

Of the proceeds from the sale of new stock, which will amount to $1,000,000, half will be credited to the bank's capital account and the balance of $500,000 will be used to augment capital and surplus of the bank's investment affiliate, the National Republic company.

"Business has been spotty, as we all know, but in spite of comparatively low interest rates, bank earnings have been well maintained," said George W. Woodruff, chairman of the bank, on his return from New York. "Our own earnings in the first quarter were practically as good as in the same period of 1929 and under the circumstances this is very satisfactory."

Sinclair Corp. Acquires $25,000,000 Pierce Oil Co.

New York, May 15.—(AP)—Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation today announced it had contracted to buy all the assets and business of the Pierce Petrolum corporation of St. Louis through an exchange of stock. The transaction is to take effect as soon as Pierce stockholders ratify the contract.

SAMUEL UNTERMYER.

The assets to be taken over include 707 bulk distributing plants and 969 service stations in the United States, 183 agencies in Mexico, 1,100 railway tank cars, a complete refinery at Sand Springs, Okla., having a normal crude oil charging capacity of 8,000 barrels a day; a refinery at Tampico, Mexico, with a normal crude oil capacity of 4,000 barrels daily; a terminal in Texas City, Tex.; 400 miles of pipe lines and interests in several thousands of acres of prospective oil lands. In addition, Sinclair will take over net current assets amounting to more than $5,000,000 Dec. 31 last.

Speaks for Pierce Concern.

Samuel Untermyer, speaking for the Pierce corporation, said Pierce stockholders would receive a little more than one share of Sinclair stock for each four shares of Pierce common and would participate in all dividends on Sinclair stock from this date. A meeting of Pierce stockholders has been called for June 12 to vote on the proposal.

Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the Sinclair board, said the Pierce distributing facilities were peculiarly advantageous to Sinclair and that there were practically no towns in which both companies have duplicate distributing plants. He said addition of the Pierce facilities gives Sinclair complete coverage from the gulf to the great lakes in the whole middle western section of the country.

Confirms Sale.

St. Louis, Mo., May 15.—(AP)—Edward D. Levy, president of the Pierce Petroleum corporation, late today confirmed sale of the corporation and its subsidiaries to the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, as announced in New York.

The Pierce company, a $25,000,000 concern, is one of the oldest in the oil business in the country. Its subsidiaries included in the deal are the Pierce Oil company of South America, Pierce Navigation company, Pierce Pipe Line company, Mexican Fuel company, and the Consolidated Pipe Line company. It also holds half interest in the Midwest Producing company.

The company and its subsidiaries own and lease about 5,000 acres of oil land in Oklahoma, Texas, and Mexico. Its products are distributed chiefly in the southwest. The Pierce corporation was reorganized in 1925 and since then its general offices have been in St. Louis. The concern bears the name of Henry Clay Pierce, a St. Louisan, who acquired it in 1869 and retained his interest until the reorganization.

WOULD OPPOSE ANY CHANGE OF PACKERS' DECREE

Atlanta, Ga., May 15.—(AP)—The executive committee of the American Wholesale Grocers' association has recommended that the association provide funds, employ counsel, and take any other necessary action to resist what wholesalers regard as efforts to form a hostile monopoly among large packing interests.

Citing the "packers consent decree," a court decision changing its status, the wholesalers believe, would react against their good and in favor of the packers, the committee suggested that delegates to the association's convention here authorize a "determined fight."

Ninety-five Utilities Show $199,000,000 March Gross

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—The 95 public utility enterprises which produce 90 per cent of the country's power, light, traction and water services reported March gross earnings to the commerce department today as amounting to $199,000,000, against $195,000,000 in the same month last year.

Wilcox-Rich Corporation Merger Now Assured

New York, May 15.—(AP)—Consolidation of Wilcox-Rich corporation with Eaton Axle & Spring company is assured through the deposit of 210,333 shares of the former's class B stock under the merger plan, it was announced today.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 15.—With the public indifferent and the professionals generally "undecided" the stock market presented a sorry spectacle today. Prices drifted slowly downward during most of the session, a majority of them reaching their poorest levels in the last hour. Volume was the smallest since away back in February, amounting to only 2,675,470 shares.

The pivotals were insufferably dull. Their supporters, who made them look so frisky in the later dealings yesterday, seemed to be off on a fishing trip or something of the sort today. Not one of them was able to summon enough energy to flutter the tape.

The amusement shares, with the exception of Radio Keith, sagged. The rails were back in the dumps and some of the specialties, which can usually be counted on to do a turn on such a day, were acutely weak. Experts were saying that the market appeared to have gotten itself into a pretty deep rut.

Money Plentiful.

Money was still in plentiful supply on call at 3 per cent, but nobody seemed to want to waste it on stocks with things in their present fix. Lenders opined they had seldom seen such a state of affairs.

Some of the utilities tried to get heated up, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, and American and Foreign Power among them, but they found the way too steep and folded up in the afternoon. Foreign Power held a fractional gain to the end, but the others lost everything save honor.

Nobody paid any attention whatever

WALL STREET HEARS VAN SWERINGENS MAY BUY WESTERN PACIFIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 15.—Reports were current in Wall street today to the effect that the Van Sweringen brothers, famed for their railroad activities, will buy the Western Pacific railroad from Arthur Curtiss James and therewith extend the Missouri Pacific railroad, control of which they recently acquired, to the Pacific coast.

At present the Missouri Pacific and the Western Pacific each own 50 per cent of the stock of the Denver and Rio Grande Western, which has pending before the interstate commerce commission an application to take the Denver and Salt Lake [Moffat tunnel] railroad. All these carriers were grouped into one system in the commission's plan of railway mergers.

Mr. James bought control of the Western Pacific's 1,073 mile road in 1925 with a view to joining it to the Denver and Rio Grande Western as a system that would afford a western outlet to the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, and the Missouri Pacific in competition with the Union Pacific. His willingness to part with the Western Pacific thus may depend somewhat on what is done with the Burlington in the Great Northern-Northern Pacific plans.

Yellow Cab to Pay 25c Dividend Next 3 Months

Stockholders of the Chicago Yellow Cab company at their annual meeting yesterday reelected all officers and members of the board. Edwin J. Kennedy and John W. Costello were elected assistant secretaries. Dividends of 25 cents a share were declared on capital stock for the next three months. The dividend is payable July 1, Aug. 1, and Sept. 2 to stockholders of record June 20, July 21, and Aug. 20.

Elmer French Is Elected Official of Retail Group

Elmer French of Sears, Roebuck & Co. yesterday was elected vice chairman for the middle west of the store managers' division of the National Retail Dry Goods association. Four divisions of the association yesterday closed the four day convention they have been holding at the Drake hotel with a tour of Chicago's department stores.

MAKES OFFER FOR COLUMBIA GAS CO. STOCK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 15.—Planning a further stride in its acquisition of large holdings in the principal electric and gas companies operating in the eastern part of the United States, the United corporation today made an offer of its shares for about 25 per cent of the outstanding common stock of the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, worth $249,015,250 at today's market levels.

The directors of Columbia, which is the largest natural gas company in the United States, have approved the terms of the offer. If consummated the investments of United corporation will have a market value of $796,619,785 at current levels. It was announced that the close association of United and Columbia, as a result of this acquisition, will facilitate the making available of the large natural gas resources of Pennsylvania and West Virginia to the large industrial and domestic markets along the eastern seaboard.

Award $1,000,000 Issue of Ill. Waterway Bonds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 15.—The state of Illinois today awarded a new issue of $1,000,000 4 per cent waterway bonds, due Jan. 1, 1937, to the First National bank, New York, and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., at their joint bid of 99.059. The bonds will be placed on the market at 99¾. Under the terms of sale the state indicates that it will award no additional waterways bonds before Sept. 1, 1930. The assessed valuation of the state for 1928, as fixed by the state commission, is $8,365,333,473 and the total bonded debt, including this issue, amounts to $202,562,500.

SAYS QUARTERLY REPORTS UNWISE IN SOME CASES

New York, May 15.—(AP)—Edward J. Cornish, president of the National Lead company, said the first quarter report of the Eagle-Picher Lead company, which showed a net loss of $463,015, disclosed that companies in such a seasonal industry should not issue quarterly reports, as they are quite deceptive as to the true situation of such an industry and of such a company.

National Lead sales during the last three weeks, Cornish said, had been more than twice the volume in any week during the first three months of the year.

WHEAT PRICES RISE; SENTIMENT SHOWS CHANGE

Lack of Bull Leader Seen Retarding Influence.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The gradual shift in sentiment in wheat market from an almost unanimously bearish to a rather neutral or mildly bullish position was reflected yesterday in an advance of 1¼@1⅝c after a minor dip in prices early.

Shorts started to cover on unexpected strength shown in Liverpool and found offerings small, and while selling against offers checked the bulge the finish was at net gains of ⅝@1¼c with May, $1.03⅞@1.03⅝, and July, $1.03⅝@1.04.

A lack of a leader on the bull side of the wheat market is regarded by many observers as mainly responsible for the failure of the upturns to hold as the news has gradually become less bearish of late and in some quarters the belief prevails that all of the depressing influences are now known, and any change, especially in the crop outlook, must be in favor of a higher level of values.

Argentine Exports Light.

Argentine exports for the week were estimated at only 809,000 bu, the smallest for this season in many years, and compared with 2,465,000 bu the previous week, and with 6,376,000 bu last year. The limited clearances had considerable influence on the Liverpool market which closed 3@3½d higher.

The trade is commencing to look for light Argentine clearances the balance of the year owing to the unsatisfactory weight of the grain and feel that competition from that country will be less in evidence than for some years. From July 1, to Dec. 31, 1929, Argentine cleared 100,000,000 bu, and it would not surprise some observers if actual clearances this season did not materially exceed 35,000,000 bu.

Cables generally have started to comment on the steady reduction in wheat stocks abroad, and express a belief that increased takings from North America will be necessary. Foreigners were after cash wheat at the seaboard during the day with sales of around 1,000,000 bu in all positions, mainly Manitobas, with the Pool credited with doing the bulk of the business. Winnipeg showed relatively more strength than Chicago and closed 1@1½c higher with frost predicted overnight over a wide area.

Local Trade in Corn.

Strength in wheat and short covering gave corn a firm undertone early, with the bulge bringing in selling orders from holders of offers, and there was also an increase in country offerings to arrive with 83,000 bu reported as booked. The local element took the selling side on the latter news and the finish was at intermediate prices with net gains of ⅛@⅜c, May being 79c, and July, 79⅞@80c.

Cut worm damage to the new corn crop was reported from Illinois and Indiana during the day, but it is regarded as so early in the season that any loss from the pest can be made up by replanting. Rains have slowed up field work in parts of Nebraska and northwestern Iowa with about 25 per cent of the grain planted so far, and the forecast was for more rain. Shipping demand was less active with sales of 60,000 bu.

Liquidation by scattered longs in May oats was steadily absorbed by cash interests, and the close was ⅛@⅜c higher with May, 41⅞@42c, and July, 41⅜c.

Around 350,000 bu cash rye was destroyed in the Minnesota elevator fire here Wednesday evening, and it was understood that a good part of the hedges against the grain were bought in during the day. The close was ½@1¼c higher with May, 59¼c, and July 63¾c. Two cargoes of rye shipped from Duluth to Georgian Bay last fall have been ordered shipped back to Duluth according to trade reports. Chicago loaded 616,000 bu rye to eastern ports Wednesday.

WHITTENBURG MADE HEAD OF RETAIL GROUP

W. R. Whittenburg of the Jorgensen-Bleach company, Green Bay, Wis., has been elected president of the Central States Department Stores company, which comprises a group of twenty-two independent department stores of the central west. Other officers chosen at the annual election of the Central States group were: W. H. Dietemeyer, Kokomo, Ind., secretary; H. T. Willis, Champaign, Ill., treasurer. John Finch, Evanston; H. M. Henderson of Oshkosh, Wis., and J. C. Hart of Galesburg, Ill., were elected directors.

The Central States group does an annual business of about $15,000,000 annually in the Chicago wholesale market, maintaining headquarters and buying offices at 367 West Adams street. According to Mr. Wittenburg this associated retail store group has trebled its business in the Chicago wholesale market in recent years and is finding Chicago an increasingly important center for buying wholesale merchandise.

LARD TRADE SLOW

A little liquidation in May lard, with a small scattered buying and steadiness in values featured the provision trade yesterday. Liverpool lard was unchanged. Export clearances, 1,182,000 lbs, and of bacon, 165,000 lbs. Cash trade was generally slow. There were no transactions in bellies for future delivery while dry salted clear bellies were offered at 14c. Hog prices were 10c to 15c lower at the finish, with receipts moderate. Deliveries of cash lard were 250,000 lbs, and of bellies, 50,000 lbs. Prices follow:

LEGGE DOESN'T LOOK FOR BIG DROP IN WHEAT

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—Expressing confidence in the wheat market situation, Chairman Legge of the farm board said today he did not believe the price would go to 87 or 85 cents a bushel, as he said had been predicted by market observers some time ago.

Legge asserted the Grain Stabilization corporation has accomplished its purpose of preventing any big fluctuation in prices. He said handling of the new crop was not expected to be an excessive burden on the cooperatives.

The Farmers' National Grain corporation, Legge said, will enter the export field with the new crop, but operation plans are not far enough advanced to be made public.

Nat. Power & Light Starts Its Financing Program

National Power and Light company is starting on a program of financing which will involve the sale of $15,000,000 five per cent debentures, and additional shares of no par value $6 cumulative preferred stock, and the retirement of all the $7 preferred stock now outstanding to the amount of 140,295 shares in the hands of the public. The debentures, due May 1, 2030, are being offered today at 91, and accrued interest to yield about 5.50 per cent, by a banking group headed by the First National Old Colony corporation. The five per cent debentures will be redeemable at 106 at any time up to and including April 30, 2002, and will rank equally with the $9,500,000 of 6 per cent debentures maturing in 2026. They will be followed by the preferred and common stocks of the company, having a present market value in excess of $250,000,000.

Permits Stock, Bond Issues for Rock Island Road

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—Over the protest of the United States and International Securities corporation and Roosevelt & Son, New York bankers, the interstate commerce commission today granted the Rock Island railroad permission to issue $32,228,000 in bonds and $25,782,400 in additional common capital stock. Large stock holders joined with the banking houses in opposing the new financing, claiming it was unnecessary, and the bonds could be sold without stock purchase warrants being attached. The bonds are 4½ convertibles due in 1960.

Salmon Packers to Start Big Advertising Campaign

A national advertising campaign calling for the expenditure of $1,000,000 will be started immediately by the Associated Salmon Packers, according to an announcement by Arthur W. Wittig, chairman of the group's advertising committee. The group, which represents $65,000,000 annually of the Pacific northwest and Alaska salmon packing industry, contemplates a three year program. Erwin Wasey & Co. will handle the campaign.

COTTON RANGE HIGHER

A moderate business was on in cotton yesterday, with a slightly higher range on new crop futures, which closed around the best prices of the day, while old crop months were slow and suffered net losses of 1@5 points, Chicago being the weakest. New crop deliveries gained 6@16 points, with New York and New Orleans the strongest. Liverpool closed 3@5 points higher, with spot sales 4,000 bales.

Spots were unchanged, with New York 16.35c, New Orleans 15.50c, Galveston 15.65c, and Houston 15.45c. Prices follow:

Reveal Terms of Sheffield Steel Corp. Consolidation

Directors of the Sheffield Steel corporation and American Rolling mills have agreed on details of the merger terms, according to an announcement yesterday. After the consolidation Sheffield will be operated under the same or similar name by the present officers. After giving effect to the rights offered to Sheffield stockholders and employés, there will be outstanding 200,000 shares of common stock which will be exchanged for an equal number of shares of American Rolling mill stock. Sheffield stockholders of record May 21 are given the right to buy additional stock at $50 a share to the amount of 3 per cent of their holdings. The rights expire May 29.

Vote Stock Offering for Eskimo Pie Corp.

Directors of the Eskimo Pie corporation have authorized the issuance of 121,835 additional shares of class B common stock, which will be offered to stockholders of both class A and class B common on a basis of one new share of class B common at $10 per share for every two shares of either class held. Stockholders of record on April 24 will be entitled to subscribe to the offer, which expires May 31. The United States Foil company, principal stockholder, has underwritten the issue and will take the undisposed part of the issue at the same price offered to other stockholders.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 2,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep.

Hogs sold slowly on the cash trade yesterday at 5@15c lower prices, closing at the low point of the day. The extreme top moved down 5c at $10.30, while the general average showed a like drop at $10.00, the latter being within 5c of the lowest in two weeks. Outside demand was narrow and smaller local interests bought sparingly at the decline. Armour, Swift, and Wilson, however, put up some of the largest droves in several weeks.

While receipts during the first four days of the week show an increase of 1,000, shipments from Chicago decreased 1,500. About 7,000 were left at the close yesterday. Only 50,500 are expected at five markets today, against 54,700 the previous Friday.

Specials Bid $9.75.

Contracts for heavy hogs attracted most attention yesterday and specials averaging 350 lbs for Saturday's delivery were bid $9.75. Several offers were made at $9.85. Hogs averaging 260@ 290 lbs for all week were bid $10.00. Lightweights were slow and September contracts were obtained as low as $9.30.

May and July light were bid $10.25. Only heavy were bid $10.00 and June, $9.75. Mediums for next September delivery were bid $10.05. Buyers carried limited orders for cattle yesterday and prices were barely steady with the recent advance of 25@40c. Prices are still 25@50c under the close of last week. Prime 1,353 lb steers topped the market at $14.00 and 1,420 lb average sold at $13.35, with the bulk of sales at $10.00@12.25.

Cows and heifers were not as plentiful and sold steady to strong. Choice 1,100 lb heifers reached $11.85. Calves were unchanged. Stockers and feeders were quiet and mostly steady.

Lambs Decline 25@50c.

Additional declines of 25@50c were recorded in fat lambs yesterday in spite of the fact that receipts were comparatively small. Tops from the supply of California spring lambs sold at $10.50, the lowest of the season for this class. Prime wool lambs topped to $10.00, within 50c of the year spot of the season.

An outstanding load of shorn stock reached $9.75, the bulk of this class going at $9.00@9.50. Aged and yearling sheep shared in the break, top ewes stopping at $5.50. Feeding lambs were slow and weak to lower.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep, against 1,441 cattle, 14,721 hogs, and 13,295 sheep on the previous Friday and 1,620 cattle, 14,481 hogs, and 13,285 sheep a year ago.

CHICAGO CURB NAMES GROUP FOR CONFERENCE

Governors of the Chicago Curb Exchange association yesterday appointed a committee to confer with representatives of the Chicago Board of Trade in an attempt to straighten out differences between the two exchanges over the dual listing of securities.

It is understood that the curb representatives will seek a definition of policy from the board of trade. The sentiment among curb members is that board of trade attempts to establish a curb market for securities encroach upon the territory of the present curb exchange. It is the opinion of curb members that should the board of trade merely try to make a market in stocks already traded in elsewhere, no conflict will result. The board has made no announcement of its plans.

An increase in the trading in the board's securities department, coupled with the approaching removal to the new building, has stimulated demand for board of trade memberships. A seat was sold yesterday for $20,000. Seats have been purchased by David R. Quinn, John T. Schenck, and Henri Morrison, all members of the Chicago Stock exchange. David Schetnitz has also purchased a seat.

American Locomotive Cuts Its Dividend Rate

New York, May 15.—(AP)—Directors of the American Locomotive company today declared a quarterly dividend of $1 on the common stock, placing the stock on a $4 annual basis, against $8 paid previously. The Prairie Pipe Line company declared a regular dividend of 75 cents and an extra dividend of 50 cents a share.

The Budd Wheel company voted an extra dividend of 75 cents on its preferred, in addition to the regular quarterly disbursements of 25 cents on the common and $1.75 on the preferred.

HOUSE MEMBERS PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD COMRADES

Memorial Services Held in Capital.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—(AP)—The house of representatives laid aside legislative activities today to pay tribute to its dead.

In an hour long memorial service its members listened with bowed heads and in silence to a roll call of the twelve house members and three senators who have passed away during the last fourteen months. Immediately afterward the house adjourned for the day in further tribute.

As each name was called, a red carnation was dropped simultaneously into a vase standing below the speaker's dais from the hands of Mrs. Mary T. Norton, a Democratic member of the house from New Jersey.

Lawmaker's Widow Sings.

Then, as a moment of devotional silence was declared and ended, the voice of the widow of a late Oregon representative, Mrs. Nicholas J. Sinnott, singing "Christ Went Up Into the Hills," was echoed back from the walls of the chamber that had resounded to the voices of the men whose passings were mourned.

The senators whose names were on the roll were Lawrence D. Tyson of Tennessee, Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, and Francis E. Warren of Wyoming.

The representatives were Royal H. Weller of New York, Charles W. Roark of Kentucky, W. P. Martin of Louisiana, John J. Casey of Pennsylvania, Wesley J. Steele of Georgia, O. J. Kvale of Minnesota, William W. Griest of Pennsylvania, William K. Kaynor of Massachusetts, Elmer O. Leatherwood of Utah, James A. Hughes of West Virginia, James P. Glynn of Connecticut, and Robert Q. Lee of Texas.

Two Addresses Made.

Two brief memorial addresses were delivered, one by Representative Crowther of New York and the other by Representative Montague of Virginia, and with invocation and prayer by Dr. James Shera Montgomery, the house chaplain, and the singing of sacred music by a male chorus, the services were ended.

ACCEPT NEW COMPROMISE IN AIRPORT LEASE

Chicago's airport problem came a little closer to solution yesterday when members of the Chicago Aero commission and city officials, meeting with a subcommittee of the board of education, reached a tentative agreement on the terms of a new compromise lease for the 585 acres of school property including and adjoining the Municipal airport.

The new proposal calls for a twenty year lease on the schools' Clearing property at $25 an acre per year for the first ten years, $27.50 an acre annually for the next five years and $30 per acre until the expiration of the lease. The city would pay for assessments and public improvements and would share profits with the schools.

Secret Vault Found in Gang Massacre Building

A secret chamber, which escaped observation of the police during the investigation of St. Valentine's day massacre of the Moran gangsters in 1929, was discovered yesterday in the garage at 2122 North Clark street, where the killings occured. Frank C. Brusky, owner of the structure, yesterday found a trap door in the ceiling of the first floor, leading to a concrete chamber, 24 by 4 feet, built along the second floor wall. Funnels, whisky guages and a block and tackle indicated the purpose of the vault.

Listeners Find Radio Generous with Speakers

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

One might think radio programs last evening were intentionally educational, so many speakers were on the air.

Alfred Lyman Flude, from W-G-N, 8:30 to 9, gave an interesting talk on "London." He traced legends about the Strand and St. Paul's cathedral, touched upon the poets Shakespeare and Ben Jonson, and flooded the famous old town with romantic atmosphere.

William McGovern of Northwestern university, from WLS, 8 to 8:30, told of India and the recent Nationalist uprising. Both talks were well designed for radio presentation.

A public address by Ogden L. Mills, before the American Association of Advertising clubs, through WBBM at 8 o'clock, also was of wide interest.

A dramatization of some of the high points in the life and work of Florence Nightingale was featured on a New York program through KYW, 8 to 8:30.

Lieut. Gitz-Rice, composer of "Hinky Dinky Parlez Vous?" and other popular world war songs, appeared on the New York program through W-G-N, 7 to 8. Five Canadian "Mounties" sang several of the composer's songs, old and new.

DIXIE DRY RAIDER SHOT TO DEATH FROM AMBUSH

Hohenwald, Tenn., May 15.—(AP)—A deputy sheriff was shot dead and another was wounded near here today when a party of five officers in search of a moonshine still was fired upon from ambush.

Deputy M. L. Newton, 37, was struck by a shotgun charge and died instantly. Deputy Luke Hinson suffered wounds from two charges. The slayer escaped.

Later prohibition officers arrested John P. Himes Jr. on a murder charge. He denied implication in the shooting.

Retired Capitalist Dies on His Yacht Off Miami

Miami, Fla., May 15.—(AP)—Dr. William J. Matheson, 74, retired capitalist of Miami and New York, died suddenly today aboard his yacht, the Seaforth, while returning to Miami from a cruise among the Bahama islands. Death occurred while the yacht was an hour from Miami port. He was chairman of the board of the Corn Products Refining company, a trustee in the Bank of New York and Trust company, a director in the Continental Fire Insurance company, the Home Life Insurance company, and the Cuba Cane Sugar company.

'LOST' 36 YEARS ONLY 40 MILES FROM HIS HOME

Brown City, Mich., May 15.—(AP)—Lost 36 years ago when he wandered away from the family farm near Valley Center, Thomas Murray, 61, has been found less than 40 miles away, in the Tuscola county poorhouse, near Caro. He had been an inmate of the institution since a few days after his disappearance.

Diphtheria when he was a child had left him able to speak only monosyllables and he was registered at the poor farm as "Dave," one of the few words he could speak, and given the surname of "Blank." Investigation showed that he was brought to the county farm in 1894 by a farmer to whom he had applied for aid a few days after he had left home.

Murray was found by a nephew who began an investigation after a neighbor told of seeing a man in the county almshouse who resembled the long lost Thomas Murray.

Today Murray is in Brown City hospital and a family reunion has been postponed pending the outcome of an appendicitis operation.

Felix J. Weller Funeral Will Be Held Tomorrow

Funeral services for Felix J. Weller, who died Tuesday in San Bernardino, Cal., will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Graceland cemetery chapel. Mr. Weller was founder of the Weller Manufacturing company and has made his home here since 1878. He was 70 years old. He is survived by Mrs. Ida Louis Weller, the widow; a son, Arno, and two married daughters, Mrs. Emilie W. Emig and Mrs. Lucille W. Keirnan.

Tablet Marking Portage Will Be Unveiled Today

A tablet marking the portage route followed by French vogagers of the 17th century will be unveiled this afternoon at Harlem avenue and 49th street. Charles B. Pike, president of the Chicago Historical society, will preside, and Miss Bertha Lerman, secretary of the Junior Citizens' club, will unveil the tablet.

Mrs. Hannah M. Weil Dies at Party Held in Her Honor

Mrs. Hannah May Weil of the North Shore hotel, Evanston, widow of the late Henry Weil, Chicago wholesale clothier, died suddenly last evening while attending a party in her honor at the home of friends in Glencoe. Mrs. Weil was 72 years old. Four sons and three married daughters survive.

FOUR SEIZED AND TWO ADMIT THEY ALL ROBBED BANK

With the capture of two men in a south side flat, one of whom was carrying a sawed-off shotgun under his coat, police say they have in custody all four bandits who robbed the Maywood Trust and Savings bank of Hammond, Ind., and obtained $23,000.

Bank employés had identified a picture of James Brezack, 28 years old, 2853 Lowe avenue, as one of the robbers and Sergt. Patrick McShane arrested him and Joseph Roma, owner of the Roma Inn at 95th street and Western avenue. Brezack confessed and with Roma agreed to go back to Indiana without extradition proceedings.

Yesterday Lieut. Joseph Ronan, who was watching Brezack's home, seized James Radicke and Frank Pauley as they sought to enter it, not knowing of Brezack's arrest. Radicke had a shotgun and $415. Pauley had $910.

PARK FOUNTAIN TO BE STARTED AGAIN TUESDAY

W. E. ROOSEVELT DIES, AGED 73; COUSIN OF T. R.

New York, May 15.—[Special.]—W. Emlen Roosevelt, capitalist and cousin of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, died today at his Fifth avenue home at the age of 73.

Though never so much before the public eye as other members of the Roosevelt family, W. Emlen Roosevelt was one of the most prominent figures in Wall street, and besides his many activities in railroads, industry and public utilities he was a partner for fifty-two years in the investment firm of Roosevelt and Sons, one of the oldest houses on the street.

Unlike other members of the Roosevelt family, there is no record that W. Emlen Roosevelt ever sought or held a public office. He was born in New York, and after he was graduated from Harvard entered the firm of Roosevelt and Sons.

Mr. Roosevelt maintained a home at Oyster Bay, L. I., and lived at 804 Fifth avenue.

In 1923 he gave eleven and a half acres of land surrounding the grave of the late President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay to the National Association of Audubon Societies for a wild bird sanctuary and shrine for bird lovers.

BANKER, KIN OF U. S. DIPLOMAT, IS DEAD IN ROME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 15.—George Blunt Page, a cousin of former Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page and long a resident of Rome, died here early this morning. He was born in Washington, D. C., in 1857 and came to Italy at an early age when his sister, Libby, married the Marquis Guilio Spinola, aide de camp to King Victor Emmanuel II.

He was a banker in Florence and connected with the Banca Commerciale Italiana. During the war he served with the interallied prisoners' committee and at the Italian front with the American Red Cross.

He was decorated by the Italian government for relief work during the Messina earthquake. He is survived by a wife and son, George Nelson Page, a member of the Rome staff of The Chicago Tribune.

JUDGE KNAPPEN OF MICHIGAN IS DEAD, AGED 76

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 15.—[Special.]—Judge Loyal E. Knappen, retired member of the Sixth district United States Court of Appeals, died unexpectedly at his residence here early today. He was 76 years old.

Judge Knappen was appointed to the Appeal bench in 1910 by President Taft. In 1906 President Roosevelt had appointed him to the western Michigan District bench. Although he retired from the Circuit bench in 1924 Judge Knappen continued to preside from time to time as a substitute judge.

From 1904 to 1911 he was a regent of the University of Michigan, from which he had received a bachelor of arts degree in 1873 and a master degree in 1876. In 1913 the University of Michigan made him an honorary doctor of laws.

Judge Knappen was a former president of the Grand Rapids Bar association and a member of the board of education.

ROSEHILL MAUSOLEUM

Sentiment Immortalized in Marble

The loving respect you have for your family is preserved for all Time in the memorial you select to protect their names and remains. There can be no greater tribute to beloved memories than the choice of a family room in the quiet, beautiful sanctuary of Rosehill Mausoleum. Pure white marble walls, richly designed Tiffany windows, and bronze grilles here provide a setting of infinite and lasting beauty.

But there is protection, too—stronger than the strongest marble! Two mighty trust funds and an irrevocable State Charter guarantee everlasting care, replacement, and protection from change or desecration of any kind. The utmost security plus enduring beauty—and yet the charge for exactly the type of arrangement you require is very reasonable.

Visit Rosehill immediately—don't put off making your choice until the necessities of the moment bias your best judgment. Write for, or receive in person, the free booklet, "Rosehill the Beautiful." This in no way obligates you.

For those who prefer ground burial we have a very large selection of family lots for two graves or more at most reasonable prices—all under Perpetual Care.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the dining car to Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received, just before sailing, a letter from Hermione Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris, Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants, and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment, as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him, and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey takes her back to the apartment. The door is locked but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says he thought Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner. Here she sees a man she had noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in, only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the maid says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid. Catherine calls at the office of Geoffrey Macadam and meets the elder Macadam. She tells him of her fears and suspicions. He is a little skeptical and she is hurt by his attitude. As she leaves she sees Jeanne entering the building.

INSTALLMENT XLI.

INDIGNATION.

Macadam considered himself an excellent judge of character, not easily fooled. Jeanne had struck him as decent, honest and straightforward, strongly biased, perhaps, but that was only natural. Of course, he had purposely avoided sounding her on the missing articles, the mention of which might only serve to rouse her antipathy still further against Miss West, or, if she were indeed guilty, put her on her guard. No, he was too old a hand to commit that indiscretion. Yet the more he thought things over the harder he found it to believe the American girl's accusations. As likely as not the affair of last night had some harmless explanation, while the efforts of the two women to injure each other might easily spring from mutual dislike and jealousy.

"I'd be willing to wager there's precious little wrong on either side," he told himself, nodding shrewdly.

After careful cogitation he drew a sheet of paper towards him and composed a letter in his own stiff angular hand. This he sealed and addressed, then turned it face downward on the blotter just as his son appeared in the doorway.

"Well?" inquired Geoffrey shortly, "what did she want?"

Briefly the old man gave an account of the interview. The listener swore softly and slapped his thigh.

"What unmitigated brass! You saw she was lying, of course?"

"I wouldn't go so far as to say that. There may be something to be said on both sides."

"On both—— You can't mean to tell me that after one look at Miss West you could believe that abominable story?"

The old man raised a restraining hand.

"You mean about her having designs on Mme. Bender's money? I didn't say I believed it. But have you ever known a business of this kind cropping up where the person involved was penniless? I thought not. There would be no point in it."

His son regarded him angrily.

"What exactly are you getting at?" he demanded.

"Nothing whatever, except that I'm fairly well convinced we are wasting valuable time. Take my advice: put your energies into persuading this girl to leave that apartment and find another place to live. I presume she's not without means?"

"I don't know. I haven't asked her," returned the younger man with contempt.

"Anyhow, she's not doing any good by staying there. Don't get on your ear—I mean only what I say. Meanwhile, send Parkin to me. I am going to give him the job of going through Harry Bender's papers to see if any record can be found of a picture transaction. No use starting an inquiry about the Manet till we've cleared up that point."

Curbing his wrath, Geoffrey did his father's bidding, then called the French clerk, Ballou, to his own office.

"Guy," he said, "yesterday you mentioned a young girl who had a connection with that notaire you were inquiring about. Do you know where she worked, and if one can get hold of her?"

"The young person in the usine?" replied Guy promptly. "Yes, sir. The concierge told me she was employed in a manufactury for artificial flowers, near the Place Clichy. I daresay I could find the place and the girl, too, if you want me to try."

"Thank you, Guy, it will be wiser to put some one else on the job. I'm glad you remembered about it, though."

As soon as he was alone he searched in the telephone directory for a number, rang it up himself, and a few minutes later left the building and took a taxi to an address in the rue Blanche. Here he entered the somewhat dingy bureau of a private agent already known to him in connection with one or two affairs, a man he had found both trustworthy and acute.

A solemn, thin Frenchman rose at his approach. He had round, pensive black eyes, a lantern jawed countenance, and a scrawny neck enclosed in a wide standing collar, the gold stud of which protruded above a rusty black cravat.

"Monsieur Macadam? I am happy to see you, monsieur. Be seated, please. What can I do for you this time, monsieur?"

As concisely as possible Geoffrey made his business known, and while he spoke the Frenchman's melancholy gaze ran this way and that, exploring the corners of the little room where dusty files were heaped upon the floor. Once or twice he coughed behind his bony hand, but beyond an occasional question in a lugubrious tone he remained silent.

"You see, although this man I refer to may be perfectly honest, I am not satisfied that he's all he appears to be. If he's mixed up in any nefarious proceedings, no matter what their nature, I must find it out."

"You desire me to look into his record, monsieur?"

"Yes, and follow him if necessary. Here is the information I have obtained, addresses and so on. Do what you can."

"You say this young woman is a discarded mistress?" remarked the other. "You say this young woman is a discarded mistress?" remarked the other. "You say this young woman is a discarded mistress?" remarked the other. "

Here Are Helps in Selecting Wedding Gifts

Sally Lunn Gives List to Simplify Buying.

BY SALLY LUNN.

With June and the wedding season coming on, you may be glad of a few suggestions to help solve the always puzzling wedding gift problem. Even thoughtful women who are quite successful in pleasing the recipients of their gifts on other occasions usually find it difficult to decide on just the right present for a bride and groom.

The practice quite generally accepted now of purchasing gifts at the large stores with the understanding that they will probably be exchanged by the bride-to-be for something of her own choosing is one easy way out of the situation, but there are still old fashioned brides who feel that such a process is too material minded, and there are still donors of gifts who believe in the old adage: "The gift without the giver is bare—" and like to put thought and effort into the gesture of their giving.

Two Things to Consider.

The circumstances under which the bridal pair are to set up housekeeping and their tastes are the paramount things to be considered in selecting a gift for them. If you are a member of the family of either of the two, or an intimate friend, you will find it fairly simple to get information concerning their desires and needs. Many brides now indicate their choice in silver, china, and glassware, and the donors of their gifts may select as large or small a quota of the complete and matching equipment as they care to.

If you are merely one among many acquaintances of the couple, it is better to give one of these extra things that will fit well into any kind of home. In this category fall such general household utilities as waste baskets, etchings, books or sets of books, desk sets, leather portfolios, luggage racks, breakfast trays, smoking sets, picture frames, ornamental mirrors, nests of tables, and clocks.

Tableware offers a large variety of articles that do not necessarily have to be in sets. Try to avoid selecting the things that are most frequently duplicated in the average outlay of wedding gifts. The silver water pitcher seems, for some unknown reason, to be the most frequent repeater. Pitchers of any size and variety are likely to be welcome gifts, and trays of various sizes are always useful.

Pewter Is Sure to Please.

Pewter articles can almost always be assimilated into any style of household, and the range of choice antique, modern, and copies of antique now is extensive. Table mirrors are good gifts and can be obtained in many interesting shapes, designs, and sizes.

Table ornaments such as centerpiece sets of bowl and candlesticks to match, or figurines, are not so apt to be duplicated. One shop is showing a most attractive set consisting of a medium sized round bowl and a pair of small spheres in silver blown luster for a centerpiece. This type of thing is an almost perfect choice, because it will go well with almost any colors and materials.

Ornamental trees of shiny metal, or long legged storks in the same silver luster would be distinctive. Popular gifts now are the sets of monogrammed crystal cigaret boxes and matching ash trays, and a dozen after dinner water glasses would make a useful gift that not everybody is likely to think of.

Table Ornaments Designed by Sculptor

This artistic group of table ornaments of green bronze were designed and created by Emory P. Seidel, a Chicago sculptor. The center bowl contains a flower holder, and the end figures are spiked to hold three candles each.

HOUSEHOLD DISCOVERIES

The Tribune will pay one dollar for aid to housekeeping, prize winning ideas to be published each Friday morning on the food pages. If you have a unique discovery pass it on to other housewives. Recipes are excluded. Send discoveries in care of Sally Lunn, Chicago Tribune.

When sewing on snap fasteners sew all the snaps on one side first, then rub chalk over them and press against the opposite side. This marks the correct place for the other half of the fasteners, and also assures a correct fit and saves time.

Small mayonnaise jars are handy as containers for small bottles of medicines that tip over easily in the bathroom cabinet. They are also useful in the pantry for tiny bottles of essence, oils, or extracts which are apt to tip over, get lost, or lose some of their aroma. MRS. E. C. W., Chicago, Ill.

I find that an ordinary shoe case with several pockets, hung in the pantry or on the kitchen door, is an ideal container for wax paper, twine, paper bags, etc.

MRS. W. T. A., Effingham, Ill.

Before laundering men's neck ties, baste on both edges. This makes them easier to iron and prevents the lining from slipping.

MRS. M. A. C., Chicago, Ill.

A good substitute for a fluting iron, to add a finishing touch to ruffled curtains, is an electric curling iron.

MRS. W. M. G., Racine, Wis.

A pretty door stop may be made by filling a milk bottle with sand and placing an inexpensive doll in the sand up to the waist. Cover the bottle with thick material, preferably an old woolen sock and over this sew a black dress. A black cap with a white band and a little white apron completes the costume and you have your own "maid holding the door open."

MISS V. M. S., Cicero, Ill.

I find that using a child's standing blackboard to keep score for contract bridge is most helpful.

MRS. H. D., Palmer, Mich.

It is always a task to clean a grater after using it. My husband brought home a small wire brush from the 10 cent store, and I found the grater can be cleaned in a few seconds by using the brush and hot water.

Cantaloupes and Cherries Arrive from California

Some of the newest fruits and vegetables of the season to arrive for Chicago consumption include sweet corn, cantaloupes, cherries, and fresh grapes. The large, red, sweet cherries are coming from California and the cantaloupes are coming from the Imperial valley of the same state.

Sweet corn is being shipped here from Texas. Retailers are selling the large ears at the rate of about three to four for 25 cents. Fresh grapes now in the market mainly are from South America, which is about in the fall of its annual seasons.

Guernsey Cow Brings $4,200 at Stock Sale

Many Prominent Persons Vie in Bidding.

With a large group of prominent dairy breeders, said to be the largest ever attending a national Guernsey sale, 85 head of pure bred bulls, cows, and calves were auctioned off yesterday on the Chicago Guernsey farm south of Hinsdale. While top prices ranged between $2,000 and $4,200, the average of $815 was the lowest since 1922, although outstanding animals of the breed were offered.

Bidding was spirited, as men and women prominent in business and social circles of Chicago, the east, and northwest, vied for ownership. Such a sale, while lacking the action of the approaching Derby and some of its color, is as keenly followed by devotees of the cows which produce the famous "golden Guernsey" milk and cream, named for the island of their origin, just off the European shore.

The highest price of the day was paid by J. C. Penney of Emmadine Farms, New York, for the cow, Dunwalke Blanchette's Rosebud, consigned by Clarence Dillon, New York banker, who received $4,200. The grand champion bull, May Rose Cherub, offered by Mrs. Chauncey McCormick of Naperville, sold for $2,050 to Simon Kruze, owner of Radisson farms, Minneapolis.

Other Chicagoans entered the bidding, including William Peloure, F. K. Babson, Mrs. Robert R. McCormick of Wheaton, and T. H. Rasmussen. L. W. Popp of Chicago purchased the third highest priced cow for $2,150. Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick bought two cows at $3,650 and $2,100 each, while Mrs. F. D. Stout bought the fourth highest cow at $2,025.

DELICIOUS Flavor EVERY TIME

ONCE you have tasted cakes or cookies, custards or puddings flavored with Dr. Price's true Vanilla Extract you will never be content with any other vanilla. There's a delicate deliciousness about Price's never found in cheap imitations or weak extracts. That's because Price's Vanilla is made from choice sun-cured vanilla beans—the pick of the crop. The essence is aged in wooden casks to develop its rare delicacy, bouquet, strength and uniformity. Your grocer sells it. Price Flavoring Extract Company, Chicago, Illinois.

Do you expect Baking Powder to give you these advantages?

Batter or dough made with Rumford can be mixed and set aside. Keep it in the ice box overnight if you care to. Bake it at your convenience. It will be two-thirds leavened when you put it in the oven. The other third takes place in the oven heat—that's two-to-one leavening, and is the reason for the superior results achieved in every Rumford baking. That's why every Rumford bake is perfectly leavened.

Rumford-leavened texture is uniform and even. Open if the mixture is beaten a short time, fine if beaten a long time, but always uniform.

Cakes and breads made with Rumford do not dry quickly. They keep fresh a surprisingly long time.

No matter how much Rumford you use, even if it's more than recipes call for, there's never any "chemical" or "baking-powder" taste left by Rumford.

Of many other advantages none is more important than the fact that Rumford adds real food value to every baking. Its absolutely pure phosphate content is a big aid in the family diet, especially for growing children.

SAVE TIME! Mix RUMFORD dough at night ...keep in ice-box...bake in the morning.

In play or work, the big thrills come to the healthy.

Certain foods are endowed by Nature with properties to help build your health. Tomatoes are one of the most exceptional. Vivid in hue, alluring in flavor! How cunning of Nature to flash these brilliant signals, enticing us to a food stored with extraordinary healthfulness.

And we all respond with our craving for tomatoes. Eloquent proof of this is shown by the overwhelming popularity of Campbell's Tomato Soup, more of which is eaten every year than any other soup in the world.

Here is the well-known healthfulness of soup—and the wholesome tonic tomato goodness in its most delicious and appealing form. Red-ripe, luscious tomatoes, firm of flesh, richest in the appetizing juices and tomato "meat" make a soup that is irresistible.

And there are 20 other Campbell's Soups to delight your appetite and meet your different needs. 12 cents a can.

Wherever or whenever you buy Campbell's Soups you always obtain the same uniform high Quality. There is only one grade of Campbell's—and that's available in every grocery store in America.

The most convenient way is to get 6 cans at a time!

Most women have the same experience with coffees.

First, they try the cheaper varieties. There's a few cents saving but—no flavor.

Then, they try better coffee—with these, they get flavor...sometimes.

At last, they wisely decide that the best coffee is the least expensive—the most dependable—so they do the natural thing: turn to McLaughlin's Manor House Coffee.

Hundreds of Recipes for Making Coffee

And Men Seem to Be the Chief Writers.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Coffee drinking is a prodigious, a tremendous, world habit! The flavor of coffee alone justifies its use as a food accompaniment, while generally it carries two of our most eminent foods, cream and sugar. The world-wide use of coffee is perhaps one of the most eminent proofs of what flavor really means to humanity in general only half conscious, or but dimly conscious, of its dependence upon flavor.

With an increasing consciousness of the part flavor plays in nourishment, men demand better cooking and better handling of foods, first, last, and all the time. With better cooking, which certainly includes better coffee making, a whole gamut or repertory of tastes are developed. Eaters become more exacting, to their gain in more ways than one.

But how to make coffee! A coffee recipe suited to every brand of coffee has never been devised. You begin to make your coffee when you buy it. Then, if you have an instinct for coffee making, well and good, you will have good coffee. Also, if you know what flavor is in every food you eat, your intelligence will work with you over the coffee you make in a hot utensil, with boiling water and no boiling, or only the slightest—then hot cups.

Recipes, Long and Short.

There are to be found in highly reliable sources recipes for making coffee that are 500 words long. In this case all the preliminaries which make for perfection, but which are of so little use to the impatient, are discussed. Important as all the steps are, as important as in canning, it is the last step, as it is in canning, which is the sealing, upon which the greatest authorities have put the most emphasis: Coffee must be freshly made.

When true Turkish coffee is served each cup is made specifically for the drinker out of what is really a coffee flour and boiling water. Of the many repetitions of this fact made by one great authority is this: "Coffee should always be served as soon as made and should never be more than fifteen minutes old." But a description of Creole coffee, which is made by such a prolonged method, shows that there are exceptions to all rules. Nevertheless, Croole coffee often seems not to stand the test given by this authority for staleness. This test is: "If the coffee lacks clearness, and when milk is added turns dark, it is an indication that it is stale or the milk sour. Freshly made coffee ought to have an amber brown color which milk will render lighter instead of darker."

"The great central truths" for producing a good cup of coffee used to be: "Fresh roasted, fresh ground, fresh made." Today there are but a few people, indeed, who either roast or grind their coffee. Pulverized coffee, kept in a tightly closed utensil, the tighest possible, will keep for several weeks without losing its aroma and strength because it contains so little air. This is what we must have for Turkish coffee, which the Turks drink, "mud" and all, and for drip coffee. It is indispersable for both. It is far the most economical way to use coffee, no matter how you make it, for thus you can get 56 cups to the pound. If you put the coffee in little bags, as at picnics, you need the pulverized wort.

Men Write About Coffee.

Men have written the books, long ones, and the articles on coffee. Coffee seems to mean more to them than to women. They are willing to take a great deal of trouble to get a good cup of it. We might say that they are perfectly fussy on the subject, but this would probably be true of only a limited number. The rest take what they can get, and if they have opinions, say nothing.

The oldest book I have on coffee is in French and was printed in 1693. Perhaps you will like to know that it begins thus: "The goodness, the wisdom, and the infinite power of God do not permit us to doubt that he has sufficiently provided for the conservation of the beings which he has produced." It goes on philosophically for many lines before we get to the lengthy descriptions of coffee, how to grow and make it, etc.

Fifty years ago a man wrote a 400 page book on coffee, detailing his experience gained in twenty years as a coffee merchant, during which time he went around the world and to every spot where coffee was grown and almost every place where he could drink it. He gives ten pages to recipes, including the perfect infusion made in Vienna by dripping boiling water on coffee through canton flannel, which is the way our greatest coffee organization today makes coffee in the most economical and best way. And he defines the demi-tasse, gloria [brandy flavored], mazagran, etc., and says that café-au-lait should contain three parts of milk to one of coffee, the coffee made with two tablespoons of fine coffee per cup of boiling water.

Authors Praise It.

The motto on the cover of this book consists of two sentences from the works of Francis Bacon, first of English philosophers: "They have in Turkey a drink called coffee. This drink comforteth the brain and heart and helpeth digestion."

Alexander Pope [1688-1744] has some highly laudatory lines about coffee from a silver urn and an American author some years back wrote a sonnet on coffee in which he exhausts adjectives like glorious. In 1837 some Englishman wrote nearly twelve magazine pages of verse on "Coffee and Crumpets." Invectives against coffee were put into verse as early as 1652, but they are outnumbered one hundred to one, probably, by lines in its praise from then till now. Its "poetic aroma" has excited praise for it through 300 years.

THE TRIBUNE'S COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Garlic in Soup and Sauces.

In a charming editorial written a few years ago on the medicinal value of garlic, just about the time people were exploiting it greatly as the most efficacious of fifty-two remedies in the curing of tuberculosis, there was this statement: "Garlic has many virtues and one sin. It is delightful to bow to and hideous to embrace. Discretion and isolation can combine to make it a friend of many."

In trying to enlarge the use of garlic once upon a time, it pleased me to find that a tiny bit of garlic flavor produced by rubbing the utensil transformed creamed codfish into a dish of elegance. The codfish was served in a cream or white sauce enriched with an egg yolk.

Another thing worked out was the use of the flavoring of cottage cheese, which we shall begin to eat now in large quantities, with garlic as follows: Cut off the end of a clove of garlic and rub it over the bottom of a small pan in which you can melt a tablespoon of butter. Melt the butter and pour it over a cup of cottage cheese, thoroughly mixing the two. This will take away that flat flavor that makes this cheese disagreeable to a considerable number of people, while the garlic taste will not be recognized as such, but only as superiority or quality in the cheese. Now I know some people will not believe that, but if they learn to use garlic they will. Remember it is a suspicion only. There is not a single bit of bulk garlic in this case, but just the effect of the juice. Onion juice itself is a separate thing in flavor from bulk onion.

Even a cream soup of a combination of vegetables may have actual bulk garlic, if chopped fine, cooked with the vegetables, but perhaps this is a difficult bit of cookery. The whole business of using garlic with soup is one of the more difficult kinds of cookery while the easiest garlic cookery to succeed with, which is really not cooking at all, is the use of garlic suspicion in salads and salad relishes.

Prices of Foods Return to Old Pre-War Level

Chicago Housewives Profit by Present Condition.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Madam Chicago Housewife, market basket or shopping bag hung on her arm, today will find lower prices of principal foodstuffs than she has seen for more than ten years and practically equal to the pre-war average of 1917. Reports from statisticians of the United States department of agriculture who keep daily records on produce and other reports from meat dealers reveal this market situation.

Butter, for instance, says C. L. Pier of the federal bureau of markets, dropped to 33½ cents wholesale in Chicago, for extra quality, from its quotation of 37 cents per pound one month ago, and 41½ cents for the same grade one year ago.

Apples and potatoes are practically the only commodities on the fruit and vegetable market which are higher, according to W. H. Hall, local representative of the federal market news service. C. W. Kaiser of the Chicago Retail Meat Dealers' association reports that meats as a whole are 15 per cent lower in price than one year ago.

Veal cuts in the last month have been reduced in price to the housewife, but the last few days have shown a slight rise. Lamb, beef, and pork have changed little in price and all remain about 15 per cent lower than they were in May, 1929.

Factors Affecting Prices.

The type of service and the locality of the shopping districts affect prices generally, both in meat sales, prices for fresh fruit and vegetable produce, and butter and eggs. Butter is being sold in some stores for about 35 cents, while in others it is 50 to 55 cents, usually, however, with a corresponding difference in quality and score.

Old potatoes, those grown in 1929, are near the end of their season and, because there was a short crop of late potatoes, the price is about 75 per cent higher than in the spring of 1929, says Mr. Hall. His study of the market also shows that apple prices are higher than one year ago, and he predicts because of a light crop this year that they will remain high and may go higher this summer.

Produce Reasonably Cheap.

Other fruits and vegetables seem to show slight change in comparison to a similar season last year. The strawberry crop and its prices are about equal to 1929 and the entire list of fresh fruits and vegetables "are reasonably cheap as a whole," in Mr. Hall's opinion.

New cabbage is selling for from 5 to 7 cents per pound. Strawberries are around 25 cents per quart, lettuce from 8 to 10 cents per head, and asparagus bunches are about 15 cents.

Sirloin steaks can be bought at 25 cents per pound, but prime cuts are as high as 45 cents; pork chops range from 19 to 35 cents per pound, according to quality, while bacon [illegible] lamb are selling up to around 30 [illegible] per pound.

DICE GAME LEADS TO DIVO[illegible]

Mrs. Grace Schidell, 1842 Byron street, yesterday won a divorce from her husband, Harold Shidell, in Judge Joseph Sabath's court. She charged her husband hit her on the chin when she won 80 cents from him in a dice game. The couple were married in September, 1929.

Roman Catholics Total 2,473,619 in China, Papal Legate Reports

San Francisco, Cal., May 15.—(AP)—Receipt of an official report of the apostolic delegate to China showing a total membership of 2,473,619 in the Roman Catholic church of China, an increase of 47,637 last year, has been announced. The report, made public by the Rev. James G. Keller, superior of the Maryknoll Junior seminary at Los Altos, Cal., showed that aside from the regular clergy there are nine Chinese bishops, 1,371 Chinese priests, more than 5,000 Chinese nuns, and approximately 4,000 Chinese young men preparing for the priesthood.

Overseas Service Leaguers Sail Again for France

New York, May 15.—(AP)—More than 250 members of the Women's Overseas Service league, grown a little gray since the day they sailed to help the boys in France, boarded the liner New Amsterdam tonight to sail for the convention of their organization in Paris, "the greatest thrill they've had since they went to war."

They will be honor guests at banquets attended by Gen. Pershing and Walter Edge, United States ambassador to France, and their national executive board will be received by President Doumergue of the French republic.

Chanel Softens Evening Frock with Chiffon Bow

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Shirring, that old time feminine favorite, is firmly incrusted in the new mode. It may be used to soften a princess frock round the waist, it may appear vertically, ruffling a blouse up the front or back; rows of it may form yoke, cuffs, or collar; but it is pretty sure to be found somewhere among the folds of the new afternoon and evening gowns.

Maggy Rouff sets shirred godets into some of her most successful evening gowns, as well as into her long suède gloves. Jane Régny likes to trim chiffon frocks with vertical bands of shirring, while some of Lelong's most marvelous creations are founded upon intricate shirred sunbursts, which spray into plaits or folds on his long skirts.

Chanel uses a good deal of shirred trimming. She particularly favors shirred diagonal bands incrusted into her chiffon evening gowns. A good example of this treatment appears in our sketch. Chanel makes it of black chiffon, for she knows that however loudly style prophets may rave about pastel shades for summer the smart woman must, nevertheless, always posses one or two black frocks to complete her wardrobe. This one has a slender bodice blousing ever so little over its naturally belted waistline.

Shirred bands of the black chiffon are diagonally incrusted from the décolleté line to the point where the circular skirt begins to flare into fullness from the tightly molded hips. The hem is cut into four petal points touching the floor, but allowing the feet and ankles to be glimpsed between them. The chiffon bow and streamers, bordered at either side with bands of the shirring, placed low on the hips at the left side of the back is a typical Chanel note this season. A black chiffon scarf attached to one of the narrow shoulder straps relieves the severity of Chanel's décolleté.

Chicago's Own Cavalry Troop to Strut Stuff

BY THALIA

The occasion of the first drill of Chicago's new Black Horse troop in full cavalry uniform at the Chicago Riding club next Monday evening promises to be gay and lively. Since the function of the troop is to provide a guard of honor for distinguished guests of the city, the appearance of the riders is important, and the planning of appropriate uniforms was a matter of much moment.

It was about a year ago this time that research and study was begun on the subject. Illustrations of all the striking uniforms that have ever adorned the forms of soldiers bold were accumulated, and if the truth will out, there was spirited controversy over the matter before it was finally and amicably decided. The uniform at last won out is patterned after United States dragoons of the war of 1812. It is done in black and white.

Chauncey McCormick, captain of the troop, and Mrs. McCormick are to give one of several dinner parties before the drill, and others who are to entertain include Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commanding the 33d division, who has been largely responsible for the organization of the unit, and Mrs. Keehn; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Busby, who also have been active in selling the special dress uniforms and other extra equipment possible, Mrs. Adler Borden, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Swennet, and Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick. There probably will be a reception following the drill.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick Blair of 1416 Astor street have an interesting house guest for the week-end, Ivar Krueger, who is a sort of John D. Rockefeller of Sweden, except that he isn't nearly so old. He spoke before the Industrial club at the Drake last night, and the Blairs are taking him to Lake Forest for the week-end. They are to give a dinner for him tomorrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Connell of 8214 Maryland avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances Susanne, to Jerome E. Clair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Clair of 7008 Oglesby avenue.

The benefit supper dance to be given by the Lighthouse Volunteer Aids this evening at the Bal Tabarin will attract a great many of the young folks of the town. Among those who have made reservations are Mrs. Howard Logan, who will have some guests from New York in her party of 30; Mrs. Clifford Templeton, who will be hostess to a group of 15; Mrs. Robert S. Babcock, who is to have a table for 12 guests; Mrs. Daniel Peterkin, Miss Betty McNair, Mrs. Clifford Templeton, and Mrs. Botsford Young.

Miss Anne Small is to be in charge of a corps of cigaret vendors including Miss Betty Dixon, Miss Janet Kirk, Miss Louise Lackner, Miss Henrietta Countiss, Miss Virginia Woodland, and Miss Margaret Carr. Libby Holman and Cliff Edwards of "The Little Show" are among the theatrical stars who have promised to attend.

Princess Michael Cantacuzene is chairman of the tea committee for an exhibition of children's portraits to be held at the auditorium of the Coliseum under the sponsorship of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, and opening this afternoon with a tea and preview. Princess Cantacuzene, Mrs. Aldis J. Browne, Mrs. Bernard F. Rogers Jr., and Mrs. Harry C. Wanner are to be hostesses this afternoon.

The others who will preside each afternoon between now and a week from tomorrow include Mrs. Carroll Sudler, Mrs. Chauncey B. Blair, Mrs. Francis J. Johnson, Mrs. Botsford Young, Mrs. Waller Borden, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mrs. Melville E. Stone III., Mrs. Louis Sudler, Miss Angela Johnston, and Mrs. John V. Farwell III.

Mrs. Hendricks H. Whitman, the former Adelaide Chatfield-Taylor, of Boston, Mass., has been here this week visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. McGann.

The annual luncheon of American Opera society will be held at 12:30 o'clock today in the Gold ballroom of the Congress hotel.

William B. McCluer of 70 Cedar street and Bernard F. Rogers, the senior are leaving some time before the end of this month to do some traveling in Europe during the summer months.

Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson of 38 Banks street and Miss Caroline Means, who lives with her, moved out to Mrs. Ryerson's Lake Forest place, "Haven Wood," on Wednesday for the summer.

MARRIED

MRS. HERBERT M. BINGHAM.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Nichols of Evanston announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Herbert Mackay Bingham of Butte, Mont. The ceremony took place last Saturday afternoon at St. Luke's church in Evanston.

Boys Will Be Told Duties of Citizens at Meetings Today

After a quiet observance yesterday of Boys' day at home, the city's 700,000 boys will turn to a study of their civic responsibilities today. This will be the third day of the city-wide observance of Boys' week.

Loyalty and patriotism will be the theme of activities in many schools and neighborhood centers. The chief event of the day, however, will be the assembly at the Chicago Civic Opera house this afternoon given by the public schools. The day's activities are being sponsored by the Rotary clubs.

At the Palmer school, 5031 North Kenneth avenue, 22 boys' organizations of the school will have a two hour program this morning. Trophies in the recent cleanup contest will be presented, followed by special numbers by each of the clubs, including the Boy Scouts, bugle corps, honor club, drama club, student council, and athletic teams.

Yesterday Dr. Charles A. Gage, director of the Youths' Service bureau, in an address before the Kiwanis club in the Hotel Sherman, told how the bureau is creating a better understanding between the police and the boys and girls of their beat, thereby diverting juvenile delinquency.

About 150 boy employés of Marshall Field & Co. were guests yesterday of executives in the Wedgwood room. On the west side at Boy's club No. 5, at 2801 South Ridgeway avenue, 600 boys will show their parents tonight just what a tenderfoot does when he strikes camp. Camp life will be portrayed from making up bunks to the daily flag salute.

Crane Junior College Students Acceptable to Midwest Universities

Despite the recent ruling of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools whereby Crane Junior college was declared to be below the required academic standard for membership, graduates probably will be admitted to leading middle western universities this fall without loss of credit.

This was indicated yesterday by Assistant Superintendent B. F. Buck, who addressed the general assembly at Crane in regard to their academic standing. Mr. Buck has just completed a survey of middle western universities, including Illinois, Chicago, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Northwestern. Each school expressed willingness to accept Crane students under the same status as in the past.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 15.—[Special.] — President and Mrs. Hoover have as guests at the White House Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rickard of New York. Mrs. Hoover has so far improved as to go out yesterday and again this afternoon for short automobile rides.

Mrs. E. E. Gann had with her at the horse show today Mrs. Harold Smoot; Mrs. Robert P. Lamont, wife of the secretary of commerce, and Miss Lamont.

Others attending the show were: Mrs. Vandenberg and Miss Vandenberg, wife and daughter of a senator from Michigan; Delos A. Blodgett with her son-in-law, Henry Parsons Irwin, formerly of Evanston, Ill., and her five grandchildren, two little Irwin girls, and three children of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Gaillard, with three nurses; the children of Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick; Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson, and Mr. and Mrs. "Billy" Mitchell.

For Library Fund.

The Glen Ellyn Friends of the Library will hold their eighth annual tea and musicale this afternoon at the residence of H. G. Lozier at 605 Hill avenue. Mrs. R. H. Burks is chairman of the organization, which materially supplements the Carnegie library's tax income every year.

Theosophical Lecture.

Under the auspices of Chicago lodge, No. 7, American Section of the Theosophical society, Mrs. L. Jewell Manning-Hicks of London will give a drama recital and lecture on "Theosophy and the Drama" in Conservatory hall, Auditorium building, on Sunday at 8 p. m.

Newer Health Ways Will Be on Show at Coliseum Tomorrow

Back in the days of "the old family toothbrush" health was one of those things that just happened and typhoid was the patient's misfortune, never his fault. Any misgivings as to the distance the world has traveled along the path of hygienic progress since then will be dispelled at the Health and Educational exposition opening tomorrow at the Coliseum. Nearly half a hundred organizations, including the city health department, American Medical association, and many schools, will participate.

From the 17th to the 25th of this month daily exhibitions and demonstrations will tell the tale of health as it is acquired and maintained in Chicago. Contrasts between the pure food regulations of today and the insanitary open cracker barrel of a couple of decades ago will show how the government guards health. Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, health commissioner, will explain and exhibits of the department will emphasize the care the city takes to prevent contagion and illness. Thousands of school children will take part in numerous features and exhibits of the work done in the public school system to educate the younger generation in the value and protection of health.

Any one who doesn't know will be taught what to eat and when to eat it; what kinds and what amounts of foods children should have at different ages; how to arrange a sleeping room for the best ventilation; how to exercise, and when—and numerous other details of a routine of healthful daily life.

The season during which the ultra violet rays of the sun reach the earth in the Chicago region in sufficient quantity and intensity to have the greatest health value has arrived, according to Health Commissioner Kegel. He advised Chicagoans yesterday that from now on they should don bathing suits or other scanty clothing whenever possible to expose the greatest amount of skin to the health action of the rays.

Experiments conducted by Dr. Fred O. Tonney, director of the research laboratories of the health department, have shown that smoke in Chicago screens out the most healthful rays. Only the inferior rays of a longer wave length than the healthful ones penetrate readily to street level in the loop, according to Dr. Tonney.

"The experiments have shown that the ultra violet season has arrived early and point to an exceptionally good season if one gets out from under the smoke screen," said Dr. Tonney. "The suburbs and the lake front afford a good location to bask in the healthy rays.

"The first exposure, unless one has been recently tanned, should be limited to forty-five minutes, but the period can be increased gradually as the tanning proceeds. Never expose a sun burn that is still red or hot. It is better to wait a day before exposing the skin after it has been burned."

On two consecutive days, May 2 and 3, readings were taken of ultra violet rays in the loop and at the Dunes laboratory, fifty miles southeast of the loop on the lake front. At the Dunes the intensity of the rays was found to be greater than those reaching the street level in the loop, the readings, respectively, being 87.6 and 75.2.

The ultra violet rays which have the greatest health action, according to Dr. Tonney, are those that have the shortest wave length.

"Invaluable" Say Lovely Women

©1929, M-G, Co.

"MELLO-GLO Face Powder is preferred by beautiful women because it leaves no trace of flakiness, pastiness or irritation," says Dorothy Flood, Ziegfeld star, noted for her beauty. Stays on longer—no shiny noses! Made by a new French process—prevents large pores. Spreads more smoothly—gives a youthful bloom. Very pure. Use MELLO-GLO Face Powder. It's wonderful.

High Zionist Official Here; 'Palestine Conditions Good'

Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, head of the American Reform Judaism and vice president of the American Zionist organization, came to Chicago yesterday. He said Zionism is advancing with rapidity in Palestine. Dr. Silver was met at the La Salle street station by Judge Samuel Heller, A. Z. Halperin, Dr. S. M. Melamed, and Samuel Platt. Last night he addressed an assembly at Ashland auditorium in the interest of the $6,000,000 which is to be raised in this country this year for the national Jewish relief fund.

3 Gold Star Mothers.

Three Gold Star mothers who will leave on a pilgrimage to France Monday to visit the graves of their soldier sons, were guests of the Service Star Legion yesterday at a luncheon in the Stevens hotel. The three—Mrs. Frank Brust, 741 Oakwood boluevard; Mrs. Samuel P. Thrasher, 5715 Blackstone avenue, and Mrs. Alfred S. McCaskey, 8232 Green street, expect to be in France by Decoration day. They will sail on the steamer George Washington.

Don't fool yourself!

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Halitosis ruins romance—end it

If the one you're fond of has halitosis (unpleasant breath), it's your duty to call attention to it and suggest the effective remedy—Listerine used full strength.

Certainly this course is a better one than putting up with halitosis and saying nothing about it.

A great many people fool themselves in thinking they never have halitosis. What a presumption! Because nobody knows when he or she is a victim. Halitosis doesn't announce itself to you. But it does to others. And that offends.

Being an active germicide capable of killing 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds, full-strength Listerine checks mouth fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then it gets rid of the odors; it is a powerful deodorant. Use Listerine morning and night and between times, before meeting others. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A.

No Petting on State Highways, So Young Must Go Elsewhere

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Life gets harder and harder for the young who like to do a bit of petting now and then. This includes a fairly large majority of our young—from 16 to 60 we might hazard the age guess, although the tabloid love letters of some of our red hot papas would indicate that 60 does not curb that petting impulse.

Anyway, for the benefit of summer tourists, let us warn that the impulse in future had better be curbed within the limits of New York state. Fifty dollars' fine for the first petting offense is what is in store for those souls who can't resist the influence of a balmy moon. Six months' imprisonment will result from the second offense against the law that prohibits parking of automobiles on the state highways outside cities and villages. And that's considerable toll for a hug and a kiss, even the least ravenous will admit!

What we forsee, as a result of the anti-highway-petting law, will be another branch added to the bootleg industry. Petting stations will be provided along the highways. And whatever may be said against the automobile as a menace to the morals of our young, there will be more danger where young persons are driven to cover to indulge their amorous practices.

The automobile parked along the highway at least has the saving grace of publicity of action. Again, not every parked automobile, by a good many thousands, is a moving vehicle of sin. Our young people—many of them—take to the broad highway because there they may find a privacy their homes deny them.

Advising them to do their courting in the parlors of their own homes is a futile pastime, to put it mildly. There aren't any parlors for the young to try the experiment of safe and sane courting in. If they're driven to park benches, bus tops, and policed highways, it is because they haven't anywhere else to spoon, nine times out of ten. Spooning being one of the childish diseases through which we all must pass at one time or another, and from which not many humans wish to recover completely, wouldn't a bit of sympathy be in order for those seeking a nice, quiet spot for a harmless exchange of pats?

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

GIRL'S JACKET ENSEMBLE.

The jacket ensemble in matching prints of reverse color scheme is a new style for the important ages between 6 and 14 years. The one piece dress has dropped shoulders, and the jacket is jaunty with the pockets and rolled back revers. Wool crêpe in an orange-red ground, printed in light navy blue is used for the dress, while the jacket shows a striking contrast with its dark blue ground printed in orange-red.

The pattern, 3491, comes in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1½ yards of 39 inch material for the dress, and 1¾ yards of 39 inch material for the jacket.

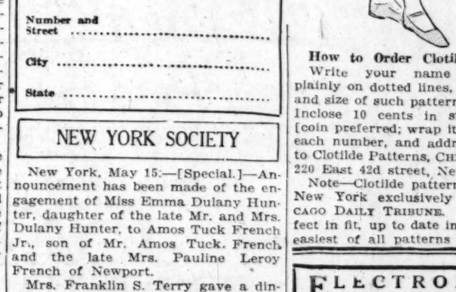
Do you have cake as often as you'd like?



DEVIL FOOD CAKE

Two light layers of the finest devil food with a real chocolate flavor. Filled in between and iced with a delicious vanilla cream.

ONE of the drawbacks about baking cake at home is that you don't get around to it as often as you'd like. It is quite a chore, isn't it? A lot of measuring and mixing, then the hot hours of watching the oven, and finally the pots and pans to clean up. To say nothing of the cost.

You can have cake much more often, and in greater variety if you buy Ward's Fine Cake at your dealer's. The ingredients are the same high quality you would use in your own kitchen, the baking is most skillful, and the result is cake you, yourself, would be proud to have made for your family.

Ward's Fine Cakes cost you considerably less than if you had made them yourself. We sell so many of them that the cost is very low.

Try one of the many delicious varieties of Ward's Fine Cake at your dealer's. You'll appreciate the time-saving, the economy and the fact that you can have cake in greater variety and more often.

PLEDGE OF FRESHNESS: If by any chance you should happen to buy a Ward's cake that is not fresh or that is unsatisfactory in any way, simply take it back to your grocer in the original wrapper or package. He will give you a fresh cake or refund your money.

Child of Five Needs Little Artificial Entertainment

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

We all have our little pet theories, and so I was greatly interested in the following letter which sets forth something I think of paramount importance in the bringing up of children:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: Will you please give me your advice? We have a boy almost 5 years of age. He is healthy, happy and has the best appetite I have ever known in a child, eating three good meals each day with nothing between except an apple. Candy seldom and never more than one or two small pieces after a meal.

"He requires a great deal of sleep, and consequently goes to bed at 7:30, gets up between 7 and 7:30 a. m., and sleeps two hours after lunch.

"In the morning he plays with other children—always outside, except in bad weather. After his nap he bathes and dresses and plays again until dinner time. He has plenty of toys, games and books and never lacks anything to do.

"Between dinner and his bedtime we play games with him, and except for reading to him and taking him for a walk or auto ride occasionally we do nothing else to amuse him. Some of our relatives contend we should provide more entertainment, take him to the movies now and then, etc.

"What is your opinion? Does a child his age need artificial entertainment? In the summer time we do take him to the parks, playgrounds, beaches, etc."

Here is a regime for a child of 5 that after my own heart. The health, freshness and happiness of the child attest its wisdom.

Let me hope his mother's ears are deaf to the relatives' ideas of entertainment. Indeed, he does not need artificial entertainment—movies, O Henries! least of all. He is at the age of intense interest in natural things. Everyday life, when it's as satisfying as his, holds all the color, all the excitement he needs. These surface sophistications that artificial entertainment provides are either a dead loss or a positive harm to the young child.

Because they are used so often, they have to be considered in relation to the upkeep of the skin beautiful. It's no idle chatter that dirty puffs do an immense amount of damage to the skin, and DO. What is the use of spending money on a cleansing cream and then going over the cleaned surface with a dirty powder puff? It isn't reasonable. It isn't right.

If there is an abrasion in the skin, if there is a pimply conditon, you can readily see what will happen if you rub a dirty puff over the surface. There is such a nice feeling about yourself when every item on the dressing table, including the puff, is clean and pleasantly scented.

History Failed to Repeat Itself.

I had been wanting to meet a young man for a long time but had never been introduced to him. He was most conventional and a bit aloof. One day I sat down by some one in the theater and found it was this man. The play was about a young man and woman who became acquainted in a theater when the girl dropped her purse and the boy got down on the floor to hunt it. Just as the scene closed all the things in my purse crashed to the floor.

Imagine my embarrassment when I heard some one behind me snicker, "She's trying the idea out on him," and a moment later, as my neighbor left, plainly say, "Didn't work."

"We have a food press to give away and I think some household where there is an invalid could make use of it. If you know of some one who would like to have it I shall be glad to hear from you about it.

Have you a need for this particular kickroom device? If so I shall be glad to have you write me for it; please do not telephone.

Dainty Powder Puff Is a Prime Requisite of Chic

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Reading powder puffs for character traits! How's that for an idea? Not so bad, girls. You can tell a great deal about a gal from her powder puffs.

If a girl has only one puff on hand, she is not foresighted. If she has a couple of puffs and they are kept immaculately clean she's a tidy girl about most other things, too.

If her powder puff looks most of the time as if it had been used for an emergency stove cleaner, it would indicate, as the fortune telling books say, a slovenly nature, a bad housekeeper, and a careless mother of any kind of possession.

If puff is a medley of grime and bright rouge spots, it indicates a love of color but a messy one, etc., etc. My clairvoyant guide has run out of me. So I'll have to go it alone in my own Common Scold way.

Powder puffs annoy me when they're not clean and fluffy. They're such adorable little tidbits when they are what they should be. Anyway, we all have a couple of tooth brushes on the stand now and a couple of hair brushes and a couple of dresses and a couple of hats and pairs of shoes and gloves. And there should be a couple of powder puffs working at the same time. Three or four of them. They're inexpensive. And they are used so frequently they need to be washed frequently and always a clean one for each and every day should be ready at hand.

Tonight: Get Rid of

BURNING FEET

The New Right Way

THE ENGLISH WAY

To take out the agony—banish all burning, aches and soreness—try the new 1930 way and in 15 to 20 minutes your foot troubles are over.

Just put two tablespoonfuls of Radox in a gallon of hot water and soak your feet for 20 minutes—you never had such a joyous, invigorating foot bath in all your life—you can just feel all the acid and poisons coming out of the stuffed up pores of your poor feet.

Do this tonight and tomorrow your feet will be so strong and sturdy and vigorous that you can walk all day long without discomfort.

It's the oxygen in Radox that gets into the thousands of pores of your feet and chases out the poisons that have accumulated there for years—it's these acids and poisons that make your feet ache and burn and nothing in the world will get them out but Radox.

You can get a package of Radox at any good drugstore— it is inexpensive and if it doesn't put new life and vigor into and bring blessed comfort to your distressed feet—money back.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

PAT: WITH A ROUND FACE IT is best to curve the hair well out on the cheeks to conceal some of the surface. Part it on the side and wear it well off the forehead.

E. P. F.: YOU CAN'T CHANGE the anatomy of the hand, but stubby fingers may be improved by wearing the nails longer and by pressing out the tips toward the extended nail tip.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY PAUL POTTER

Scarecrows remain in style this year in reducing the injury by crows and blackbirds to fields where corn is planted. But stuffed human effigies clothed in ragged coats, hats, and trousers or skirts must be shifted around often or changed in appearance in order to keep their effect on the birds.

Other unusual objects, such as shiny pieces of tin, glass bottles, newspapers, and other articles hung about a field serve as scares for a short time and to obtain new "scares" various kinds should be alternated frequently during the period the birds are likely to attack the crop.

Poisoned bait is one of the best control methods, says G. C. Oderkirk of the United States biological survey. Cracked corn coated with a strychnine and starch mixture has proven quite effective and is said to have a minimum of danger to beneficial birds and domestic animals. Blackbirds and crows seem to have attained a natural aversion to looking at corpses of their brothers and sisters.

When a few birds have been killed by eating the poisoned bait, the word seems to spread.

Don't Make the Same Mistake Twice!

Men who are credited with thinking should not make mistakes more than twice. If you have been caught unawares once—twice—or maybe even three times—caught unprepared—and on the street without a job—it might be excusable. But you do not have to claim that error any more.
